"Lord Somers's Collection of Tracts is, in truth, a splendid and lasting monument of the judgment and patriotism of that great man. This reprint, under the editorship of Sir Walter Scott, has the advantage of having the pieces arranged chronologically, and acccording to their subject-matter. The additional pieces are denoted by an asterisk. In no collection of the least historical pretence, let these Tracts be found wanting."—Dibdin.

Lapt in some fowle sheete, or a leather pelch,
Comes skreaming like a pigge half stickt,

This is the first edition of this very curious chronicle or Medley relating to the Manners, Customs, Laws, &c. of the City of London. It is much sought after by collectors of old poetry, as it contains THE FIRST EDITION of the beautiful old ballad of the Nut-Brown Maid. Warton observes of this work that it is perhaps the most heterogeneous and multifarious miscellany that ever existed.

Dr. Dibdin remarks, "Of this edition, which does not appear to have been inspected by Herbert, I do not recollect to have seen a copy. It brought a large sum at the Lansdowne sale." The Roxburghe copy sold for £15. 15*s*.

"The first post in the fifteenth century is due to Fabyan, an eminent merchant. He is very particular in the affairs of London, many good things being noted by him, hardly to be had elsewhere."—Archbishop Nicolson.

5968 GRAFTON (R.) CHRONICLE, with Table, 2 vols. in 1, sm. folio, black letter, woodcuts (including the rare device of Grafton on the last leaf), a few leaves at beginning and end mended, red morocco extra, gilt edges, by F. Bedford, £12. 12*s* H. Denham, 1569

5969 HARDING (JOHN) THE CHRONICLE OF IHON HARDING, in Metre, from the first Begynnyng of Englande, unto the Reigne of Edwarde IV. and from that time is added a Continuacion of the Storie in Prose, by R. Grafton, black letter, small 4to. fine copy in old calf, from Sir Henry Ellis's library, £18. 10*s* Lond. R. Grafton, January, 1543

Of Harding's Chronicle there are at least three editions bearing the same date of the month and year as printed by Grafton, but exhibiting some singular variations—All the editions having in the title page "Londini ex officina Richardi Graftoni, Mense Januarii, M. D. xliiii." and at the end "Cum privilegio ad imprimendum solum per septennium," from which it is probable that the early printers always retained the date when first published, however often reprinted during the term of the privilege; otherwise the date in the license would not apply to that in the title-page. This will account for similar variations in many early printed books, which have not been hitherto satisfactorily explained, and affords sufficient apology to the collector for possessing duplicate copies which exhibit various readings.

5970 HOLINSHED'S (R.) CHRONICLES OF ENGLANDE, SCOTLANDE, AND IRELAND, 2 vols. stout sm. folio, black letter, with many hundred spirited woodcuts, the second volume imperfect, but Vol. I, the rarest, quite perfect, in whole calf, VERY RARE, £12. 1577

The first and genuine edition. In the later editions the language was much altered, and the woodcuts omitted. It is one of the rarest and most desirable books in an English Historical Library, but so scarce to be met with in a perfect state that few can boast of its possession.

copies were printed. As there is no probability of their ever being reprinted, there is little doubt but that in a few years both works will become rare and valuable.

The former edition of the Progresses of Queen Elizabeth, less complete than the present, had become so extremely scarce, that copies were repeatedly sold at public auction for upwards of £40.

The Progresses of King James have only been once printed. The two works include the republication of rare historical and poetical tracts, the originals of which, if they could be bought, would be worth more than a thousand pounds.

No library, into which the English Chronicles, State Papers, the Harleian Miscellany, and Lord Somers' Collection of Tracts are admitted, should be without these important volumes, which form a connected History of the Courts of Elizabeth and James, and afford a living picture of the manners of England, its pursuits and amusements for three quarters of a century, (1553 to 1625.) They also develope numerous interesting and unknown anecdotes of most of our Noble Families, and in many cases the circumstances of their rise and elevation to the Peerage.

6078 [ROSSO (Giulio Raviglio)] Historia delle Cose occorse nel Regno d'Inghilterra in materia del Duca di Notomberlan (Northumberland) dopo la Morte di Odoardo VI. 16mo. fine copy, bds. VERY RARE, 20*s* Nell' Academia Venetiana, (Aldo), 1558

Priced, 1843, Payne and Foss, £4. 4*s*; Col. Stanley's copy fetched £6. 15*s*; Duke of Devonshire's dupl. £5. 15*s* 6*d*.

It is a curious account of the marriage of King Philip and Queen Mary. This edition was edited by Luca Contile, who prefixed a Dedication to Margaret of Austria, and as no author's name is mentioned, Ghilini and Tiraboschi wrongly ascribed it to Contile. In a subsequent edition the author put his name, and complained of the Venetian Academy printing his work without his knowledge.

I know not wherefore, says Dr. Dibdin, but so it was, that when at College, I used to devote many a day, and frequently the greater part of a night, to the reading of RUSHWORTH. The account of the travels of Prince Charles and the Duke of Buckingham, in Spain, and of the intrigues of Gondomar, in promoting and thwart-

"The most philosophical digest of the existing information upon the origin of Druidical Worship. The author traces that, and all other ancient systems of religion, back to their primal source; demonstrating that the extraordinary race of Upper India who founded Buddhism, were also the founders of the Chaldean, Phœnician, Etruscan, Guebre, Cabiri, Drudical, and Brahminical Mythologies. Much also, that pertains to Mosaic and Christian doctrine, is shown to have had a similar origin. It is needless to say, that the work is not orthodox; religion has been surrounded with an infinite number of forms and symbols, and veiled in so many superstitious ceremonials, that every tendency to restore its primitive simplicity is pronounced pernicious and heretical. Higgins therefore, like other great and philosophical minds, will be looked upon as an infidel, a dangerous innovator, by devout religionists of whatever sect. One of his chapters is devoted to prove that the Pentateuch was never meant to teach Chronology."

The preceding note was written in order to procure the sale of the book. It is, however, a rather daring misrepresentation of the truth, Higgins being remarkable for independence of mind rather than for learning or judgment. His works are worse than useless.

"His work on the remains of the Roman villa and pavements at Woodchester is such a specimen of ingenuity, unwearied zeal, and critical accuracy, in delineating and illustrating the fragments of antiquity, as rarely has been equalled, certainly never surpassed."—Pursuits of Literature.

The complete book is by far the grandest and most elaborate work published in any country, of its Roman Antiquities. It is supposed no province of the Roman Empire contained a greater number of extensively and richly decorated Roman Villas than England; so much at least may be inferred from the splendid vestiges of Roman Edifices and Pavements. This work was the result of twenty years' elaborate research. The greater part of the Drawings were made by Richard Smirke, Esq., an Artist distinguished for the accuracy of his pencil, and his zeal for antiquarian exactness. The plates exhibit most interesting and curious examples of Art and Magnificence.

This splendid work must always form a most important article in an English Topographical Library. Very few complete copies exist, and these may rank among the rarest works on English Topography, as the plates have been destroyed.

In 1820 the publishers advertised—"Complete sets of this Work may be had, £37. 16*s* in boards, or with the volume of Woodchester Antiquities, £48. 6*s*. The number of complete sets is necessarily limited to Fifty. The plates of Vol. I. Vol. II. and of the Woodchester volume have been destroyed." The Large Paper Gloucestershire was already then out of print.

NO PERFECT COPY HAS OCCURRED AT ANY OF THE LONDON SALES FOR THE LAST SIXTEEN YEARS.

6252 ——— The two lots sold together for, £210.

To the Antiquary or any future Historian of the County this will be found a most desirable acquisition. The notes were intended by Mr. Gresley for publication. They display an incalculable amount of labour, industry, and erudition, on the part of the writer, who was truly an Antiquary, if there was ever one. The Pedigrees appear to be the most important part of the additions: he collected them at an infinite cost of time and perseverance, taking care to verify and establish every statement. In addition to this, there are copies of old Charters, beginning with the twelfth and thirteenth centuries; and a host of other documents equally valuable and interesting, including letters to and from the most celebrated antiquaries of the last half-century or more, an original petition to Oliver Lord Protector, reminiscences of old inhabitants, etc. Mr. Gresley had the advantage of basing his work upon the MS. labours of Mr. Wolferston and others, whose work he has incorporated with his own; and besides the family archives of the county were freely opened to him, so that he has achieved in the compilation of this heap of MS., a task which perhaps which no one else could ever have accomplished.

Only a small edition was printed, and none of the copies were intended for sale. This celebrated dispute was carried on in the Court of Chivalry, during a period of five years, with great spirit by both parties, who enlisted as witnesses some of the most distinguished knights and warriors who flourished in that age of chivalry. One of the witnesses was "Geffrey Chaucere, Esquier," who mentions his captivity in France. See an interesting account of it in Mr. Martin's Catalogue of privately printed books.

Only 50 copies printed in this size.

"The O'Clery's, in common with their patrons, lost their castle and estates at the time of the Plantation of Ulster; and their last and greatest professional work was executed in the temporary shelter of the monastery of Donegal, under the auspices of Fergal O'Gara, styled Lord of Coolavin, and at that time one of the members of the Irish Parliament for the county of Sligo, who became their protector on their final dispossession in A.D. 1632. The family at this time consisted of Teige of the mountain, otherwise known as Brother Michael, Cucogry or Peregrine, and Conary. Supported by the liberality of this truly noble patron of his country's literature, and assisted by several other professional historians, of whom Cucogry or Peregrine O'Duigenan is reckoned as the "fourth master," the O'Clery's commenced the compilations of these Annals on the 22nd of January, 1632, and completed their task on the 18th of August, 1636. The authorities collated and abstracted into this compilation in the Testimonium prefixed to the Annals, are given under the hands of the guardian and brotherhood of the monastery."

This book was written by John Lynch, titular Archdeacon of Tuam (though he takes upon himself the fictitious name of Gratianus Lucius). He wrote it in France whither he fled after Galway was surrendered to the arms of Cromwell. Many copies are supposed to have perished in the Great Fire of London, which accounts for its excessive rarity.

Copies have been priced as follows: Payne and Foss, 1848, £25.; Thorpe, 1834, £18. 18*s*. In 1854 Gardner's copy fetched £12. 12*s*.

"Moryson," says Dr. Drake, "is a sober-minded and veracious traveller, and that part of his book which relates to the manners and customs of England and Scotland is particularly interesting." "He began his travels," relates Fuller, "May 1st, 1591, over a great part of Christendome, and no small share of Turkey, even to Jerusalem, and afterwards printed his observations in a large book, which, for the truth thereof, is in good reputation, for of so great a traveller, he had nothing of a traveller in him, as to stretch, in his reports. At last he was secretary to Charles Blunt, Deputy of Ireland, saw and wrote the conflicts with, and conquest of Tyrone; a discourse which deserveth credit, because the writer's eye guides his pen, and the privacy of his place acquainted him with many secret passages of importance."

Willyam Copland, 1553

"This translation, which includes the XIII. book by Maph. Vegius, was begun in January, 1512, and finished in July, 1513, at the request of Henry, Earl of Saintclair. The completion of such a poem in eighteen months, at a time when no metrical version of a classic (excepting Boethius) had yet appeared in English, is really astonishing; for the work is executed with equal fidelity and spirit, and is further recommended by many beautiful specimens of original poetry, which, under the name of Prologues are prefixed to each of the XIII books."—Ellis.

6736 The Great Bible. THE BYBLE IN ENGLYSHE, that is to saye the content of all the holy Scrypture, both of ye olde and newe testament, stout folio, a copy of Cromwell's Bible, often but wrongly called the first edition of Cranmer's, woodcuts, wanting title, Kalendar, &c. and imperfect at end, besides having several leaves mended, facsimile of border to title and portrait of Archbishop Cranmer prefixed, calf, EXCESSIVELY RARE, £16. R. Grafton & E. Whitchurch, 1539

This impression was commenced secretly in Paris, and when nearly finished, the printers, disturbed by the Inquisition, contrived to secure a portion of the copies and to bring them to London with their Types. When finished it was issued to the public, and according to the Royal Proclamation was placed for use in the Parish Churches. This sufficiently accounts for its great rarity as most of the copies must have been destroyed by constant thumbing. Dunn Gardner's copy sold for £121.

Aberdoniæ, Edw. Rabanus, 1631

This Dr. Baronius was Divinity Professor at Marescall College, Aberdeen, and this rare little volume bears date four years earlier than that recorded by Dr. Cotton in his Typographical Gazetteer.

6740 SPITTLEHOUSE, Rome Ruin'd by Whitehall, or the Papal Crown demolisht, containing a confutation of the three degrees of Popery, viz. Papacy, Prelacy, and Presbitery, sm. 4to. with curious emblematic frontispiece, calf, 15*s* 1650

The author of this singular puritan work describes himself as "Assistant to the Marshall Generall of the Army, under the command of his Excellency, the Lord Generall Fairfax."

6741 THE YORK MISSAL. Colophon: AD LAUDEM ET GLORIAM OMNIPOTENTIS DEI ET VIRGINIS MARIE AC TOTIUS CURIE CELESTIS EXARATUM ET COMPLETUM AC ETIAM IN PRISTINO STATU REDACTUM EST HOC PRESENS MISSALE AD USUM INSIGNIS ECCLESIE EBORACENSIS, opera honesti viri Magistri Peter Olivier impressoris Rothomagi commorantis, 4to. Gothic letter, printed in red and black, with MUSIC noted, without the following five leaves, viz. title, first of Calendar, n 3 and 4, y 8, £105. Rouen (? 1517)

EXCESSIVELY RARE. There are perhaps but two other copies known, which are in the Bodleian and in the Maskell collection in the British Museum. Even of this there is a doubt as the names of other printers are associated with Olivier in those volumes, while it stands alone in the present article. The York Missal was apparently printed only four times, by Olivier at Rouen in 1516 in folio, by him again in 1517 in 4to. as above (this being also issued in conjunction with other printers, the colophon varying, and sometimes dated, sometimes undated, in different copies), by Gachet in 1530. in 4to., and by Regnault at Paris in 1533, also in 4to. A copy of the edition of 1516 fetched £390. at the Saville sale in 1860. The rarity of the York Missal is well known; for whilst of its four or five editions there exist but about ten or a dozen copies in all, there are at least sixty editions of the Sarum Missal in existence, and of many of them several copies are accessible.

The above liturgical treasure was bought by me at Sotheby's as a different article from what it really is. The former owner, and the auctioneer's cataloguer, had most extraordinarily failed to find the colophon and described it as missing, while they attributed the volume to the Paris edition by Regnault (of 1533 not 1523, as they erroneously made it), which was the last of the editions of the York Missal. Now, it is in fact the second, and printed at Rouen, probably one year after the first edition in folio, as is above remarked, and as might have been seen by any careful observer of the book.

Parisiis, apud Guillelmum Merlin—at end, Joannes Amazeur pro Guilielmo Merlin, 1555

A copy wanting two leaves fetched, at Sotheby's in 1864, £85. The above, which is perfect, is consequently very cheap in comparison. This is beyond dispute the finest of all the editions of the Sarum Missal, and is also one of the last, as they ceased to be printed in 1557, shortly before Elizabeth's accession to the throne. Most of the copies that survived the reforming rage of the sixteenth century were mutilated, and Mr. Maskell (Mon. Rit. I. lxiv.) notices that the fine large woodcut of God the Father, crowned with a papal tiara, and surrounded by the apostolical symbols, on the second vellum leaf of the Canon, "is a rare picture, and seldom found in printed Missals." The same accomplished critic, in his work on Ancient Liturgies (pref. p. vii.), remarks in reference to all the old English service-books, that "Of late years the demand for them has increased tenfold, and their price, always great, has naturally increased with the demand, so as to put them, when they do occur, beyond the reach of men who are nevertheless the most anxious to obtain them." The last two sheets I and K are occupied by a curious Accentuarium to guide the priests in their pronunciation of the Latin tongue. As a specimen of the English that occurs in the volume, it may not be out of place to quote here a portion of the marriage service—"I N. take the N. to my weddyd husbōde to have et to hold fro thys day forwarde for bett' for wurs, for richere, for porer, in sikenesse & in helthe to be honowr & buxum in bed & at bord tyll deth us departe yf holy chyrche wyl it ordeyne & therto I plyght the my trouth."

6745 BOOKE OF COMMON PRAYER with Psalmes in Meeter, 2 vols. in 1, sm. folio, Black Letter, with Music, fine copy, but title in neat MS. facsimile, 36*s* R. Barker, 1631

Very scarce. This edition of the Psalms, although mentioned as seen by Dr. Cotton, is not cited by him as being in any of our public libraries.

The rarest part of the present copy is the 4th Decade of Barros; its title and last couple of leaves are mended, but it is of the original edition, which was never reprinted except in 8vo. form as below. The cause of its rarity is that it was left unfinished, and only appeared posthumously, fourteen years after Couto had endeavoured to supply the want of it with his own fourth Decade.

6765 DE BRY'S VOYAGES, Latin: AMERICA ET INDIA ORIENTALIS: a set of the GRANDS AND PETITS VOYAGES, (without parts 10-13 of the former, and part 12 of the latter) 20 parts bound in 6 vols. sm. folio, with good impressions of the numerous maps and fine plates, vellum, from the library of the Marquis of Hastings, £85.
Francof. 1590-1613

The GRAND VOYAGES consists of the nine parts (and additament) originally published as a complete work, between 1593 and 1602, which was continued seventeen years later, as an after-thought. Part I has a small map of the World at the beginning, which is not found in other copies; and all the parts, except the third, are genuine copies of the original edition. The PETITS VOYAGES, consisting of Parts 1-11, are all of the original issue, except the first part, which is of the second edition, and increased by an Appendix, which is not in the first. Part 11 wants plates 8-10.

6766 DE BRY'S VOYAGES, consisting of Parts 1-9, with the Additamentum of the Grands Voyages, and Parts 1-10 of the Petits Voyages, in Latin, bound in 5 vols. folio, vellum, £25. 1590-1613

In the Grands Voyages some ancient possessor has struck out several passages of the text which seemed too offensive to Spanish feelings, and daubed with ink some portions of the engravings in which female nudity was most conspicuous. The second and third parts of the G. V. are of the second edition; all the others are of the first. The Petits Voyages are all of original editions, but part 5 wants the Address to the Reader, and part 10 portion of a similar address.

6767 DE BRY, COLLECTIONES PEREGRINATIONUM IN INDIAM OCCIDENTALEM ET INDIAM ORIENTALEM, Part I to IX of the Grands Voyages (American portion), and part I to X of the Petits Voyages (East Indies), 19 parts in 6 vols. folio, ALL FIRST EDITIONS, numerous fine engravings, vellum, with gilt olive morocco backs, Warren Hastings' copy, £36. Francof. 1590-1613

A mass of important material for the history of the East as known to the Greeks, being a collection of the relics of lost writers, whose remains afford valuable aid to criticism for a due estimation of the results of modern discovery. "Cubero est le premier qui ait fait le tour du monde d'Occident en Orient, et en partie par terre, ainsi que l'exécuta depuis Gemelli Carreri. Il ne decrit pas minutieusement sa route; il se contente de donner un aperçu général de ce qu'il a observé. Il dépeint avec exactitude les steppes d'Astracan et les déserts de la Perse; il donne beaucoup de détails sur Manille et sur différents personages, avec lesquelles il s'est trouvé, &c. &c. . . . . Il écrit avec la simplicité qui convient à un missionaire, mais il est un peu crédule."—Biog. Univ.

Prefixed is a curious account of above 60 preceding travellers, (Columbus, Marco Polo, Vasco de Gama, Pigafetta, De Bry, etc.) with a judgment upon each. libet lingua scripserunt, cum anno loco et forma Editionis eorum, uberrimus Elenchus, 2 vols. in 1, folio, hf. morocco, £5. Patavii, 1713

This curious and useful book contains nearly 1000 copper-plate engravings of Towns, and woodcuts of Costumes after Titian and others. Copies have sold for as much as £8. The value of the work has not been sufficiently recognized; it is a geographical vocabulary alphabetically arranged, and to every article there is appended a list of all the writers who have treated of it, specially or incidentally. But besides the names of places, there are also antiquarian headings in the alphabet, such as "Balnea," "Barones," "Basilica," and numerous others, each of which is accompanied by a list of authors on the subject, with the sizes, dates, and number of editions. Thus this great compilation forms an historical, geographical, and antiquarian Cyclopædia. Two indexes are prefixed, the first containing the names of between twelve and thirteen thousand writers, the second a table of matters.

Priced, 1824, Rivington, £8. 8*s*; 1844, White, £6. 16*s* 6*d*.

This edition is generally preferred to the original, because it has the advantage of being systematically arranged.—"Fontenelle said, that he had never read a work which answered better to its title. Of the accuracy of those Letters, and the Works of Du Halde and Gaubil, the author has often heard the late Sir G. Staunton speak in the highest terms."—C. Butler.

6879 MARCO POLO, Voyages de, Français et Latin, avec Introduction et Glossaire, 2 pts. in 1 vol. 4to. sd. 25*s* Paris, 1824

The publication of such a work as Yule's Marco Polo, is a rare occurrence; and the book takes at once its undisputed place among the best productions of English scholarship.

6881 MARCO POLO, il Milione (Viaggi in Asia, ecc.) Testo di Lingua del Sec. 13, ora per la prima volta pubblicato da Baldelli Boni, con la vita di Marco Polo, 2 vols. roy. 4to. bds. 7*s* 6*d* Firenze, 1827

The Cruscan and Ramusian texts are both given, and for the first time in their perfect form, representing the earliest Italian text of the traveller's narrative. It is curious that the mocking title of "il Milione" (one who narrates everything by millions), bestowed on Marco Polo by his countrymen, should have been used as that of the best Italian edition of this once-abused traveller's work.

Professedly drawn from Arabic sources, this work has been usually but incorrectly considered valuable and authentic. Yet though Dozy has upset the reputation of Conde, his work will always be read as a romantic and picturesque narrative of the Saracen rule in Spain.

A geographical description of COREA, LOO CHOO, and JESSO, or YESO, translated from a Japanese work dated 1786, with facsimiles of the original maps. It contains vocabularies of the languages, and comparative lists of the Aino dialects. The history, customs, and legislation of the people, are also treated of; and this work will serve to correct all European accounts of the Three Kingdoms

32. Evliya, Travels in Europe, ASIA, and AFRICA, in the Seventeenth Century, translated from the Turkish by J. von Hammer. 2 vols. 4to. in 1, £1. 4*s* 1834-56

The writer was an enthusiastic Turkish traveller, and his description of the various countries he passed through, is remarkably faithful. Indeed, no other book of Oriental travels can be said to equal this. His account of the Turkish and Persian provinces, and Asia Minor, is all that remains; the narrative of his travels through Europe (Sweden, Holland, Germany, etc.) if ever written, has perished. He lived in the sixteenth century, and was in the service of some of the more ambitious Pashas of the Porte, so that his relation of contemporary affairs in Turkey is most ample and interesting.

33. Description of the Burmese Empire; compiled chiefly from Native Documents, by the Rev. Father Sangermano; and translated from his MS. by W. Tandy, 4to. 12*s* 6*d* 1834

34. Annales des Empereurs du Japon, traduites par M. Isaac TITSINGH. Ouvrage revu, complété et corrigé, sur l'Original Japonais Chinois, accompagné de Notes et précédé d'un Aperçu de l'Histoire Mythologique des Japonais, par J. Klaproth, 4to, £1. 1835

A history of Japan, since the year 660 before Christ, from a native source, and translated by a competent scholar, is a work of which the great importance cannot fail to be recognized. M. Klaproth has added in a supplement, the continuation to the present time of the annals, which ended in the original with the year 1611. This Supplement is also deived from native sources. Not the least remarkable feature of this volume, is the Mythological History which Klaproth has prefixed; and the elaborate Index which M. Landresse has subjoined to the work is of extreme usefulness.

35. Architecture of the Hindus, by Ram Raz, Native Judge and Magistrate at Bangalore, 48 plates, royal 4to. 1834

36. Harivansa; ou, Histoire de la Famille de Hari; Ouvrage formant un Appendice du Mahabharata; et traduit sur l'Original Sanscrit, par A. LANGLOIS. 2 vols. 4to. £2. 16*s* 1835-36

The Harivansa is a poem, which relates the history of the family of Krishna, and is deemed so important by the Brahmins that the book is held sacred. Those who read and listen to the reading of it, are supposed to acquire a sanctity which will have its reward in this life as well as the next. It forms what may be called an Appendix to the Mahábhárata, but it also goes back to the origin of things, and unfolds a long course of history intermingled with the cosmogony and theology of the Indian mind.

37. Didascalia; Apostolical Constitutions of the Abyssinian Church, translated from the Ethiopic, by T. Platt, Esq. 4to. 8*s* 1834

39. Chronicles of Rabbi Joseph Ben Joshua Ben Meir, the Sphardi, translated from the Hebrew, by C. H. F. Bialloblotzy, 2 vols. 8vo. £1. 1837

The account of the Crusades, and of the events that followed them in the Holy Land, is a feature of special interest in this work. But the history of Europe, during the reign of Charles V. is the portion most largely treated on, and best shews the extensive knowledge of state secrets and motives which could be acquired by Jews, whose mercantile and financial resources put them in connexion with the rulers of kingdoms. The author of this General Chronicle, was born at Avignon in 1496, but lived the greater part of his life at Genoa.

This work is, without comparison, the most useful of all the Fund publications. It stands in the same relation to Oriental Literature as Watts' Bibliotheca and Graesse's Tresor do to that of the Western World. The arrangement is alphabetic, according to the names of the works, (an IDEX OF AUTHORS being added at the end), and comprises descriptions of above 15,000 books in Arabic, Persian, and Turkish; with statements of the date when the writers flourished, and many other useful particulars.

Mustafá ben Abdallah Kátib Tchelebî, called Hadji Khalfeh, was a learned Turk, who, early in the seventeenth century held a high official position under Murád IV. At a later period, he collected a large library, and wrote several works, chiefly historical; but the greatest monument of his immense industry and erudition remains in the Bibliographical Lexicon, (Kashf uz-Zunun.) The Bibliothèque of D'Herbelot consists principally of an abstract from defective texts of the work of Hadji Khalfeh; while Flügel's edition is based upon the most perfect and important copies in existence.

47. MAKRIZI, Histoire des Sultans Mamlouks de l'Egypte. Ecrite en Arabe par Taki-eddin-ahmed-Makrizi. Traduite en Francais, par M. Quatremere. 2 vols. 4to. complete, £2. 2*s* 1837

Of Macrizi's great work on the history of Egypt and Syria (Sulûk fi màrifat Dual il-Mulûk) M. Quatremère has translated the important portion which relates to the Turkoman sovereigns called Mamelukes. Macrizi lived at Cairo in the fourteenth century, so that this work comprises a record of not quite sixty years. The subject is treated with all the taste, discrimination, and learning, which have placed Macrizi in the first rank of Arabic historians. The editor's notes add immensely to the value of the work.

50. Philosophy of the Muhammadan People. Exhibited in its professed connexion with the European, so as to render either an introduction to the other; being a translation of the Akhlak-I-Jalaly, the most esteemed Ethical Work of Middle Asia, from the Persian of Fakir Jany Mahammad Asaad; with References and Notes, by W. F. THOMPSON, 8vo. 8*s* 1839

A most valuable work, the best Moorish account of the History of Spain, whilst under their rule. Indispensable to an Historical Library.

53. Bidpai's Fables.—Anvar-i Suhaili: or the Lights of Canopus; being the celebrated work of Husain Vá'iz u'l Káshifíi, translated for the first time into English prose and verse (on the same principles as the author's translation of the 'Gulistan'), with an elaborate Preface and copious Notes by E. B. Eastwick, royal 8vo. cloth, £2. 2*s* 1854

54. El-Mas'udis Historical Encyclopædia, entitled "Meadows of Gold and Mines of Gems," translated from the Arabic by Dr. A. Sprenger, Vol. I. 8vo. 16*s* 1841

57. IBN KHALLIKAN'S Biographical Dictionary. Translated from the Arabic by Baron Mac Guckin de SLANE, now completed in 4 vols. 4to. sd. £6. 6*s* 1842-71

—— the same, LARGE PAPER, 4 vols. roy. 4to. sd. £8. 8*s* 1842-71

This was the first general Biographical Dictionary in the Arabic language; and it remains a wonderful testimony to the learning, genius, and industry of the author. The biographies are arranged in alphabetical order of names, and comprise distinguished individuals of every sect and nation in Islam, down to the thirteenth century, when Ibn Khallikan flourished. Moslem critics have blamed him for enlarging on the lives of poets and historical writers, at the expense of the learned doctors of law; but the very circumstance renders his book all all the more valuable to the European reader. Even the poetical and elegant selections which fill these biographical notices, are so extensive, that an Anthology was culled from them by an ancient Arabic writer. The editor has added in his notes all fresh information that could be acquired regarding each name mentioned in the text.

58. History of Hyder Naik, otherwise styled Nawaub Hyder Ali, by Meer Hussein Ali Khan Kirmani. Translated from an Original Persian MS. by Col. Miles, 8vo. 10*s* 1842

59. The DABISTAN; or School of Manners. Translated from the Persian, with Notes, &c. by D. Shea, and A. Troyer, 3 vols. 8vo. cloth, £2. 2*s* 1844

This is a work of great interest for all Oriental Scholars and Comparative Mythologists.

Sir William Jones describes this work as containing "more recondite learning, more entertaining history, more beautiful poetry, more ingenuity and wit, indecency and blasphemy, than" he "ever saw collected in a single volume." It contains an account of the old Persian, the Brahmin, the Buddhist, the Christian, the Sufi, and the Mohammedan religions, with their various sects; as well as a statement of their doctrines. It is most valuable for its exposition of the Zoroastrian creed, as this is based upon ancient Zend works now entirely lost.

tory Remarks; prefixed to which is a Memoir of the Author, by Rev. J. Reynolds, 8vo. 6*s* 1846

62. Jami's Salaman and Absal, an Allegory, translated from the Persian (by E. Fitzgerald) 8vo. cloth, rare 1856

63. Kalpa Sutra, and Nava Tatva. Two works illustrative of the Jain Religion and Philosophy, by Stevenson, D.D. 8vo. 25*s* 1848

64. Corpus Ignatianum, a complete Collection of the Ignatian Epistles, in Syriac, Greek, and Latin, and an English translation of the Syrian text, copious Notes, and introduction by W. Cureton, royal 8vo. 25*s* 1849

65. Makamat; or Rhetorical Anecdotes of Abu'l Kasem al Hariri, of Basra, translated into English Verse and Prose; and illustrated with Annotations, by the Rev. T. Preston, 8vo. cloth, 20*s* 1850

"The most classical work in Arabic literature—a masterpiece of elegance and refinement." This translation, by the freedom of its rendering and the easiness of its style, will be more acceptable to an European reader than any literal version; while the frequent notes recall to the more studious reader the subtler points of the text as verbally followed. Mr. Preston has been careful not to fall into the error of Rückert, who made an imitation rather than a translation.

66. Avesta, the Religious Books of the Parsees, from Professor Spiegel's German translation of the original MSS. by A. H. Bleeck, 3 vols. in 1, 8vo. cloth, £1. 5*s* 1864

68. Japanese Lyrical Odes; Translations of the Hyak Nin Is'Shiu, by a Century of Poets, into English Verse with Explanatory Notes, the text in Japanese and also in Roman letter, with a full Index, Catalogues of Books referred to, and Lists of Titles, &c. &c. by Dr. F. V. Dickins, 8vo. pp. ix, 52, xiii, xvi, vi, xvi. Printed on toned paper, extra cloth, gilt edges, 10*s* 1866

This is a sort of ancient ballad book of Japan, known and used in every Japanese household. Numerous commentators have explained the meaning and the puns contained in the Songs. Although the famous Dr. Kämpfer brought a copy (still in the British Museum) to Europe about two centuries ago, Dr. Dickins has been the first to translate the book, which he met with in Japan in 1864.—See Leisure Hour for April: Jap. Poetry, by J. Summers, p. 222.

69. Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam, the Astronomer-Poet of Persia, rendered into Eng. verse, sq. 8vo. third edition, XXIV and 36 pp. sd. 7*s* 6*d* 1872

The translation is a faithful reproduction of Omar's Poems, so remarkable for their boldness of thought and freedom of expression. Omar is entirely free from the shackles which make Oriental poems so monotonous.

70. Kitab-i-Yamini; Historical Memoirs of Early Conquerors of Hindustan, and Founders of the Ghaznavide Dynasty, transl. from the Persian, by the Rev. J. Reynolds, 8vo. 12*s* 1858

71. Browne (Rev. G. A. Suckling) Mosaic Cosmogony: a literal translation of the First Chapter of Genesis, with annotations and rationalia, 8vo. 140 pp. cloth, 5*s* 1864

The specimen of the translation given in two columns—a literal and an amended version—is a remarkable performance in itself, and cannot fail to be discussed by the Committee for the revision of the English Bible. As for the Cosmogony the purely scientific world will no doubt find in it something to criticise and quarrel with, but no one can refuse to acknowledge the deep scholarship and ingenuity with which Dr. Brown has endeavoured to reconcile the apparently conflicting causes of modern science and of holy writ.

Of the above publications there are some entirely out of print, and no copies remain in the possession of the Society.

A curious record of honest Christian work in all parts of the world. Every page displays the qualities which are execrated in Roman Catholics, Muslimin, and heathens—bigotry and intolerance; but sincerity in the descriptions of Oriental and Occidental manners will make compensation for the narrow-mindedness of the well-meaning zealots who fancied that Christianity might be put on as readily as a new coat by the sectaries of other creeds.

6953 STÖCKLEIN, Brief-Schriften und Reis- Beschreibungen welche von denen Missionariis aus beyden Indien und andren über Meer gelegenen Ländern seit 1642 bis 1740, angelangt seynd, 32 parts in 7 vols. folio, many maps and curious plates, old binding, two volumes in pigskin, five in leather, £3. 12*s* Augspurg, 1726—Wien, 1755

6954 ——— Brief-Schriften bis 1757, 36 parts in 6 vols. folio, many maps and curious plates, pigskin, £10. Augspurg, 1726-58

The above series of Missionary Reports relates to America, China, India, Africa, and many little known islands, etc. Sprengel, in his History of Geographical Discovery, mentions Stöcklein's work most honourably.

It is often stated to be a translation of the Lettres Edifiantes, but this is only true to a small extent. All the more important portion of the collection was entirely new, taken from unpublished MSS. Its value to the student of American history and geography cannot be over-estimated. As the merest specimen, a map in Vol. I, may be adduced, which gives a complete and correct delineation of California and Mexico, from actual survey made in the year 1702 by the Jesuit Kuhn and his assistants.

This work is a translation in Latin by Archangelus Madrignanus, a Milanese monk from the Cistercian Abbey at Clairvaux, of the famous "Paesi novamente retrovati, et Novo Mondo de Alberico Vesputio Florentino intitulato," which was printed at Vicenza in 1507, and which is looked upon as the most important contribution to the early history of American discovery, after the letters of Columbus. At the Bolton Corney Sale, a copy fetched £157. The value of the leaves of Index in the Itinerarium Portugallensium, and the necessity of possessing them, must be estimated from the fact that they give an analysis of the contents together with the names of the discoverers, while the text of the book runs on from chapter to chapter without distinction. The narratives of Columbus, Pinzon, and Vespucci, concerning America, begin on leaf 52 and end on 75.

VERY RARE. It is one of the earliest works published upon the Algerine corsairs, and includes an account of Cervantes while in captivity. A striking instance of his self-sacrificing conduct, in taking upon his own head all the consequences of a foiled attempt at escape by a number of Spanish captives, is given at p. 185. The author says that the captivity and heroic actions of Cervantes would suffice to fill a separate work.

Not in the Grenville Library.

This Burckhardt was a German monk of the Dominican order, who lived for ten years in the monastery of Mount Sion. His description of the Holy Land, written towards the middle of the thirteenth century, is one of very great importance, as that country was still in the power of the Christians, and he had facilities for visiting places from which all more modern travellers have been debarred, and of seeing monuments that have since disappeared.

7135 BURTON'S Mecca and Medina, 2 vols. sm. 8vo. map, portrait, and plates, 22*s* 1857

The extraordinary feat achieved by Captain Burton in this pilgrimage, and his literary power in the description of it, place him amongst the foremost of Oriental travellers. No fitter man than he could be found to represent England in the Mohammedan East; resolute and fearless before all risks, and so thoroughly acquainted with the customs, policy, and languages of the Turkish and Persian monarchies, that the interests of England might be confided to his care without the least danger of suffering any such damage, as is too frequently the case, through the employment of agents unaccustomed to and incapable of baffling the intrigues of wily and unscrupulous officials.

7136 BREYDENBACH (Bernardi de) SANCTARUM PEREGRINATIONUM IN MONTEM SYON ad venerandum Christi Sepulchrum in Jerusalem atque in Montem Synai ad divam virginem et martirem Katherinam opusculum, sm. folio, FIRST EDITION, with woodcuts including large folding views (several feet in length), very large copy, but pierced by a worm, and therefore slightly defective, in the original stamped leather, £10. In Civitate Moguntina per Erhardum Reuwich de Trajecto, 1486

7137 ——— the same, sm. folio, quite perfect, a fine copy in maroon morocco extra, gilt edges, by Lewis, £16. 16*s* 1486

 Very rare. Hibbert's copy fetched £12. 16*s*; another, at Sotheby's in 1860, £12. 16*s*; and in 1867, the copy which had come from the Yemeniz library was sold for £16.

It has been considered by competent bibliographers that Reuwich of Utrecht was only the engraver of the cuts, and that the real typographer of the book was Peter Schöffer, but there is no ambiguity in the statement in the colophon, which names the former as the printer. It is also said that the veritable author of the narrative was a monk named Martin Roth, but the account of the peregrination is a perfectly true one. Bernhard of Breitenbach, and the friends whom he names at the beginning travelled from Oppenheim to Venice, and thence voyaged to the east in 1483. The story of his journey will always be interesting: it is one of the first books of travel, and is the first itinerary ever printed; it describes minutely the condition of the Holy Land, and the customs of the various races and sects that inhabited it. Moreover, the alphabets and characters of different languages, including the Hebrew, Arabic, Syriac, Ethiopic, etc. are given. In short, the work possesses value and interest for every kind of collector.

Le Huen made the pilgrimage in 1487, a year later than the publication of Breydenbach's book; but the French "Peregrinations" in which Le Huen promises to "make mention" of his German predecessor, chiefly consists of translated extracts from the Peregrinationes of the latter.

This interesting collection ranges from the end of the sixth to the close of the sixteenth century. It includes translations of the letters and despatches of the Turkish Sultans themselves, and affords a vivid picture of their mighty power in Europe, and the dread which was inspired by their arrogance in the minds of the Christian sovereigns. They in fact maintained for more than two centuries a similar position to that which Napoleon held for a few years in more recent times.

The third volume is occupied by the early history of the Turks down to the foundation of the Ottoman empire, and the fourth contains a similar chronicle of the Caucasian nations. The value of Stritter's work is very great for the student who wishes to trace the origin of existing race-divisions in Europe, and to understand rightly those latest tribal migrations with which the history of modern Europe begins.

"All the passages of the Byzantine history which relate to the Barbarians, are compiled, methodised and transcribed, in a Latin version by the laborious Stritter, in his 'Memoriae, etc.'"—Gibbon.

This rare and curious volume contains many particulars of interest to English readers. The story of the embassy of Sir Anthony Shirley, which the latter drops so suddenly at the end of his own relation, is told in full by Don Juan, who was perfectly competent to do so, having been before his conversion in Spain, Farrúch or Farrúkh Beg, one of the associate officials of Husain Ali Beg, the ambassador of Shah Abbas, with whom Shirley travelled. Don Juan states that Shirley had announced himself in Persia as cousin to the Scottish king. Many strong accusations are made by the Hispano-Persian against the Englishman, whom he describes as "a man of great wit but little body, fond of magnificent shows and ostentation, upon which he lavished revenues which fortune had not made his own." The final quarrel between Shirley and the Persian took place at Rome, where they separated—it appearing that the English ambassador of Shah Abbas had appropriated by fraud the boxes of presents from Persia, at some port of North Germany or Poland, probably at Rostock The embassy had travelled overland through Russia. A writer in Vol. II. of the Retrospectiv Review laments the break in Sir Anthony's memoirs, and in those of his follower Mainwaring, both of them ending with the setting out of the embassy from Ispahan. Don Juan's curious Relations will supply everything that is wanting.

The last two volumes are seldom found with sets; they were not published till twenty years after the fifteenth, and contain Gaubil's Annals of the Tang dynasty, and his work on Chinese Chronology, edited by Silv. de Sacy and Abel Rémusat.

7648 ——— Histoire du Japon, traduite en François, 2 vols. folio, LARGE PAPER, numerous plates, fine copy in old calf gilt, 36*s* La Haye, 1729

The original work, written in German, was never published. There is more sterling information, of every kind, concerning Japan, in this fine old book of Kæmpfer, than in all the light and gossipy narratives published of recent times.

Sold in Mr. Nassau's sale for £11. 5*s*; in the Fonthill for £10. 10*s*; Dr. Heath's for £8. 15*s*; and in Col. Stanley's for £14. 14*s*.

These popular Japanese legends afford a curious picture of society in that empire in former times. As works of imagination they are highly interesting even to the ordinary reader of fiction; but the undercurrent of historic truth, and the depiction of old Japanese manners and customs will attract the more judicious student.

AN IMPORTANT WORK, exposing the wise policy which discouraged a petty antagonism between the two chief colonies of Spain. The object of the Minister who prepared it was to promote the Importation of Silk, Woollen, and Linen fabrics from China to Mexico. It illustrates the sound and able statesmanship with which Spanish colonial affairs were at that time conducted.

7694 MORGA (Ant. de) Sucesos de las ISLAS PHILIPINAS, sm. 4to. engraved titlepage mounted, vellum wrapper, VERY RARE, £20. Mexico, 1609

This work, printed in Mexico by the learned author who had been judge in Manila, remains the best book on the Philippine Islands. Unfortunately its rarity was so excessive that the book was almost unknown, and so little accessible that in translating it for the Hakluyt Society, Lord Stanley of Alderley was obliged to use a transcript made from the copy in the British Museum.

"If the reader wishes to see a general investigation of language and writing, he will meet with abundant satisfaction in perusing that stupendous monument of human research, C. GEBELIN du Monde Primitif. There he will discover that this learned man has retrieved the lost credit of etymological researches in his display of the original language of Europe."—REV. E. WILLIAMS's Hist. of the Britons.

The Rev. E. Williams raised up his own monument in the preceding note. There are still, however, many people who love to follow the wild reveries of Court de Gebelin. Immensity is always attractive—even in conceit and absurdity.

7750 DABISTAN (The) or SCHOOL OF MANNERS, translated from the Persian, with Notes, &c. by D. Shea, and A. Troyer, 3 vols. royal 8vo. cloth, £2. 2*s* 1844

This is a work of great interest, and contains an account of the old Persian, the Brahmin, the Buddhist, the Christian, the Sufi, and the Mohammedan religions, with their various sects; as well as a statement of their doctrines. It is most valuable for its exposition of the Zoroastrian creed, as this is based upon ancient Zend works now entirely lost.

7753 [HERBERT (Hon. A.)] NIMROD, a Discourse upon certain Passages of History and Fable, 4 vols. 8vo. bds. uncut, £9. 10*s* 1828-30

RARE, most of the copies having been destroyed by the author himself.

This curious work is of similar character to Higgins' Anacalypsis, but is full of more real erudition. How this learning was used may be imagined from the author's theory. Nimrod was an unprincipled person, who with the aid of his father and mother, falsified wilfully the sacred traditions, and gave rise to all heathen mythology. Moreover, the author proves (!) the identity of the Homeric Ilion, the Scriptural Babel, and the Seven-hilled City of Romulus. For the rest, those who love to read of the Alchymists, the Cabbalists, the Rosicrucians, and the Mystics, wild derive gratification from the wild lore of "Nimrod."

II. LITERATURE AND PHILOLOGY.

Illuminated MSS.

(The other MSS. are described along with the printed books.)

7787 MYTHOLOGY OF THE VARIOUS RACES AND RELIGIONS OF CHINA, royal folio, 100 MAGNIFICENT DRAWINGS BY NATIVE ARTISTS, painted on the finest cotton-paper, and mounted on thick drawing paper, all COLOURED in the most elaborate and artistic manner, representing the Deities, Demi-gods, Sages, and Heroes, of the various systems of Chinese Mythology, with an explanatory Index in MS. by Dr. John R. Morrison, son of the Lexicographer, and, equally with his father, a profound Chinese scholar, bound in red morocco extra, gilt edges, £100. China, cir. 1830

A SUPERB VOLUME. It forms such a Gallery of Chinese Mythological Paintings, as could scarcely be collected now in China. The work is done with admirable taste and skill, and could not have cost the original possessor less than £200. It would now be more expensive still, as the number of real artists is daily diminishing in China; and the distracting civil wars of late years have worked so much destruction amongst the public monuments and collections, all over the empire. Independently of the pictorial and ornamental attractiveness of this volume, it possesses a high value for the student of Races and Religions. There is a singular interest in examining the ideas embodied in the figures that represent the divinities of the Chinese mind; and in noting how frequently they differ from the ordinary type of Chinese humanity. The obliquity of eyesight peculiar to the Mongolian race is not visible in more than half of these drawings, and it would seem likely that much of the modern Chinese faith or superstition is derived from a source still more ancient than the earliest ages of that ancient people itself—that is, from the aboriginal inhabitants of the country who still hold an independent footing there, and harass the imperial government under the name of the Miao-tsze Mountaineers. This race is also found in Formosa and some others of the islands in the Chinese seas.

The demi-gods and deities, who appear in the above drawings, are not taken from the calendar of any one religion; but comprise alike Buddhistic figures, Confucian sages, and the idols of the Taou-sze, or Rationalists—the least numerous sect of the three that divide China amongst them.

The following criticism was written before the appearance of the eighth Supplementary volume:—

"The unintermittent labours of more than a quarter of a century have at last come to a successful close. The author has already achieved his reputation, as well among the Pandits of Hindustan, as the Savants of Europe. His Sanskrit Encyclopædia stands foremost among the contributions which the present or any preceding century has rendered to Sanskrit learning. The utility of such a voluminous compendium of the arts and sciences has been fully appreciated, and its author has received more than a solitary mark of acknowledgment from the Oriental scholars of the day. It would be rather curious to inspect the numberless testimonies of approbation which Native and Mahrátta, English and German have competed with each other in offering to his merits; nor is the labour undeserving of even a higher tribute. The Rája has spent the brightest part of his mortal existence in the hope of living an immortal life for generations to come, and reared an imperishable monument for himself. It can be, however, generally stated that our Encyclopedist is always in his element on Puránic, Tantric, and on all subjects connected with the modern literature of the Bráhmans, to which he has done ample justice. The work is not very full in the technicalities of the medical science, of the different systems of philosophy and of the Vedas; but we hope the Rájá will supply these deficiencies in the supplement he promises; and in that expectation, strongly recommend to his notice Yaska's Nirukta, every page of which will supply him with new matter; the first page of the Nighantu contains at least a hundred words not to be met with in his Lexicon."

"Le Rig Veda . . . . . est le monument littéraire le plus ancien qui ait été conservé."—Preface. This great work of Langlois is the most important production of French scholarship with regard to the ancient language and religion of India. It contains the complete Sanhita or Hymns of the Rig Veda, and having been terminated in 1851 it forms a striking contrast to English labours in the same direction, Wilson's translation being still imperfect, and Max Müller's only just begun.

As time advances, the works of this extraordinary man, one of the greatest philosophers the world has seen, will be more and more highly treasured. From his earliest youth, he devoted his mind to the study of religious systems, and the evolution of Monotheism from them all. Master of English, Sanscrit, Arabic, Persian, Hebrew, Greek, and Latin, he thoroughly examined the great books of each religion—including the Christian Scriptures, the Fathers, Brahminism, Buddhism, and Mohammedanism; as well as the various sects of each. He was persecuted and reviled as an atheist, as well by Hindoos as by Christians; but the future will acknowledge him a great Reformer.

3.—Iranic Branch.

1. Languages of Ancient Persia and Bactria.

The ancient Iranic speech, generally called Zend, in which the Zoroastrian books were written, seems somewhere about the sixth century before Christ to have coalesced with Semitic elements from Assyria, and formed the Pehlvi, Parthian, or Huzvaresh language. The written monuments of this tongue must have differed considerably from its spoken form—the latter rejecting much of the Semitic ingredients which predominated in the former.

The three parts of the Vendidad Sade constitute almost the entire Avesta.

8110 AVESTA, aus dem Grundtexte übersetzt, Deutsch, mit Rücksicht auf die Tradition, von SPIEGEL, 3 vols. 8vo. complete, sd. 21*s* Leipzig, 1852-63

8111 AVESTA: the Religious Books of the Parsees, from SPIEGEL'S German translations of the original Manuscripts by A. H. BLEECK, 3 vols. in 1, 8vo. cloth, 25*s* 1864

The English translation must be considered superior to the German, as it has received the latest emendations of Professor Spiegel. This version of the Avesta is unquestionably a great book, and may take rank beside Sale's Koran, as enabling the English scholar to study satisfactorily the Bible of one of the great religions that have subjugated the intellects of mankind.

8112 ZEND-AVESTA, ouvrage de ZOROASTRE, contenant les idées théologiques, physiques et morales, le culte religieux qu'il a établi, et plusieurs traités sur l'ancienne histoire des Perses; traduit en Français sur l'original Zend, avec des remarques, etc. par ANQUETIL DU PERRON, 2 vols. in 3, 4to. hf. calf, £2. 16*s* Paris, 1771

8116 BENFEY, Erklärung des Zend, 12mo. sd. 2*s* 6*d* Göttingen, 1853

8117 BOHLEN de origine linguæ Zendicæ e Sanscrita repetenda, Regim. 1831—FRANK de Persidis linguâ et genio, Norimb. 1809—2 vols. in 1, 8vo. hf. calf, 7*s* 6*d* 1809-31

8118 HAUG'S Essay on the Pahlavi language, 8vo. sd. 5*s* Stuttgart, 1870

8119 SPIEGEL'S Grammatik der Pàrsi-Sprache nebst Sprachproben, 8vo. sd. 4*s*; or calf neat, 6*s* Leipz. 1851

8120 ——— the same, 1851—VULLERS, Institutiones linguæ Persicæ cum Sanscrita et Zendica comparatæ, Gissæ, 1850—2 vols. in 1, 8vo. hf. calf, 7*s* 6*d* 1850-51

The Parsi-Sprache according to Spiegel is the successor of the Pehlvi (the language of the Zend-Avesta) as this was the successor of the language of the Avesta. The modern Persian descends from the Parsi.

8121 DESATIR, or sacred writings of the ancient Persian Prophets (Abad, Jemshid, Zirtusht, etc.) original text, Ancient Persian version, (with Commentary and Glossary) and English translation by Mulla Firuz bin Kaus, 2 vols. in 1, large 8vo. bd. 30*s* Bombay, 1818

Although the "original text" may be, as has been considered by some, a fraudulent fabrication, yet the value of the so-called old Persian translation and of the commentary cannot be denied.

8122 ROMER, Zend, is it an original language? roy. 8vo. cloth, 2*s* 1855

2. Modern Persian.

A great storehouse of the most curious, rare, and valuable information upon Bible Criticism and Hebrew Philology. Such a collection as this is unique in its way. It contains the discussions of the Universities of Germany, printed at Leipzig, Greifswald, Wittemberg, Jena, and at various other towns during a long series of years; and those who know how difficult it is to obtain even a single piece of the kind will estimate correctly the extraordinary rarity of the present collection.

Best critical edition of the text, from MSS. collated by a native Arab scholar. The work is said to be "one of the most delightful Arabic histories." Ibn Arabshah, as a bitter enemy of the Turki conqueror, was scarcely however more fitted to write his life than was the extravagant panegyrist Sharfuddin of Yezd. He calls Timur "the Prince of the Wicked, the Limping Impostor, who fixed enduring war upon the east and the west."

8592 AKHBÁR MADJMUA. اخبار مجموعة في فتح الاندلس : AJBAR MACHMUA (coleccion de Tradiciones) Cronica anonima del Siglo XI, dada á luz por primera vez, en Arabigo y Español, anotada por Lafuente y Alcantara, impl. 8vo. pp. 265 and 165, 10*s* Madrid, 1867

The Akhbar Madjmu'a contains a history of Musulman affairs in Africa and Spain from about the year 70 to 150 of the Hedjrah, and involves a mass of geographical and other matter for which special appendices are annexed. The work was compiled in the eleventh century from the popular traditions and official authorities which related to the conquest of Spain, as well as the political and literary history of the conquerors.

Only one copy of the original Manuscript is known, from which two transcripts were made in recent years.

The explanation of the Arabic alphabet is curious as shewing the pronunciation of old Spanish. It is evident that the c and g were then pronounced exactly in the same fashion as in our present English, that the former letter was never sounded like the English th, and that the latter had, before e and i, the sound of English j. There was no guttural then in Spanish, for the author places the Arabic kha amongst the non-Spanish sounds to be learned by ear, and represents it by a dotted k. The letter x had the sound of English sh, and the letter z was exactly equivalent to that of the present English and French. The English th as in there, which is frequently given to the modern Spanish d in some positions, was then unknown. The missing leaves are, in the Arte, a 1, e 1, e 3, e 8; in the Vocabulista g 5, t 7, A 2.

This excellent Dictionary has never been sufficiently known. Neither Golius nor Freytag appears to have used it in the compilation of his work; and it is not mentioned even by Lane. In spite of later productions, it is still valuable for the copiousness of its significations, which include a great number that have been missed or neglected by other biographers.

Mustafà ben Abdallah Kátib Tchelebî, called Hadjî Khalfeh was a learned Turk, who, early in the seventeenth century, held a high official position under Murád IV. At a later period, he collected a large library, and wrote several works, chiefly historical; but the greatest monument of his immense industry and erudition remains in the Bibliographical Lexicon, (Kashf uz-Zanun.) The Bibliothèque of D'Herbelot consists principally of an abstract from defective texts of the work of Hadjî Khalfeh; while Flügel's edition is based upon the most perfect and important copies in existence.

An important publication for the history of the first three centuries of the Muslim power in Spain. The introduction by Dozy is a masterly piece of historical criticism.

It has taken twenty years to publish the text of this highly important work, the greatest historical composition of the Middle Ages. Ibnul Açir is not only superior to all similar authors amongst his coreligionists (including Abulfidá who borrowed extensively from him,) but also to the Christian chroniclers. No work upon the Crusades can be properly written without almost perpetual reference to the pages of the Kámilu ttawárîkh. The chronicle is carried down to 1230 A.D. a few years before the death of Ibn ul Açir.

The great work of Ibn Khaldún is one of the finest historical productions of Arabic literature, but has never been completely printed. The above is the Introduction, containing a great deal of literary history, with extracts from the poets. From it Hadji Khalifa compiled all the scientific dissertations that occur in his great Lexicon. The Baron de Slane has published the last part in 2 vols. 4to. containing the History of the Berber races.

This was the first general Biographical Dictionary in the Arabic language; and it remains a wonderful testimony to the learning, genius, and industry of the author. The biographies are arranged in alphabetical order of names, and comprise distinguished individuals of every sect and nation in Islam, down to the thirteenth century, when Ibn Khallikan flourished. Moslem critics have blamed him for enlarging on the lives of poets and historical writers, at the expense of learned doctors of law; but that very circumstance renders his book all the more valuable to the European reader. Even the poetical and elegant selections which fill these biographical notices, are so extensive, that an Anthology was culled from them by an ancient Arabic writer. The editor has added in his notes all fresh information that could be acquired regarding each name mentioned in the text. The work is consequently indispensable to every student of Muhammadan history and literature; and its great importance in that respect has recently received a remarkable attestation in the following circumstance which deserves to be recorded:—Portion of the stock having, at a great expense, come into the hands of the learned Dr. ELIJAH HOOLE, of the WESLEYAN MISSION, lately deceased, he at once, with wise and far-seeing liberality, presented a complete copy to every Library of the Mission, at home and abroad, as well as to some of the public libraries. The study of Ibn Khallikan will furnish the young Missionaries, and all who mean to sojourn in the East, with such an ample and familiar knowledge of the literature, history, and modes of thought, of Muhammadan countries, as cannot fail to secure lasting advantages for Christianity and western civilization.

This is a pseudepigraphic Book of Joshua, current amongst the Samaritans of the thirteenth century, and chiefly valuable for the traditions and legends that occur in it, rather than for its loose historical agreement with the narrative of the Bible. It comes down to the time of Roman domination in Judea.

Its high importance at the present time, when the study of old creeds and mythologies is so universal, may be estimated from an abridgement of the contents. It comprises an account of the Mussulmans and all their numerous sects; the Jews; Christians and their sects; Magi, Zoroastrians, Manichæans, and other claimants of revealed religion; Sabæans; the Hermetic philosophy; the Greek Philosophers and their schools, from Thales to Porphyry; the system of Muhammadan doctors, especially Avicenna; the pre-Islamite religion of Arabia; Brahminism, Buddhism, and the other religions of India, concluding with an accouut of Hindu philosophers.

The best work on Abyssinia. It gives an Account of the History, Literature, Natural History, Antiquities, Religion, Chronology, Language, Proverbs, and everything else curious relating to that country.

The first portrait was apparently cancelled, as it bears erroneously on the inscription "Electoris et Ducis Saxoniæ," while the first two words are omitted in the second one, so as to designate more correctly the Duke of Saxe Gotha, not the Elector of Saxony.

BIBLIOTHECA OCCIDENTALIS:

The price will be stated upon direct application

Sine notâ, (Romæ, Stephanus Planck, 1493)

There are only three or four other copies known of this incalculably valuable tract, THE FIRST PRINTED WORK IN EXISTENCE RELATING TO AMERICA. The bibliographers, as has been remarked, are not in agreement with respect to the exact priority of the above edition, but it is sufficient to say that Stephen Plannck is admitted by all to have been the first printer of the Letter of Columbus, and that the edition here described is one of the two which proceeded from his press. By all American amateurs, the opinion of Mr. Harrisse on the subject will be accepted with that ready adherence which his accurate and laborious study of this branch of bibliography has deservedly won for him.

It should not be forgotten in a catalogue like the present that Columbus may have been a Bookseller: his friend and host Bernaldez, the vicar of Los Palacios, calls him a mercader de libros de estampa, viz. a dealer in printed books.

9425 ACOSTA (Joseph) de natura Novi Orbis, et de promulgatione Evangelii apud Barbaros, 12mo. Editio Princeps, fine copy in vellum, 25*s* Colon. Agr. 1596

The Latin edition is the original; the Spanish one is a translated or rewritten work from the Natura Novi Orbis, and does not comprise the second part.

9426 ACOSTA, Historia natvral y moral de las Indias, en qve se tratan las cosas notables del cielo, y elementos, metales, plantas, y animales dellas; y los ritos, y ceremonias, leyes, y gouierno, y guerras de los Indios, sq. 8vo. First Edition, wanting title, vellum, 36*s* Sevilla, 1590

9427 ACOSTA, Naturall and morall historie of the East and West Indies; translated from the Spanish by E. G., sm. 4to. fine copy in calf gilt, £3. 8*s* London, 1604

9428 ——— the same, sm. 4to. very fine copy in morocco extra, gilt edges, by Bedford, £6. 15*s* 1604

Acosta composed part of his work in Peru, and the remainder on his return to Europe. He is one of the most valuable and interesting of the early Spanish writers upon America. Edward Grimeston is said to be the translator.

"JOSEPH DE ACOSTA, né à Medina del Campo, vers l'an 1539, passa, apres avoir professé la theologie à Ocana, en 1571 aux Indes occident., et fut le second Provincial de l'ordre des Jésuites au Pérou où il séjourna pendant 17 ans. Il mourut recteur à Salamanque, le 11 février, 1600. Son ouvrage, estimé à juste titre, a été ré-imprimé assez souvent et traduit dans presque toutes les langues."—V. de Backer, I, 1.

This very valuable Gazetteer is far more extensive than might be presumed, as it is not confined to Spanish America, but includes the whole of the New World.

9430 ALCEDO, Geographical and Historical Dictionary of America and the West Indies, translated, with additions, by Thomson, 5 vols. 4to. calf gilt, with ROYAL FOLIO ATLAS of original maps, specially engraved for this work by Arrowsmith, hf. bd. £2. 16*s* 1812-15

9433 ——— the same, Vol. I, thick 8vo. pp. 491, plates and cuts, sewed, 20*s* ib. 1845

Vol. I. contains grammars of the Mexican, Tarasca, Otomi, Maya, Guatemala, and Huasteca languages, besides some important papers by Schoolcraft, Gallatin, Troost, Catherwood, and others.

9434 AMERICAN PHILOSOPHICAL SOCIETY'S TRANSACTIONS, from the beginning in 1769 to 1839, as follows: First Series, Vols. I-V; Second Series, Vol. I, III part I; V parts 2, 3; VI parts 2, 3;— together 6 vols. 4to. and 5 parts, £5. 10*s* Philadelphia, 1771-1839

The American Philosophical Society was the first, and the American Academy the second Literary Society in America. They received original contributions from Franklin, Priestley, and the most eminent men of the time.

Vol. III pt. 1 of the Second Series contains Zeisberger's Grammar of the language of the Lenni Lenape or Delaware Indians, 186 pages.

9435 AMPHITHEATRUM (neu-eröffnetes) worinnen aus Asia, Africa, and AMERICA, alle Nationen nach ihrem Habit repräsentiret sind; Amphitheatrum Turcicum; 4 parts in 1 vol. folio, about 150 woodcuts of Costume, etc. bds. uncut, £2. 16*s* Erfurth, 1728-23-24

A treasury of authentic and valuable information, well written and digested. The part relating to America comprises 128 pp. closely printed in double columns. Each article is in numbered paragraphs, and some of the final notices are amusing, ex. gr. at the end of Louisiana are the words: "Of Coinage (12), Pretensions to foreign domination (13), of Knightly Orders (14), and of Armorial Bearings (15), the Savages know nothing." This seems to carry satire against civilized nations.

9436 ANSON'S Voyage round the World, 1740-44, by Walter, 4to. 42 maps and plates, calf gilt, 20*s* 1776

9437 ANTUNEZ y Acevedo, Memorias sobre la Legislacion del Comercio de los Españoles con sus colonias de las Indias Occidentales, sm. 4to. sd. 7*s* 6*d* Madrid, 1797

while the copy, No. 9438, has 60, of which the last is a blank, on which are pasted the two separate pieces to be used in practical illustration of the last diagram. This leaf and its adjuncts are almost invariably wanting. They are cut out and set in their places in the second copy above described.

Apian was the designer of the map which appeared in the celebrated work of Camers upon Solinus in 1520, and was consequently the originator of the name America so far as it appears in maps. The Cosmographicus Liber has two small maps which also bear the delineation and title of America, and the fourth chapter of the second part is an article devoted wholly to America and Vespucci, ignoring the name of Columbus. In the seventeenth chapter "America" is mentioned as an island along with England, Sicily, and others. The island of Cuba is called Isabella seu Tuba, and in the table Isabella aut Cuba.

In addition to the matter of the first edition, this has some extra astronomical disquisitions by Gemma Frisius, and, at the end of the table of American islands, a description of Peru, which had been recently discovered by the Spaniards (the date being fixed as 1530). Moreover, the figure of the American continent, in the first of the two small maps, is altered and improved.

9442 APIANI Cosmographia, additis libellis Gemmæ Frisii, sm. 4to. folding map, limp stamped hogskin, £4. 8*s* Antv. 1550

There are in these two editions (the Spanish and the Latin of 1548 and 1550) a few further additions by Gemma Frisius beyond those contained in that of 1539; but the great and essential difference which makes them valuable is the large map of the world, which is not in either of the two earlier editions. It gives a very fair representation of South America and the Isthmus; North America being still in a crude and incorrect state. But this map shews a wonderful advance in the knowledge of the New World's Geography, beyond what appears in the two smaller maps, which these volumes also have in common with the editions of 1524 and 1539.

9443 APIANI Cosmographia, per Gemmam Frisium aucta et illustrata, sm. 4te. large mappemonde, a couple of smaller maps, numerous diagrams, with movable pieces, fine copy, in the original hogskin, UNCUT, £4. 10*s* Parisiis, 1551

An Atlas of the highest excellence, and the best suited for frequent reference. It is complete in every respect; ancient as well as modern geography being thoroughly delineated, and all so clearly and largely executed that it is a gratification rather than a trouble to examine the maps. They are very numerous; in all the important parts, parcel-maps being given along with the general view, so as to avoid any chance of obscurity or confusion. The addition of Star-maps and Plans of Cities is another admirable ingredient to fill up the measure of completeness which characterises the "Society Atlas."

This valuable collection is very rare, because of the accidental destruction by fire of a great number of copies. Moreover, very few copies have the entire sixteen parts that were published. The present one has all. Amongst the rarest of them are those containing the CARTAS of CORTES and the examen of the Narration of CABEZA DE BACA, in the first volume.

First edition in Latin; with additional matter beyond the Italian original. A MS. note on fly-leaf describes Chauveton as "hæreticus, mendax, calumniator, et . . . prædicator Calvinista." This is a climax with a vengeance.—Besides the matter of Benzon's work, the translator has added at the end an account of the French expedition to Florida.

9458 BENZONI, der Newenn Weldt vnd Indianischen Nidergängischen Königreichs, newe vnnd wahrhaffte History, erstlich durch Hieronymum Bentzon von Meyland in Welscher Spraach beschrieben, in Teutsch gebracht durch Nicolaum Höniger, folio, 12*s* Basel. Seb. Henricpetri, 1579

This is the translation which De Bry made use of in the German Grands Voyages.

A truly admirable work, embracing a vast amount of information well digested and arranged.

9460 BISSELII Argonautica Americana, historia Petri de Victoria ac sociorum, 16mo. engraved title and map of the two Americas, fine copy in old red MOROCCO extra, from Lord Stuart de Rothesay's library, 25*s* Monachii, 1647

All the bibliographers (except one whose eyes have been recently opened), state, after Rich, that this is "a translation of the narrative of Pedro Gouvea de Victoria, to which Bissel has appended a learned geographical commentary." It is nothing of the kind: Bissel read the original Spanish opuscule of the navigator (who turned Jesuit at Lima in 1610), and fancied it was too brief, jejune, and unadorned for the subject. He therefore re-wrote the book, making Victoria deliver a long discourse in high-flown, semi-poetical Latin, enormously amplified with details and descriptions drawn from Bissel's own reading. This absurd performance has nevertheless considerable geographical value.

9461 BLAEU (J.) ATLAS MAYOR o Geographia Blaviana (China, Alemania, Inglaterra, Escocia y Hibernia, Belgia, Russia, Polonia y Grecia, Norvega, Suecia y Dinamarka, Francia y Helvetia, Italia, y España), 10 vols. impl. folio, LARGE PAPER, above 1000 Views and Maps, with COATS OF ARMS, superbly illuminated in gold and colours, vellum, ornamented with gold tooling, gilt edges, fine copy, from the library of the Marquis of Astorga, £8. 8*s* Amst. 1658-72

The Spanish edition is the scarcest of all; nearly all the copies perished by fire. It is unfortunate that the work was never completed, as the American portion, which it does not contain, would be the chief requisite for this catalogue. There are however World-maps.

9463 ——— the same, sm. folio, limp vellum, very large and fine copy, with many uncut leaves, 30*s* 1547

Besides the large map of the World, which includes the Mondo Novo, there are 9 separate maps of America (including a bird's-eye view of Mexico) and 18 pages of text to correspond. These maps and text are very interesting, and represent the complete knowledge possessed by geographers with regard to the New World in 1526, when Bordone completed his work.

Rare; unmentioned by Brunet, Ebert, and Tiele (Navigateurs Hollandais) and not in the Bodleian library. It is better than the original Dutch, in having additions and corrections. Among the Voyages described in the volume are those of DRAKE, CAVENDISH, CLIFFORD, NORRIS, and other eminent ENGLISH NAVIGATORS.

9468 BROUGHTON (H.) Concent of Scripture, sm. 4to. engraved title, map of the World, and plates by W. Rogers (the earliest copper-plate engraving in England), calf, £3. n. d. 1596

America is drawn with tolerable correctness in the map illustrating this curious and absurd book. South America bears the name of Ophir. Broughton was a great man in his time, and renowned as a Hebrew and Greek scholar.

9469 DE BRY'S VOYAGES, Latin: AMERICA ET INDIA ORIENTALIS: a set of the GRANDS and PETITS VOYAGES, (without parts 10-13 of the former, and part 12 of the latter), 20 parts bound in 6 vols. sm. folio, with good impressions of the numerous maps and fine plates, vellum, from the library of the Marquis of Hastings, £85.

Francof. 1590-1613

The GRANDS VOYAGES consists of the nine parts (and additament) originally published as a complete work, between 1593 and 1602, which was continued seventeen years later, as an after-thought. Part I. has a small map of the World at the beginning, which is not found in other copies; and all the parts, except the third, are genuine copies of the original edition. The PETITS VOYAGES, consisting of Parts 1-11, are all of the original issue, except the first part, which is of the second edition, and increased by an Appendix, which is not in the first. Part 11 wants plates 8-10.

9470 DE BRY'S VOYAGES, consisting of Parts 1-9, with the Additamentum of the Grands Voyages, and Parts 1-10 of the Petits Voyages, in Latin, bound in 5 vols. folio, vellum, £25. 1590-1613

In the Grands Voyages some ancient possessor has struck out several passages of the text which seemed too offensive to Spanish feelings, and daubed with ink some portions of the engravings in which female nudity was most conspicuous. The second and third parts of the G. V. are of the second edition; all the others are of the first. The Petits Voyages are all of original editions, but part 5 wants the Address to the Reader, and part 10 portion of a similar address.

9471 DE BRY, COLLECTIONES PEREGRINATIONUM IN INDIAM OCCIDENTALEM ET INDIAM ORIENTALEM, Part I to IX of the Grands Voyages (American portion), and part I to X of the Petits Voyages (East Indies), 19 parts in 6 vols. folio, ALL FIRST EDITIONS, numerous fine engravings, vellum, with gilt olive morocco backs, Warren Hastings' copy, £36. Francof. 1590-1613

9472 BRY (DE) PETITS VOYAGES, in Latin. Regnum Congo Pigafettæ; Lintscotani Navigatio in Orientem, Hollandorum in Indiam navigatio, Regnum Guineæ, Spilbergii et Lemarii Navigationes, Transitus supra terras Americanas in Chinam et Japonem, ab Henrico Hudsono inventus, etc. 10 parts in 2 vols. sm. folio, about 200 plates and maps, calf, £8. Francof. 1623, 1599, 1601, 1602, 1613, 1633

Franckfurt am Main, Fitzer, 1627

This copy consists of Parts 1 and 3, without the first two pages of Part 1, and is therefore sold not subject to collation. An imperfect copy of Feyerabend's Weltbuch is bound up at the end.

9474 Buccaneers. ESQUEMELING & RINGROSE, Bucaniers of America, or a true Account of the most remarkable Assaults upon the Coasts of the WEST-INDIES, by the Bucaniers of Jamaica and Tortuga, with the Exploits of Sir Henry Morgan, and additional Relations of Capts. Cooke and Sharpe, 4 parts making 2 vols. bound in one, sm. 4to. quite perfect, with all the valuable maps and the plates, green morocco extra, gilt edges, £7. 7*s* 1684-85

This work contains the narrative of Oexmelin somewhat altered and compressed, followed by an anonymous buccaneer's account of Sharpe's Voyages; and concludes with the full and correct history of this latter part by Basil Ringrose, so that Sharpe's adventures are twice told. The text of the little edition of 1810 must consequently be looked upon as better than that of the original edition of 1684; but the maps in the latter are from Captain Sharpe's sketches, and extremely valuable. They differ from the plates in any other edition. For the complete set of Sharpe's maps (of which indeed but a very few were here published), see the Buccaneer's Atlas below.

This edition comprises the work of Esquemeling a little more completely than in the edition of 1684, and is followed by Basil Ringrose's narrative (omitting the superfluous one by the anonymous buccaneer), and concludes with the Voyages of Raveneau de Lussan.

9476 HISTOIRE des AVANTURIERS FLIBUSTIERS; vie, mœurs, et coûtumes des Boucaniers, par Oexmelin, 2 vols. in one, 12mo. maps and plates, calf, 9*s* Paris, Le Febvre, 1688

9477 ——— the same, 2 vols. 12mo. maps and plates, calf gilt, 25*s* Paris, Le Febvre, 1699-1700

This is a much superior edition to the preceding. It contains (notwithstanding a false notice of augmentations on the title page) exactly the same matter, i. e. Exmelin's complete work in French; but although dated 1699, it has all the genuine original maps and plates executed in 1686, while the edition of 1688 has inferior reproductions, and not the whole number.

9478 HISTOIRE des AVANTURIERS FLIBUSTIERS, nouvelle édition corrigée et augmentée, 4 vols. 12mo. maps and plates, fine copy in veau fauve gilt, 30*s* Paris, Trevoux, 1744

The first two volumes contain Exmelin's narrative as in the editions of 1688 and 1699; Vol. III is the interesting account of Raveneau de Lussan, a young Parisian who was out with the Buccaneers from 1685 to 1688; Vol. IV. is a compressed translation of Johnson's Pirates.

9479 BUCCANEERS' ATLAS, entitled the South Sea Waggoner. A description of the Sea Coasts in the South Sea of AMERICA, viz. from the Port of Acapulco to the Straights of Lemaire; it being here following described at large in 130 perticular Draughts showing all the Ports, Harbours, Anchorings, Islands, Soundings, Rocks and Daingers in the Distance aforesaid by WM. HACK, roy. folio, the ORIGINAL DRAWINGS, charts and views coloured, old red morocco, gilt edges, with the letters S. S. C. (South Sea Company) stamped in gold on front cover, £105. ? 1692

This extremely valuable and important collection of coloured charts appears to have been purchased by Sir James Bateman, for the South Sea Company, from Wm. Hill, whose autograph letter dated 3rd Dec. 1711, respecting the work, is prefixed. In that letter the book is thus described: "There is a large laborious ornamentall guilt booke of mine with a redd cover in your Office att Broadstreete, called the South Sea Waggoner, full of curious Mapps and Platts of ye South Seas, being ye long experience of ye FAMOUS BUCKANERE Capt. Barth. Sharpe and of an antient French Captain that hee tooke with his Booke, Mapps and Papers, who had used those seas 70 yeares, being all in the said Booke composed and depicted by one Captain William Hack deceased, of whom I about 18 years ago purchased the said booke and paid him £70. for ye same &c."

This great curiosity ought to be secured in a Public Library.

Captain Hacke seems to have been out with Captain Sharpe; and, apparently, in a position of command, to judge from the observations that are scattered through the book. The sailing directions, derived from experience, must still be of very great value, and it is probable that the Admiralty charts might be corrected in numberless details from the maps of Captain Hack. Interesting facts concerning the cruises of Sharpe and others are written here and there on the margins of the charts, by which the work known as the History of the Buccaneers may be valuably illustrated and supplemented. Hack published in 1699 a collection of Voyages, which was incorporated in the later editions of the History of the Buccaneers, but the maps in the above volume were never published.

This is little more than a "cooked" translation of De Brosse's work published in Paris in 1756; but Mr. Callander merely makes slight reference to a kindred work by "a judicious French writer," whose name he ignores.

9489 CAMUS, Mémoire sur les Grands et Petits Voyages (de DE BRY) et les Voyages de Thevenot, 4to. bds. 9*s*; or hf. calf, 10*s* Paris, 1802

Not merely is this admirable essay the best bibliography of the collections of De Bry and Thevenot, but it also contains a great variety of curious information upon the progress of geographical discovery in the sixteenth century, and upon the books and editions which record it.

9490 CARDOSO, AGIOLOGIO LUSITANO dos Sanctos e Varoens illustres em virtude do reino de Portugal e suas conquistas, cum continuaçaõ por Caetano de Sousa, Tomos I-IV, (all published, containing the months of January to August), folio, the margins of two volumes slightly wormed, calf, £2. 10*s* Lisboa, 1652-1744

The complete set of four volumes is very rare, in consequence of the length of time that elapsed between the publication of the third and fourth volumes, 1666-1744. The work takes a place in the present catalogue because of its almost entire devotion to the recording of missionary labours in the Indies.

The general title with which this collection of Las Casas' Treatises was published is generally absent, and the consequence is that bibliographers (including the latest writer on this special subject) describe this as "the counterfeit edition, bearing a title with the false date of 1552, but easily recognizable by its Roman type." Now there was no intention whatever to deceive: the first page of the reprint is the title of the Brevissima Relacion, and naturally bears its proper date of 1552, just as the pieces that follow bear their own.

Brunet's collation of this very rare book is erroneous in giving 87 leaves as the contents of the first part, instead of 88 (the last two leaves being each numbered 87). The second part is Migrode's translation as described in the next article.

9502 TYRANNIES et CRUAUTEZ des Espagnols commises ès Indes Occidentales qu' on dit le Nouveau Monde, traduitte fidellement sur la coppie Espagnolle, par Jacques de Miggrode, sm. 4to. old calf, 15*s* Rouen, 1630

This translation of the Breve Relacion and Pedazo de una Carta, followed by extracts from the Tratado comprobatorio, the Remedios, and the Disputa, was first printed at Antwerp in 1579. The translator executed his work with the object of embittering the hatred of the Dutch against the Spaniards.

9503 CASAS (LAS) la Decouverte des Indes Occidentales, 12mo. frontispiece, in the original bds. WHOLLY UNCUT, 32*s* Paris, 1697

This is apparently a milder and tamer re-writing of the "Tyrannies et Cruautez," with the complete Controversy with Sepulveda added at the end.

This work was first issued by De Bry in 1598. It is a translation from the "Tyrannies et Cruautez."

9505 CASAS. The Spanish Colonie, or Briefe Chronicle of the Actes and Gestes of the Spaniardes in the West Indies, called the Newe World, for the space of xl yeeres, written in the Castilian tongue by . . . Bartholomew de las Casas . . . and nowe first translated into English by M. M. S. small 4to. black letter, £25. William Brome, 1583

THIS EXCESSIVELY RARE volume in English is a translation from Migrode's French version of the Spanish originals. Lowndes quotes the title with the words "Englished from the Spanish by M. M. S.," but this is in no wise correct, whether as a quotation or as a matter of fact; and is simply an instance of the careless and inaccurate manner in which great part of the Bibliographer's Manual was compiled. The English translator is no further mentioned than on the title as above given.

An important collection of documents, including a rare series of early navigators, and a great number of valuable narratives first published in these columns from the original MSS. The American interest of these two volumes is contained in the letters of Vespucci, the Jornada do Maranhao of Albuquerque, and Anchieta's Natural History of the province of St. Vincent.

VERY RARE. Mr. Harrisse states that this edition ought to contain a plan of Mexico, but the fact is questionable. There was no such plan in Abbé Fischer's copy; none is mentioned by Brunet; and copies of the book are so seldom seen that it is difficult to arrive at the exact truth. It is a translation of the Second Letter.

This edition in German of the Second and Third Letters (the latter of which begins with the 13th chapter of Part II, the first twelve chapters being an extract from Peter Martyr) contains at the end eight chapters (leaves 51-60) of Letters from Venezuela concerning the new settlements there in 1534-40, and one from Oviedo (the historian) dated San Domingo, 1543. These valuable additions are found only in the German edition; and seem to have been communicated to the printer by Welser, the Augsburg patrician, to whom the settlement and ownership of Venezuela had been ceded by the Emperor.

9530*d*——— the same, a fine and perfect copy, in calf very neat, £7. 7*s* Richard Watkins, 1589

This is the most important work upon Navigation that had yet appeared in the world. The science was revolutionized by it. Very few copies have the map in which the New World is delineated on the same sheet with the western parts of Europe and Africa.

An extremely valuable Atlas of South America. Cruz Cano, the royal Geographer of Spain, had peculiar advantages in the possession of various original documents and drawings made from actual survey by Spanish explorers, which he corrected by astronomical observations. It has not been elsewhere used, being very little known, although it adds fresh material of considerable importance to American chartography.

A well known amateur and dealer in American rarities makes the following statement:—"This is the largest, most elaborate and important map ever got up of South America, but from some cause or other, never sufficiently explained, it was never published. Humboldt somewhere informs us that the plates were destroyed by order of the Spanish Government, and that but very few copies got out. He says, that he himself was fortunate enough to secure a copy for himself and Bonpland in 1799, before their departure on their great American travels, for which he paid 15 Napoleons. Copies are very seldom found in catalogues, and almost never have been sold by auction."

9533 DALRYMPLE'S (Alexander) CHARTS, 18 parts in 10 vols.—Views, with Atlas, 2 vols.—together 11 vols. folio, and 1 impl. folio, containing about 440 large folding plates, beautifully engraved, representing the Hydrography of the Eastern, African, Australian, and American Seas, hf. bd. £4. 4*s* 1774-93

AN EXCESSIVELY RARE SET OF MAPS. These charts include in the Transatlantic portion California and the N.W. Coast of North America, Brazil, the West Indies, etc. The Eastern Archipelago and Australasia are however more fully represented. The collection of Dalrymple's charts is extremely valuable; the minute details of Geography which they were the first to set forth have in few instances been made available since by chartographers, so that their authority is unsurpassed. The interest of the original matter derived from his long special researches and voyages, is deepened by the maps which he engraved from designs in unpublished MSS. of Spanish and Dutch navigators, and by facsimiles of old maps showing the state of geographical knowledge at certain periods.

9534 DALRYMPLE'S Memoirs of Charts, and Hydrographical Tracts, 4 vols. atlas 4to. with numerous beautifully engraved charts, one of them being a map of South America, part of Africa, and the Ocean between them, hf. bd. £4. 1786-1808

Some of the charts are contained in the collection preceding, but the remainder and the letter-press are additional. Dalrymple's observations on Hawkesworth's account of the South Sea Voyages of Cook and others, and his rejoinder to the latter's reply, are added loosely. The account of early Portuguese Discoveries on the coast of New Guinea, New Holland, and other places, together with the restoration of due credit to the first and forgotten explorers, make these pieces of Dalrymple very valuable, and show that he had anticipated by nearly a century the successful researches of recent times.

A very valuable and important series of Maps, giving in many instances, especially with regard to America and Polynesia, information which appeared here for the first time. For example, the Australian researches are laid down, and in the map of S. America it is to be remarked that 50,000 square leagues, according to French measure, are figured with details, which in all previous maps had been left blank as unknown. Dalrymple calls D'Anville "the only modern worthy of the name (of geographer)."

9544 DONCKER'S (HENDRICK) SEA ATLAS: Pascaerten, a collection of 26 large maps, coloured, six of which relate specially to America, each 26 inches by 22½, the inscriptions in Dutch, sometimes Dutch and English, but with a short Spanish text prefixed, vellum, from the library of the Marquis of Astorga, £10. 1671-74

VERY RARE. THE FIRST ATLAS OR COLLECTION OF MAPS IN WHICH APPEAR THE NAMES of PROVIDENCE in RHODE ISLAND and SALEM in MASSACHUSETTS. These towns are not given in any one of the maps and charts described by Asher although they range, to the number of 34, from about the year 1620 to the beginning of the eighteenth century. These are only two of the most obvious particulars in which Doncker's maps differ from those specified by Asher; others will no doubt be found on a closer examination. From the catalogue of a Berlin bookseller in 1857, it appears that Doncker published a Dutch "Zee Atlas of Water-Werelt" in 1666, and a second edition of the same in 1669, this latter bearing the name of P. Goos as publisher, and being evidently identical with the Goos maps described by Asher. But it is patent, from the circumstance with regard to Providence and Salem, that the Paescarten from the Marquis of Astorga's library, formed a new work by Doncker; with the years 1671 to 1674 as the dates of engraving. I have not met with any bibliographical reference to Doncker's charts in the lists of Americana, with the one exception mentioned above; and as we may safely premise that every Transatlantic Amateur would be only too eager to secure (and make known his possession of) a set of American maps, including one of the New Netherlands (with New England and Virginia) engraved in 1671, and about two feet square in size, it is easy to conclude that Doncker's Pascarten are of excessive rarity.

Hawkins and others, 1652—4 vols. in 1, sm. 4to. portrait, very fine copy in russia neat, gilt edges, £6. 10*s* Lond. for N. Bourne, 1652

This is the complete series of Sir Francis Drake's four Voyages to the West (which were really his third, fourth, fifth and sixth, but the first two small expeditions do not deserve special notice).

9547 DRAKE (Sir Francis) Revived: Calling upon this Dull or Effeminate Age, to follow his Noble steps for Gold and Silver. By this memorable Relation of . . . . . a third Voyage, made by him into the West-Indies, in the yeeres 72 and 73 . . . . . by Philip Nichols, Preacher; Reviewed by Sir Francis Drake himselfe before his death, set forth by Sir Francis Drake, Baronet, his nephew, smallest 4to. original edition, portrait on title, cropped, and no leaf of errata, red morocco extra, gilt edges, £4. 4*s* (Nicholas Bourne, 1626)

This first edition of the "World Encompassed in 1577-1580" is the best and the rarest. It was executed by Sir Francis Drake's nephew and namesake, who had two years previously published in the "Sir F. D. revived" the voyage of 1572-73.

9549 DRAKE (Sir Francis). Narrationes duæ quarum prima continet Diarium Expeditionis Francisci Draki in Indias Occidentales susceptæ, 1585, altera omnium rerum ab eodem Drako et Norreysio in Lusitanica irruptione gestarum fidelem continuationem subjicit, sm. 4to. two portraits of Sir Francis Drake inserted, one of them by Marshall, red morocco extra, gilt edges, £2. 2*s* Noribergæ, 1590

9550 DUDLEY (Sir Robert, Duke of Northumberland and Earl of Warwick) Arcano del Mare di Don Roberto Dudleo Duca di Nortumbria e Conte di Warvich, impressione seconda corretta & accresciuta secondo l'originale del medesimo Duca, che si conserva nella libreria del Convento di Firenze della Pace, 2 vols. atlas folio, 291 maps and plates, hf. bd. £25. Fiorenza, 1661

This great work is of singular importance to the American collector. The Maps and Charts, which it contains, are all the result of long and profound study, and judicious criticism. Dudley was himself a practical mariner and scientific man, as well as a great noble, who spent forty years of his life, and the treasures of a vast income, upon the accumulation of authentic material for the illustration of his cherished subjects—Hydrography and Navigation. The Arcano comprises Portolani and Charts by English and other pilots, which were never published elsewhere; and it seems curious that the book should have hitherto escaped the notice of most

American collectors, when we consider some of its points of interest. The maps which depict Virginia, New Netherlands, and New England, are amongst the most important of these: they are fuller and upon a larger scale than, while at the same time, they are totally distinct from, those of Laet, Jansson, Mercator, Visscher, the Beschryving of 1651, Van Loon, and Donckers. It is very strange, upon this account, that the Arcano is omitted by Asher in his Bibliographical Essay, and that the attention of so painstaking a student should not have been drawn to Dudley's work. The above second edition was prepared from the author's corrected copy of the first; and as he died in 1639, his maps of those parts of America must be considered to take precedence of all those mentioned by Asher, except the 1630 edition of Laet. In fact, it is uncertain whether they might not claim priority even over Laet; for the engraver Lucini mentions that he himself had been kept secluded in an obscure village of Tuscany for twelve years, working incessantly at the plates. Asher's Essay, so elaborate in its description of the various early maps and charts, their variations, and their mutual dependence or independence, becomes very defective through its omission of the Arcano. Again the large scale of the maps of California and New Albion, and the number of names which crowd the coast line below and above Cape Mendocino, with the marginal observation upon the errors of latitude made by previous writers, shew conclusively the scientific character and importance of Dudley's work. A similar remark will apply to the delineations of the newly discovered lands of Australia, and the northern coasts of New Holland, (which he mistakenly calls New Guinea, while leaving to that island its other name Papua).

One of the Portolans is by Abraham Kendal, the master of Dudley's flag-ship, when the latter fitted out an expedition to the West Indies in 1594-95 to explore the land of Eldorado; during which he visited Trinidad and some other islands, Guyana, the issues of the Orinoco, etc. He took some useful notes, made lists of native words, thrashed some Spanish ships, and escaped some great dangers in this expedition,—a daring one for a young man of 21,—but returned without booty. The numerous Vocabularies of savage languages which the Arcano contains are of considerable interest. Abraham Kendal, whose name is unknown to the book-makers, died at Portobello in Central America, in 1597, in Drake's service, leaving behind him the plans and papers of which Dudley made good use.

Dudley was the legitimate son of the Earl of Leicester, and acknowledged as such during his father's life, but the hatred of his step-mother and the enmity which his aspiring and ambitious character created for him, damaged his prospects at court. He claimed the Dukedom of Northumberland, which had fallen into abeyance on the execution of his grandfather, the setter-up of Queen Jane Gray; but soon left England, (where he was more likely to receive indignities than rewards) and went to travel on the Continent, from which he never returned. He obtained, however, from the Grand Duke of Tuscany honours and employment; and received from Ferdinand II. a patent by which the title of Duke of Northumberland and Earl of Warwick was secured to himself and his children throughout the Empire, with the title of Duchess for the lady he took with him from England and married in Italy. Charles I. conferred the same title upon the wife whom Dudley had left with four children in England behind him.

COLLATION: Title and three other preliminary leaves, followed by text, pp. 1-496.

The principal part of this work relates to the manners and conversion of the Indians and the progress of religion in America.

It contains also valuable biographical sketches of the friars who studied the native languages, and accounts of the works they composed in this branch of philology. On p. 122 it is stated that the Escala of San Juan Climaco was the first book printed in Mexico, in 1535. The date is 1532 according to Gonzalez Davila.

This account was written by the son of John R. Forster, when the latter naturalist was forbidden to publish a parallel narrative with that of Captain Cook. Mr. Allibone omits him, although he wrote in English, "because he was a foreigner and can therefore claim no place in our dictionary;" while he makes no excuse for inserting Archbishop Anselm, Delolme, Agassiz, and others.

Funnell claims to give the best and fullest account ever published up to his time, of the entire West coast of the American continent. He was Dampier's mate, but his book did not please the Captain, although Dampier and Funnell were forcibly dragged together by the publisher of the best edition of "Dampier's Voyages."

9570 GAGE (Thomas) the English-American, his travail by sea and land, or a New Survey of the WEST INDIAS, Voyage in Mexico, Chiapa, Guatemala, etc. with Grammar of the Indian tongue Poconchi, smallest folio, First Edition, calf extra, gilt edges, £2. 2*s* 1648

This book is remarkable as the first and only extensive work by an English author upon the Spanish Indies as seen from within. It is most entertaining and instructive, notwithstanding the singularly superstitious tales that it narrates. Gage used the word "party" in its modern slang sense of "individual." He belonged to the Dominican order originally, but joined the English church before he wrote his travels.

9571 GAGE'S New Survey of the West-Indies, or the English American, his Travel by sea and land, third edition enlarged, with a new and accurate map, 8vo. map, calf, 15*s* 1677

This edition is better than the original by reason of the map only; otherwise it is inferior, the last chapter (containing unpalatable reflections upon English subjects) being omitted, and other modifications made.

The original book, printed in 1563, may now be considered introuvable. It was so rare in 1731, that the above reprint was considered necessary. This latter has itself become very scarce.

9572 GARCIA (Gregorio) Origen de los Indios de el Nuevo Mundo e Indias Occidentales, averiguado con discurso de opiniones, segunda impresion enmendada y añadida, sm. folio, sd. 12*s*; or, bd. 15*s* Madrid, 1729

The first edition was published in 1607. "La seconde édition de cet ouvrage curieux, Madrid, 1729, in-fol. renferme de nombreuses additions de l'éditeur BARCIA."—Brunet. The fifth book contains the various native accounts of the origin of the Indians. The others comprise the experiences of Garcia during many years sojourn in America, a summary of the various opinions of others and his own deductions. Barcia's additions are considerable.

Rouen, pour J. Burges, 1525

There is little to connect this work with America, but as it is an early Mariner's Guide-book, and contains at least a mention of the New World, which has not been discovered by the bibliographers, it deserves a place in this list. On the reverse of T i, the author refers to the wanderings of sailors, "es terres neufves, es isles trouvees, es isles de madere, es isles novantes." His superstitions, his rude spelling and language, his description of the English coasts (including the isle douhic, in which the Isle of Wight is sadly disguised,) make the volume an interesting one for the English collector. This edition is mentioned by Brunet as having fetched £16. at one of Libri's sales. The work is full of curious maritime information, and was composed at St. Gilles in 1483-84, but was not published till the year 1525, as will appear by the preface to the Calendar (T i reverse) "Et ya de temps depuys quil nasquit jusques a cette annee Mil cinq centz xxv." The first example in the Calendar refers to the year 1521, through which Brunet has fallen into error with regard to the age of the undated edition, which he places before the above one. The citation from Du Verdier of a Poitiers edition of 1520, is probably no less incorrect as to date, and we must look upon the Rouen edition of 1525 as the Princeps, until there is satisfactory evidence of an earlier.

9576 GOMARA, Historia General de las Indias y Nuevo Mundo, con mas la Conquista del Peru y de Mexico, 2 vols. in 1, sm. folio, Editio Princeps, many woodcuts, fine large clean copy in brown morocco extra, gilt edges, by BEDFORD, EXTREMELY RARE, £25. Caragoça, Millan, 1553-52

"Gomara's historical merit is considerable, his mode of narration is clear, flowing, always agreeable, and sometimes elegant. The copies of his Historia de las Indias and of his Chronica were called in by a decree of the Council of the Indies, and were long considered as prohibited books."—Robertson.

It is a great historical work, indispensable to the student of Spanish affairs in America after the conquest, notwithstanding the charges made by Bernal Diaz against Gomara of occasional inaccuracy. The dedication to Charles V. begins with these remarkable words: "The greatest event which has happened since the creation of the world (leaving aside the incarnation and death of Him who created it) is the discovery of the Indies."

Gomara prefixes a curious address to intending translators, warning them to be accurate and to measure the full significance of the pregnant Spanish phrases, also to pay special attention to proper names. He further declares that he is writing the book in Latin, so that the translators may take no trouble in that language. His Latin version has never appeared.

9577 GOMARA (Francisco Lopez de) Historia general de las Indias y todo lo acaescido en ellas dende que se ganaron hasta agora, 12mo. vellum, £5. Anvers, Martin Nucio, 1554

The second work of Gomara, "Conquista de Mexico," is promised on the title as if part of the work, but it was only published separately by Nucio, and is seldom found in company with the above volume.

9578 GOMARA, Cronica de la Nueva España, y Historia de las Indias, 2 parts in 1 vol. sm. folio, vellum, 28*s* (Madrid, 1749)

Might appear imperfect for want of a title page, but it is the complete work of Gomara, edited by Barcia, of whose collection (see ante) it forms the second volume.

9579 GOMARA Historia de las Conquistas de HERNAN CORTES, traducida al Mexicano por Chimalpain, publicala con varias notas y adiciones BUSTAMANTE, 2 vols. 8vo. hf. bd. £2. Mexico, 1826

The statement on the title of "translated by Chimalpain" is merely parenthetical. Bustamante when he had in his hands the MS. from which he printed the book, supposed it to be an original work by Chimalpain, but afterwards discovered that this Mexican, who flourished at the beginning of the seventeenth century, had only rendered Gomara's book into his own tongue. It is not clear from what original Bustamante has published the above volumes; he does not appear to have seen the Mexican text, and there is nothing, except a few words in chapter 62, to shew any connexion between the Spanish publication of Bustamante and the work of Chimalpain. As for the text it seems rather like a modern improvement of Gomara, than like a fresh translation from the Mexican version. However this may be, the editor's notes are copious and valuable.

[It should be stated, indeed, that a MS. professing to contain the Mexican text of Chimalpain's history, but according to the description, differing in its character from that of Gomara, was sold at the Abbé Fischer's sale in 1869.]

9580 GOMARA. Historia delle nuove Indie Occidentali, parte seconda, composta da Lopez di Gomara, tradotta da Cravaliz, 12mo. vellum, £2. 2*s* Venetia, Lorenzini, 1560

This volume is called parte seconda, because it formed the second volume of the series of Italian translations in which Cieça's chronicle of Peru was the first, and Gomara's Mexico the third. It contains the same matter as the Spanish volume printed by Nucio in 1554.

9581 GONNEVILLE, Voyage ès Nouvelles Terres des Indes, avec des éclaircissements par D'Avezac, 8vo. sd 9*s* 6*d* Paris, 1869

Gonneville was captain of the "Espoir" of Honfleur, and visited Brazil in 1503-5.

9582 GONZALEZ DAVILA (GIL) TEATRO ECCLESIASTICO de la PRIMITIVA IGLESIA de las INDIAS OCCIDENTALES, Vidas de sus Arzobispos y cosas memorables de sus Sedes, 2 vols. folio, completely perfect, with the map of Mechoacan, woodcuts of Arms, fine copy, limp vellum, £8. 10*s* Madrid, 1649-55

VERY RARE when perfect. It is a very curious work, containing an account of the first Church Establishments in Spanish America, and other important matters relating to its early history, as the introduction of arts and letters, printing, etc. The accounts of the various races of Indians, their creeds and manners, etc. are also highly valuable. At p. 23 of the first volume, Davila notices the introduction of printing into Mexico, in 1532, mentions the first printer, Juan Pablos, and states that the first book printed in the New World was the well-known Scala Paradisi of Joannes Climacus.

The above volume contains the voyages of Columbus, Cadamosto, Amerigo Vespucci, Marco Polo, etc.

In the map, the New World is represented as two islands or continents, separated at the isthmus of Darien; the northern portion is called "Terra de Cuba," the lower "America, Terra Nova."

9590 GRYNÆI Novus Orbis (editio secunda auctior), folio, BEST EDITION, with the same large map as in the first edition, very fine copy in old calf gilt, edges gilt, £5. 5*s* Basil. 1555

This edition contains, besides the matter of the first, also several supplementary pieces, including the second and third letters of Cortes. The only variation between different copies of the Grynæus maps is that the letter-press portion (the names of the regions) was, in a second issue, set up in a partly altered type. This circumstance, observed in different copies of different editions, has caused some vague statements which catalogues constantly repeat, one from another, concerning the rarity of the map and the existence of counterfeits.

It is the fashion to decry the works of this author, because of the few blunders that are met with in his text; but who can expect perfection in any book, especially one of bibliography? In spite of that portentous German voyager, "Ander Schiffahrt," Mr. Harrisse's Bibliotheca is the best and most useful bibliographical essay in existence upon the early literature relating to the New World. His work upon La Nouvelle France will be found post under the heading CANADA.

In returning to England he coasted the eastern shores of North America; which gives him occasion to display some erudition on the subject of the discovery of the New World. Then follows the old Welsh tale of Prince Madoc, and Herbert's identification of Cymric words in Mexican names. It is amusing that he points to the name of Cape Breton as a proof that his countrymen were there in the 9th century.

9611 HERRERA (Antonio de) Historia General de los HECHOS DE LOS CASTELLANOS en las Islas i Tierra firme del Mar Oceano, en Decadas—Descripcion de las Indias—together 9 parts in 2 vols. stout sm. folio, original edition, frontispieces with portraits, and 14 maps, bound, £6. Madrid, 1601

9613 ——— la misma Historia y Descripcion, publicadas con notas por Barcia, 4 vols. sm. folio, £6. 6*s* Madrid, 1725-30

9614 ——— the same, 4 vols. folio, LARGE AND FINE PAPER, A BEAUTIFUL COPY in vellum, £12. 12*s* 1725-30

This is the GENUINE BEST EDITION of the work, edited by the learned BARCIA, which, although in preparation since 1725, did not appear till 1729. Another similar edition, in 4 vols. folio, with portraits, was brought out at Antwerp, in 1728, one year previously, in haste to forestall the work which Barcia had in hand, but of course it is an inferior production, disfigured with faults, and omitting the 14 maps which are unavoidably necessary for the understanding of the descripcion. It contains also so-called portraits of the Incas of Peru, which are merely copies of De Bry's fictitious engravings, while Barcia's edition gives the genuine designs which Herrera himself had used after the native pictures.

9618 HERRERA, Description des Indes Occidentales qu'on appelle aujourdhuy le Nouveau Monde; a la quelle sont adjoustées quelques autres descriptions des mesmes pays, avec la Navigation de Jacques Le Maire, sm. folio, 17 maps, with other engravings, fine copy in old calf, £5. 5*s* Amst. M. Colin, 1622

It is erroneously stated in the "American Nuggets" that Barcia, in the preface to his edition of Herrera, repudiates the edition by Colin as full of errors. The fact is, that Barcia makes nowhere any remark prejudicial to the above publication of 1622, which certainly contains a faithful translation of the descripcion of Herrera, and an equally faithful reproduction of the fourteen genuine and authentic maps. He alludes only to the Antwerp edition of 1728. The volume is also highly valuable as containing the first edition of the genuine Voyage of Le Maire (also issued in Latin and Dutch in the same year) as distinguished from that which had been, through the Dutch India Company's jealousy of Le Maire, published by Blaeu under the name of Cornelius Schouten, who had commanded one of Le Maire's vessels. It concludes with the Spanish and English voyages to Magellan's Straits and the descriptions of America given by Ordoñez de Cevallos and Bertius.

9619 HEYLYN (Peter) Mikrokosmos. A little description of the great World, sm. 4to. presentation copy to Lord Danvers, with inscription and five stanzas in the autograph of the author, signed "P. Heylyn," old olive morocco, gilt edges, £5. 5*s* Oxford, 1625

The description of America occupies 38 pages.

9620 HEYLYN'S Mikrokosmos, a little description of the great World, sq. 8vo. old calf, 10*s* Oxford, 1939 (1639)

This was a work of great repute in the Seventeenth Century. It was published first in 1622. There is a special article on AMERICA at the end of the volume.

9621 HORNIUS de Originibus Americanis, 12mo. calf gilt, 7*s* 6*d* Hagæ, 1652

—together 10 parts, sm. 4to. woodcuts and 125 maps and plates, VERY RARE, £50. 1602-13

A complete set of Hulsius should consist of 26 parts, but such a collection is of the most excessive rarity, beyond that of even the De Bry series. A copy fetched £335 a few years ago at Puttick's. It is considered that the intrinsic merit of Hulsius' is also superior to that of De Bry, greater fidelity and accuracy both in the text and in the delineations having been observed by the former.

9623 Dritter Theil: Warhafftiger Relation der dreyen newen Schiffahrt so die Holländer gegen Mitternacht, 1594-76, verricht, wie sie Nordwegen, Lappiam, Biarmiam, und Russiam oder Moscoviam umbgesegelt haben, Hochteutsch durch Hulsium, tertia editio, sm. 4to. xvi and 96 pp. 32 plates, sd. two plates wanting, £2. Frankfurt, Hulsii Wittibe, 1612

This is the first edition of Schmidel's Voyage, issued by Hulsius, with a Latin text which he translated from the German original of Frankfort, 1567. The book is seldom found, as in the present instance, with all the plates.

Regni Guianæ, adornante Jodoco Hondio, sm. 4to. engraving on title, map and 6 plates, perfectly complete, in old calf, £7. 10*s* 1599

A complete copy of this book is singularly rare. The plates are beautifully executed, but have a certain freedom about them (especially in one instance), which must have frequently caused their destruction. A similar observation partially applies to Schmidel's Voyage.

Ward's Mexico.

In this work the Picture-writing of the Mexicans first received the attention and the ample treatment which are due to a literature as strange and important in the records of the New World, as that of Egypt in the Old.

At a great public meeting, held June 21, 1824, it was declared by the executive power of the Mexican Government, that "Mr. Humboldt's 'Political Essay on New Spain' contained the most complete and most accurate picture of the natural riches of the country, and that the reading of this great work has not a little contributed to reanimate the active industry of the nation, and to inspire it with confidence in its own powers."

"No name stands higher than that of Humboldt among the lovers of geographical and physical science. Zealous, active, vigorous; imbued with liberal knowledge, skilful in general physics, and particularly attached to chemistry and its kindred branches, possessing ample means of indulging its taste, he has directed his inquiries into every department of nature and society. The mass of curious information which he has procured in those distant travels, and the superb collection which he was enabled to make relative to different objects of science, far exceed anything that has heretofore been achieved by the exertions of an individual."

Edinburgh Review, vol. 16, p. 223-4.

The three series of this grand work, as described above, compose the Geographical and Historical portion of the Voyage of Humboldt and Bonpland. Three other series have been published, which are devoted to the Natural History.

Of extreme value and interest; drawn from sources inaccessible to ordinary research. The maps numbered 6 and 12 are from a MS. executed about 1540, and contain very full details of the Californian coast. The fourteenth map was made by an Englishman named Thomas Hood in 1592, and exhibits the coasts of Florida, Virginia, and Upper North America. The others are chiefly charts of the American coasts done by Portuguese and Spaniards at the beginning of the sixteenth century.

The special value of this work and these editions consists in its maps of North America, New England and New Netherlands, from which succeeding writers copied. Last Dutch edition, scarcer than the first at Amst. 1596. The map of the two Hemispheres, by Petrus Plancius, executed in 1594, and Langren's map of America, executed at the same time, are two remarkable efforts of early Cartography.

9673 ——— the same, a fine copy in old calf, 20*s* 1597

Of the entire number of maps, nearly 40 represent modern Geography. The various plates in which the New World is represented, do not shew so much correction in the form of that continent as appears in the final edition of Ortelius published in 1592, but adhere rather to the earlier types of the Antwerp geographer.

the editors. The latest geographical discoveries are incorporated in their work, and contributions by the best authorities in each country are made use of. This is the first Atlas containing like a fair description of the now United States; the settlements of the Pilgrim Fathers at Plymouth, the establishment of James' City, and the position of Fort Orange and New Amsterdam (the future city of New York), being all clearly laid down in the map, although then but a few years in existence. It is interesting to observe the records on the map of New England, of the recent English investigations. Besides the general map of the world, there are seventeen special maps for America and its parts. A voyage from Bermuda to Ireland in an open boat, by five Englishmen, is noticed as an unprecedented fact. Another feature of the work is its amplitude of detail in the maps of Eastern Europe; and two large maps which shew the courses of the Rhine and the Danube are also valuable and uncommon.

9679 MERCATOR'S Minor Atlas. Historia Mundi: or Mercator's Atlas, containing his Cosmographicall Description of the Fabricke and Figure of the World, lately rectified by the studious industry of Judocus Hondy, Englished by W. S. stout folio, 181 maps beautifully engraved, including 13 which relate to America and the West Indies, wanting the leaf paged 693-4 in the account of Italy, old stamped calf, clasps, £5. 1635

This has the rare map of Virginia and New England, engraved by Ralph Hall in 1636, which is very seldom seen in the Book. All the copies were issued with simply a duplicate of the New Spain map impressed opposite the text to Virginia, this being mentioned in the Errata with a statement that a correct map of New England was then being prepared in America, which would be published on its arrival in England. It is inserted at the beginning, and gives a special value to any copy of the English translation in which it occurs, as in the above.

9680 MIZALDI de Mundi Sphærâ seu Cosmographiâ libri tres, 12mo. diagrams, bound, 12*s* Lutetiæ, 1552

This poem is dedicated to the learned lady Margaret of Valois, Duchess of Berry, who afterwards married Emanuel Philibert of Savoy. She is not to be confounded with the other two Margarets of Valois, who were equally accomplished and are better known.

9681 MORISOTI Orbis Maritimi sive Rerum in Mari et Littoribus gestarum Historia, continens omnia ad rem maritimam pertinentia, fol. 11 leaves, 726 pp. and Index 9 leaves, frontispiece, folding plates, curious engravings, and maps, three of which relate to America, vellum, 25*s* Divione, 1643

9682 ——— the same, FINE PAPER, folio, fine copy in vellum, 36*s* 1643

A rare and curious work, being a kind of Encyclopædia on maritime affairs; there is a geographical description of the world, with upwards of 20 maps; of Africa, with 1 map; of America, with 3 maps; thus rendering it of interest for the history of early geographical discovery. At the end of each description in this portion of the book is a list of the names of towns and places differing from the Latin nomenclature. Amongst the illustrations may be noticed a boat with paddle-wheels, worked by bulls, p. 712.

9683 MONARDUS (Doctour, of Sevill) Joyfull Newes out of the NEW-FOUND WORLDE, wherein are declared the rare and singular vertues of divers Herbs, Trees, Plantes, etc. Englished by JOHN FRAMPTON; newly corrected; whereunto are added three other bookes treating of the Bezaar Stone, etc. smallest 4to. woodcuts of animals, plants, etc. the upper margin slightly worm-holed, very fine copy in old russia gilt, £3. 3*s* 1596

9684 MUÑOZ, Historia del Nuevo Mundo, Tomo I (all published) sm. 4to. portrait of Columbus, neatly bound, 15*s* Madrid, 1793

This volume only reaches to the year 1500, but the Prologo contains an admirable critical review of the various writers on the subject. The Spanish Government prohibited the continuation of the work as being too enlightened and truthful. Bustamante, whose anti-Spanish prejudices and peculiarities are well known, acknowledges in Muñoz the most faithful, careful, and accurate historian of the New World.

9685 MUNSTERI (Sebastiani) COSMOGRAPHIÆ UNIVERSALIS libri sex, in quibus describuntur omnium habitabilis orbis partium situs, gentium mores, etc. very stout folio, numerous maps and woodcuts all of a curious and interesting character, beautiful copy in calf extra, gilt edges, by Pratt, VERY RARE in this state, £4. 4*s* Basileæ, 1550

This is the first Latin edition, issued by Münster at the same time as the second German edition. The last of the fourteen maps with which the work begins, is "Tabula novarum Insularum quas diversis respectibus Occidentales et Indianas vocant." It occupies the entire face of two pages, and contains a respectable delineation of the Continent (although Yucatan becomes an island) from Francisca (or Canada) on the North to the Tierra del Fuego on the South. Page 33 has a chapter on the recent great Voyages of Discovery; and the special text relating to America, occupies pp. 1099 to 1111. The Cosmography of Sebastian Münster was wonderfully popular during the seventeenth century, and held rank as a high authority upon historical and geographical matters. Since then it seems to have been chiefly valued for the curious woodcuts with which it is profusely adorned; but no American collector can dispense with it, as one of the important items in a series of early geographical treatises on the New World, especially as it contains such a map as above described, with the Strait of Magellan delineated. The book is common, but a fastidious amateur will find extraordinary difficulty in obtaining a fine copy.

9687 MYRITII Opusculum Geographicum rarum, totius ejus negotii rationem complectens, 2 parts in 1 vol. small folio, large portrait and arms of the author, maps, and several diagrams, with moveable pieces, vellum, £2. Ingolst. W. Eder, 1590

9688 ——— another copy, without the volvelles or moveable pieces, vellum, 16*s* 1590

This work is apparently unknown to most of the writers on American bibliography. The large folding map of the world contains a map of America, in which the extreme north-west corner bears the words "India orientalis." The author seems to have been one of the latest geographers who endeavoured to reconcile the new discoveries with the original theories. There are some chapters specially devoted to a description of the New World. The author was a Maltese by birth, but resided at Ratisbon as a commander of the order of St. John. A piece of verse at the end is addressed to him by Edmund Hollyng, M.D., an Englishman, in Ingolstadt.

9689 NAVAL CHRONICLE, containing a General Biographical History of the Royal Navy of the United Kingdom, from 1799 to 1818, 40 vols. royal 8vo. numerous portraits of the Commanders, plates of Engagements, &c. a fine and perfect set, half russia, an admirable set for a naval or military library, £5. 1799-1818

This most interesting work contains the completest account of the great naval war, comprising elaborate details of the engagements, copies of the despatches, memoirs of Admirals, anecdotes, sketches, &c.

Besides the fact that so many engagements took place in American waters, this work has also a strong Transatlantic interest because of the biographies of such men as Vancouver, Anson, and others, who were explorers as well as naval officers.

9690 NAVARRETE, Coleccion de los VIAJES y Descubrimientos que hicieron los Españoles desde fines del Siglo XV, con documentos sobre la historia de su Marina y de sus establecimientos en Indias, 5 vols. sm. 4to. original edition, of each volume, maps and portraits, fine copy in calf gilt, £5. Madrid, 1825-37

"Le premier volume du cette importante collection continent le journal original des voyages de Colomb, redigé par las Casas; le second est rempil de curieux documents relatifs a l'histoire des mœurs à cette époque; le troisième renferme les expeditions d'Americo Vespucci, et dans les tomes 4 et 5 sont compris les expéditions de Magellan, Elcano, Loasio et Saavedra, le tout ou d'après des manuscrits inédits, ou réimprimé sur les editions devenues très rares."—Brunet. From this collection Washington Irving drew his information regarding Columbus.

The Körpermessungen and Ethnographie formed the second and third divisions of the Anthropologie of this Voyage. (The Craniologie was the first.) The Linguistik is separately treated. The collaboration is by Weisbach, Müller, and Scherzer.

9692 NOVUS ORBIS, id est, Navigationes primæ in Americam, unà cum Varrerii discursu super Ophyra, 12mo. vellum, 24*s* Roterodami, 1616

This is a rare reprint of the Voyages of Columbus, Pinzon, and Vespucci, the de Insulis of Peter Martyr, the Letters of Cortes and of some monks in Yucatan; and Herborn on the Conversion of the Indians,——from the Grynæus of 1555; with a curious treatise on Ophir by Barreros added.

9693 ORTELII THEATRUM TERRARUM, folio, Editio Princeps, 53 coloured maps, fine copy, old red morocco, £12. Antverpiæ, 1571

The first edition of a great geographical work is always a desirable acquisition; it is a landmark in the history of Discovery that no student can dispense with. But as far as text is concerned, each edition of Ortelius' Atlas, in whatever language, differs so considerably from all others that they might be looked upon as independent works.

9694 ORTELIUS. Theatrum Orbis Terrarum, ihietz mitt vielen neuwen Landtafflen gemehret, folio, First German Edition, printed chiefly in Roman characters, with frontispiece, and 68 leaves of maps, all neatly coloured by a contemporary hand, in the original binding, from Siebold's library, £9. On title, 1573—at end, Antorff, 1572

The rarest issue of the Atlas of Ortelius, and remarkable for its peculiar and manifold specimens of type, all Roman characters, which were not used except in this first edition with German text. The orthography and style of language are rather barbarous, but a thorough reform was made in the later German editions by the entire recomposition of the text, and the use of Gothic type. There are sixteen new maps added to the original set of fifty-three which were published in 1570; and some of these are dated 1572 and 1573. (No. 47, a map of Tartary, which would have raised the number of sheets to 69, is missing in this copy). Amongst the additions are fresh maps of the British Isles, furnished to Ortelius, with corresponding text, by Humphrey Lluyd, the Welsh antiquary. Daniel Rogers, an Englishman, also contributed assistance to the geographer, and a Latin epigram by him is prefixed to the work. The map of the New World is, for the time, singularly correct and full of detail; and the advance of discovery in North America is specially remarkable. There is a curious circumstance noted in the text relating to the New World. It is that "these lands have caused our countries to be filled with sugar; so that it is now used in every kitchen, and as an article of daily food, while formerly it was, with us, found only in apothecaries' shops, and employed as a medicament." The text of this first German issue is the most interesting and piquant of all. It includes some singular statements; for instance, after an extravagant eulogy upon the merits of the Germans, he says, "but as none can be perfect, it must be admitted they drink to excess; which were better moderated, but let us plaster their aching heads with the consolation that this is the most venial of all faults." He makes boldly the assertion that the Empire owned by the King of Spain is the greatest and most extensive that ever existed, allowing at the same time that that of Portugal is the most widely stretching.

9695 ORTELII Theatrum Orbis Terrarum denuo recognitum, roy. folio, 70 maps, coloured, bound, £2. 10*s* Antverpiæ, 1575

An additional map of Slavonia raises the number of maps from 69 to 70.

9696 ——— alia editio, roy. folio, 93 maps, coloured, hf. russia, £4. 8*s* Antv. 1579

This edition, so far as the maps are concerned, is exactly the same as the German edition of 1580. See the following article.

9697 ORTELIUS, Theatrum oder Schawbuch des Erdtkreys, folio, German text in Gothic character, portrait, 93 sheets of Maps in contemporary colouring, £5. Antorff, 1580

In this second German issue the text is entirely re-written so as to abolish the barbarous language of the edition of 1572. Ortelius' portrait and twenty-four additional maps were added, of which two have a special value for the American collector. One is a map of New Spain, dated 1579, which is as full of detail as any of the European countries, every hamlet, hill, and river marked, so that it must contain about 1000 names. The second is a map in two parts, containing the regions of Northern Mexico, and the West Indian islands with part of Florida. These two maps are described as having been laid down by an anonymous Spanish investigator.

9698 ORTELII THEATRUM ORBIS TERRARUM, opus nunc tertio recognitum et auctum, 1519—PARERGON in quo veteris Geographiæ aliquot Tabulæ, 1584—Nomenclator Ptolemaicus, 1584—in 1 vol. roy. folio, the frontispiece, maps, and other engravings elegantly COLOURED by a contemporary hand, vellum, gilt edges, £5. 1584-9

9699 ——— the same, royal folio, a fine copy in ancient calf binding, with Coat of Arms on the sides, formerly in the library of the Earl of Coventry, with his autograph on the title, £12. 12*s* Antv. 1589-84

The number of Maps in the Theatrum is 167, contained on 100 leaves; in the Parergon there are 12; so that this edition comprises 59 maps more than the original one, and 19 more than the preceding edition in German. The additional maps are dated in various years from 1584 to 1589. That of China is dated 1584, and the text on the back of it contains two Chinese words, in the Chinese character; so that this Atlas is really the first European book in which Chinese characters appeared, being one year earlier than the work on China published by Gonzalez de Mendoza, at Rome, in 1585, to which the priority has hitherto been attributed. The book is a very fine one, printed in bold clear types, upon strong and thick paper. In the text to the map of Valentia, there is a singular statement made, which is wholly altered in the later edition. It is this: "Ager hujus urbis (Valentiæ) ubique à Mauris colitur . . Avorumque prosapiam lingua Arabica et religione Mahumetana palam et vulgo profitentur in hunc usque diem; conniventibus Rege et Inquisitione." This startling charge appears only in this one edition, for in the later ones it is changed as follows: "Ager hujus urbis à gente e Mauris oriunda et paternum sive avitum sermonem ac fere vitæ morem adhuc retinente colitur."

9700 ORTELII Theatrum Orbis Terrarum, opus nunc denuo ab auctore recognitum, acc. Parergon et Nomenclator Ptolemaicus, large folio, 201 coloured maps, contained on 134 sheets, old vellum, £10. Antv. 1592

This edition is one of equal importance with the Princeps, if it be not indeed more valuable. The only chartographic difference between the various issues and editions previous to that of 1592 lies in the greater or less number of maps, but in the edition now under notice the New World was re-engraved (both in the old maps and in some new ones) and for the first time in the Ortelian series approximates to its true form. This was the latest work of the veteran Geographer. Of all the Ortelius Atlases, two at least should be seen in the American collector's library, that of 1570 and that of 1592, his first and his last achievements. Among the new maps that swell the number to 201 in the last edition, there is a fine one of the Mar del Zur which includes the entire American continent.

9701 PAGÈS, Travels round the World, 1767-71, translated from the French, 3 vols. 8vo. hf. morocco, 12*s* 1793

He went up the Mississippi from New Orleans, and travelled through the (soon to be) United States, Mexico, South America, for the American portion of his voyages.

9702 PAPELES VARIOS que tocan al Libre Comercio. An extraordinary collection of 25 Official Documents, containing the royal orders, and the representations in Cortes and in Council, for and against Seville and Cadiz, in connection with trading privileges between these cities and the American dependencies: Louisiana, Florida, Mexico, Central America, the West Indies, Peru, Chile, and La Plata, some printed, the rest manuscript, with signatures, in 1 vol. very stout folio, limp vellum, from the library of Lord Orford, £6. 10*s* Sec. XVIII

The MS. portion includes a copy of the prohibition against the introduction of Robertson's America into the Spanish dominions, followed by a translation of his preface.

LEGIO, sm. folio, First Edition of the First Decade, with the famous MAP which shews the American Coasts and islands from Florida to near Pernambuco, blue morocco extra, gilt edges,

Hispali, per Jacolū Corumberger, 1511

There were two issues of this volume in the one year. Several typographical errors were discovered in the copies that had been first sent out, and the consequence was that two new leaves were issued with the copies that remained. The title was also reprinted for these; and the two leaves, which were inserted between the Decade and the poetry, comprised not only a list of errata, but also an address to Ximenez on the practical value of illustrating the text with a chart, and the Map which is so eagerly coveted by possessors of the first edition of Peter Martyr. This Map is astonishingly correct; it will be the glory of the cartographer to have executed such a work at so early a period. There is no other similar attempt that can be in any way compared with it; it remained for many long years far in advance of all that the pilots and hydrographers could achieve. As might be expected, the copies which have the map are in an extreme minority.

This complete edition of the Eight Decades of Peter Martyr is an important book, geographically speaking, because of the valuable notes by Hakluyt, and the no less valuable map. It is dedicated to Sir Walter Raleigh.

9707 PETER MARTYR OF ANGLERIA, de Novo Orbe or Historie of the West Indies, in eight Decades, translated into English by R. Eden and M. Lok, sm. 4to. without the Epistola Dedicatoria, calf, very scarce, £5. 1612

It would seem from the description in this edition in Mr. Harrisse's Additions that copies seldom have the map, that extraordinary production of Oronce Finé which is so rarely seen.

RARE. The third part treats upon the West Indies, and besides the special maps of the American islands, includes two mappemondes as well as a general map of the Western continent. The Carta da Navegar on p. 198 contains a representation of the American continent which is superior in accuracy to the Ortelius maps before the edition of 1592.

Editio Princeps of Columbus' famous Map of the New World, generally called the Hydrographie Portugaise, so frequently referred to by writers upon the discovery of America, a copy of which was obtained in 1504 by René, Duke of Lorraine, and presented to the editors of the present Ptolemy. They expressed their gratitude to the prince by designing and engraving at the end of the work the first existing map of the Duchy of Lorraine; but René had been five years dead when the book was published. The only mention of the Duke and of the Columbus map is contained in the Ad Lectorem of the Supplement in the following words, which are supposed to establish the authorship of the chart:—"Charta autem marina quam Hydrographiam vocant per Admiralem quondam serenissi. Portugalie regis Ferdinandi ceteros denique lustratores verissimis peragrationibus lustrata, ministerio Renati, dum vixit, nunc pie mortui, Ducis illustriss. Lotharingie liberalius prelographationi tradita est." The word Portugalie is plainly a mistake for Hispanie, and the Admiral referred to is generally believed to mean no other than Columbus himself. The first map which follows the Ad Lectorem is the celebrated Hydrographia, entitled at top ORBIS TYPUS UNIVERSALIS, and it shews at one view the entire known world. Europe, Asia and Africa are all connected, and stretch from Greenland as the north-western extremity of Europe to Java minor in the south-east of Asia; and, in the other way, from the Cape of Good Hope to Cathay. On the left-hand side appears part of the continent of South America, reaching as far as San Paulo in about 26 degrees of south latitude; above it are seen Cuba and San Domingo, and beyond them to the west, the outlines of a separate shore which is probably intended for Yucatan. The second map is Tabula Terre Nove, an amplification and correction of the preceding one, so far as the New Continent was concerned. It is full of names along the sea coast from Cabo del Mar Usiano on the north, probably on the Yucatan coast, to about 26 (marked 35) degrees of South Latitude, thus shewing that the discoveries of Cabral, Vespucci, and others, had been utilized. This map bears the inscription "Hec terra cum adiacentibus insulis inventa est per Columbum Januensem ex mandato Regis Castelle," which appeared here for the first time, and was frequently repeated on later maps. [The only addition which was made in those later maps, beyond the mere inscription of the name America, (which gives to the books of 1522 and 1525 so much interest in the American collector's eyes) and a short statement concerning San Domingo, is the insertion of the word Paria, which is most blunderingly placed in Yucatan.] Not only may the Ptolemy of 1513 be said to contain the Editio Princeps of the Admiral's map, but it would even be correct to describe it as the only edition of that map, since all the later reproductions, except of course modern facsimiles, follow the Ptolemy of 1522. Humboldt has put forward an opinion that Waldseemüller executed these maps, and also those which appeared in the Ptolemy of 1522 and 1525. A faithful comparison will preclude all supposition that the same hand could have been employed in both; for although the maps of 1522 and 1525 published by Laurentius Frissius, are ostensibly close reproductions of those of 1513, yet the difference between them is scientifically and critically very great. It can at once be seen that the original maps, which bear a close family resemblance to that of Juan de la Cosa (Columbus' pilot) are valuable and authentic documents, while the later ones are inferior imitations, not only without any attempt to improve upon the earlier labour, but even omitting some of the names because they were too numerous or not sufficiently clear; blurring, rounding, and distorting the coast-outlines.

9722 ——— the same, old MS. notes on margins, a very large copy in calf gilt, £12. 10*s* 1525

The Bodleian library possesses only an imperfect copy of this edition, and there is none at all in the Grenville Library. Harrisse (Bibl. Americana) had not seen one, describing it only from the catalogue of a private collection. The maps are the same as those in the edition of 1522. The last sheet is the famous map signed by L. F. (Laurentius Frisius) dated 1522, and entitled "ORBIS TYPUS UNIVERSALIS," which bears the name "America." This map is not a new one, but simply a reproduction of one in the Ptolemy of 1513, with the name America added. The discovery of Columbus is described on the sheet numbered 28, and the two inner pages of that sheet contain a Map of America, or rather of the Western Ocean and Terra Nova, with the Islands. Again, the second last map, which represents Gronlandia et Russia, is really a map of the Eastern Hemisphere, but also contains portions of the American coasts. As the collation is always incorrectly given, an exact description is appended. Folios 1-82, numbered, including title; annotations of Regiomontanus, 14 leaves, unnumbered; Index Ptolemæi, 34 leaves, unnumbered: followed by the Maps. They consist of sheets numbered 1-26; general Ptolemæan map; sheets 28-50 (with two Nos. 36 by mistake for 35 and 36; 46 and 47 on one sheet; and 50 unnumbered).

The second edition by the famous Servetus, who had published his first at Lyons in 1535. The two are not exactly similar, although the second still contains, on folio 28 of the maps, his contemptuous reference to those who would confer the name of America upon the New World, since the honour was justly due to Columbus. It also contains the curious comparison instituted between the rival monarchies of Spain and France, in which Servetus bestows such strangely mingled praise and blame upon tne manners of his countrymen and countrywomen. There is no doubt a covert allusion to himself in the statement that "alibi potiùs quam in ipsâ Hispaniâ Hispanum doctum invenias." It is remarkable that the entire text relative to Palestine (amongst the additional maps) is omitted; from which we might conclude that the public had already been shocked by the assertions (copied by him in 1535 from the Ptolemy of 1522) of the barrenness and unpleasantness of the Holy Land so falsely eulogized in the sacred writings as "flowing with milk and honey."

The map of the world contains only an inferior representation of the New World, but the special maps at the end, of North and South America, Mexico, etc. are of remarkable excellence. This is a matter of no small moment in the delineation of the States that were afterwards Virginia, New England, and New France.

It is maintained from ancient monuments and traditions, and the Olafssaga that the Icelanders kept up a communication between Greekland and the (now) New England states during the 10th to the fourteenth centuries. In spite of defects and improbabilities in the narrative, it seems to rest on a foundation of truth.

On folio 27 there is a diagram in proof of the rotundity of the earth, which contains a small map of America, in which the southern continent is more clearly and better drawn than the northern, and exhibits the courses of the Orinoco and the Amazon. This is probably the work of Chaves, who prepared a large map of the New World which has never yet been printed. The only reference in the text to the Western Hemisphere is on the reverse of fol. 25, where the disappearance of stars in the heaven and the appearance of new ones is noted as meeting the observation of voyagers on the Western ocean, to Peru or to Magellan's Strait. The book is also interesting as the production of an Englishman, John Holywood.

Africa, and many little known islands, etc. Sprengel, in his History of Geographical Discovery, mentions Stöcklein's work most honourably.

It is often stated to be a translation of the Lettres Edifiantes, but this is only true to a small extent. All the more important portion of the collection was entirely new, taken from unpublished MSS. Its value to the student of American History and geography cannot be over-estimated. As the merest specimen, a map in Vol. I. may be adduced, which gives a complete and correct delineation of California and Mexico, from actual survey made in the year 1702 by the Jesuit Kuhn (called Kino) and his assistants.

This Atlas is unknown to most collectors and bibliographers. It was prepared from actual survey and the latest discoveries of English navigators. The special feature of interest which will engage the attention of amateurs is the very large and detailed delineation of the New England Coasts, which, as well as those of Virginia, and New France, are crowded with names of places.

This is the first book in which the labours of the great Spanish cosmographer, Alonso de Santa Cruz, are recorded. They have never been printed, and his name has not even obtained any wide celebrity, although a special work on the subject has been written by Navarrete. Santa Cruz was the first to endeavour to calculate longitude by the observation of the needle's variations. His maps and globes, in which the heart-maps of Orontius Fineus and Werner are corrected, are described by Vanegas; whose volume also contains a chapter (XXI) on the geographical divisions of the world, including America and its parts; the discovering of the Western hemisphere being unreservedly attributed to Vespucci. Harrisse never saw this first edition of Vanegas.

A very valuable work, unmentioned by Asher in his excellent Bibliography of the Atlases and Maps relating to the New Netherlands, although its North American charts are infinitely superior to, and different from those of Blaeu and Van Keulen. It is unquestionably the best Atlas representing the coasts of the now United States yet published to that time, and its maps of the New Netherlands are certainly different from those of N. J. Visscher, although on the same model. Asher attributes the latter's work to 1656. The Brothers Van Loon appear to have been accurate and painstaking geographers.

the maps necessary to complete the volume, printed at Lima, 1865, stitched, 15*s* Vienne, 1869-70

These valuable publications, which are the entire result of Varnhagen's studies on Vespucci, contain all the letters of Vespucci, both authentic and doubtful, exactly reproduced from the originals. These are illustrated with literary and bibliographical notes, a critical analysis of his life, extracts from rare books and unpublished documents, etc.; which the Editor, as an influential and indefatigable scholar, had favourable opportunities of examining. The chief object, which he seems to pursue with curious eagerness, is to prove the rectitude and integrity of Vespucci's character. However, the concern of the modern world is with his ability and priority as a navigator in American waters, and the origin of the name given to the New World, and every thing necessary for any one who wishes to examine the matter thoroughly will be found in Varnhagen's treatises, by which it appears conclusive that Vespucci saw the American continent in 1497-8, in that First Voyage which has been discredited. In fact these disquisitions render completely useless, and supersede almost all previous studies upon Americus Vesputius.

"Cet ouvrage, dit M. E. Cortambert dans la Revue de l'Instruction Publique, du 15 Aout 1867, soulèvera peut-être des discussions, des oppositions dans le monde savant; mais, quelque opinion que l'on ait, on ne pourra rien écrire, rien soutenir sur l'histoire de l'Amérique sans consulter ce savant livre."——

——"Dans ces deux publications, l'auteur a réuni les textes latin et italien des lettres de Vespucci, accompagnées de facsimile, en y ajoutant la carte de l'Amérique du Ptolomée de 1513 et plusieurs pièces inédites, entre autres le texte entier de Vianello, duquel Humboldt n'a connu que quelques lignes.

"On rencontre dans cet ouvrage non-seulement des renseignements nouveaux sur les quatre premiers voyages de Vespucci, mais aussi les indices de deux autres voyages de Vespucci, mais aussi les indices de deux autres voyages (5e et 6e) entrepris en 1505 et 1507. C'est un véritable supplément à l'ouvrage d'Alex. d'Humboldt, Examen critique de l'Histoire géogr. du nouveau continent." (Extr. d'avert.)

9772 VESPUCCI. Paesi novamente retrovati, & Novo Mõdo da Alberico Vesputio Florẽtino intitulato, sm. 4to. woodcut on title, hf. bd. £32.
Milano, Joanne Angelo Scinzenzeler, 1519

VERY RARE, like all the early editions of this book, the earliest Collection of Voyages in existence. The question of its compilement and editorship has been frequently discussed, and most critics follow Humboldt in referring it to Alessandro Zorzi, instead of Fracanzio of Montalboddo—the "Montalboddo Fracan," who writes the preliminary epistle. It seems very probable that the plagiarisms of which Peter Martyr complains as having been committed to his prejudice by Aluysius Cadamostus ought to be sought for in this book (in which Cadamosto's Voyage is the first piece), and not referred to the work by Angelo Trevigiano, printed in 1504 (the original of the fourth book of the Paesi) as is done by Mr. Harrisse.

9773 VESPUTIUS. ITINERARIUM PORTUGALLENSIUM e Lusitania in Indiam et inde in Occidentem et demum ad Aquilonem, folio, curious woodcut map on the title-page, with two leaves of Index which are usually wanting, bds. uncut, very rare in this state, £36. (Mediol.) 1508

This work is a translation in Latin by Archangelus Madrignanus, a Milanese monk from the Cistercian Abbey at Clairvaux, of the famous first edition (Vicenza, 1507) of the "Paesi novamente retrovati, et Novo Mondo da Alberico Vesputio Florentino intitulato," which is looked upon as the most important contribution to the early history of American discovery, after the letters of Columbus. (At the Bolton Corney sale, a copy fetched £157.) The value of the leaves of Index in the Itinerarium Portugallensium, and the necessity of possessing them, must be estimated from the fact that they give an analysis of the contents together with the names of the discoverers, while the text of the book runs on from chapter to chapter without distinction. The narratives of Columbus, Pinzon, and Vespucci, concerning America, begin on leaf 52 and end on 75.

The eighth and last preliminary leaf (not including the two leaves of Index) ends with a metrical eulogium upon Madrignano by Quintianus Stoa. These verses close with a semicolon at the bottom of the reverse page, so that many persons have been led to think there ought to be some further preliminary matter in continuation of the iambics. But the semicolon is simply intended for a mark of interrogation, set at the end of a question in which the verses are brought to a conclusion and a climax thus:

An credis ergo dignior mortalibus
Sit qui labores superet et vivens deum?

The first of the three parts composing this volume is generally supposed to be a translation of the preceding article. It is not merely such, for although the maps are precisely the same, the text is very considerably changed ; large augmentations from more recent sources of knowledge are given, and a few judicious omissions made in it.

Contrary to the opinion of Brunet, who supposed that there was only one French edition issued at different times with different dates, this volume dated 1611 is really a new edition, and has two leaves (containing 4 new and original maps) in addition to all that went before. These four maps are in the second part, and represent: 1. India and the Indian Islands. 2. Japan. 3. China ; and, 4. The Philippine Islands. The map of Japan is the first authentic one, and approaches very closely to those of our modern Atlases.

Viera blames this author, a native of Teneriffe, for having written his history before making acquaintance with the MS. of Abreu, and the French account of Bethencourt, but admits that it is a "rico tesoro de noticias para la historia de Canarias," and describes it as "el libro en que dejó asegurada su memoria." He also says, "The islands are indebted to the immense labours of Nuñez de la Peña for different notices which already perhaps would have been forgotten."

9795 PORTOLANO, three large Manuscript Maps, 22 inches by 15, coloured and illuminated, mounted on thick paper, and folded in folio form, bds. £21. circ. 1530

This valuable MS. delineates Maritime Europe, with the seas, islands, and coasts, thus including the shores of Africa and Asia; and also exhibits the "Ocean Occidental" with the Azores, the Madeiras, and the Canary islands. It is this last feature which gives it a place in the present section of the catalogue. The date of the MS. is fixed by the Red-Cross which appears on both the islands of Rhodes and Malta, by which it must be concluded that the Knights had but lately removed to the latter island. The double-headed eagle which surmounts the crown over the Spanish arms also shews that Charles V. was still on the Imperial throne.

1769-72, impl. 4to. LARGE PAPER, maps and plates, half russia, uncut, 18*s* 1795

Hearne was a bold explorer: he was the first who reached the great Arctic Ocean by American travel. This success was accomplished by following the course of the Coppermine River which he discovered in 1771.

9817 JAMES (THOMAS) STRANGE AND DANGEROUS VOYAGE in his intended Discovery of the NORTHWEST PASSAGE into the South Sea, sm. 4to. ORIGINAL EDITION, with the excessively rare map, containing in the corner the genuine PORTRAIT OF CAPTAIN JAMES, fine copy, red morocco extra, gilt edges, by Smith, £36. 1633

This book is in any state a rare one, but when with the map it is a desideratum rarely acquirable by the American collector. James was sent by the King to explore the North-west Passage, and underwent excessive hardship and difficulties in that attempt during the years 1631-32. He fell in with Fox (author of the "North West Fox") during his voyage.

Most copies of the map have the portrait of Captain James in facsimile. In the above it is the genuine original. Critics frequently censure the gallant explorer for the littleness of geographical information contained in his book, but the map is assuredly free from any such blame-worthiness, for it contains a singularly correct delineation of the high latitudes in which Hudson, Baffin, James, and Fox pursued their search for the North West passage.

The figures Nos. 10-17 represent the career of Akigssiak, a mighty hero sprung both from the Inlanders ("probably Indians who drove the Greenlanders from their earlier homes in America") and the Coastlanders (i.e. Eskimoes or Greenlanders), who at last found his match in a Coastman, and then disappeared. 9821 [LA PEYRÈRE (Isaac)] Relation du Groenland, sm. 8vo. ORIGINAL EDITION, with the rare map and folding plate, vellum, £3. Paris, A. Courbé, 1647

La Peyrère's most noted production is the book on Preadamite men, in which he maintained that the Creation and Deluge of the Jews concerned themselves alone; and that other races had existed long before them.

9828 TORFÆI (T.) Gronlandia Antiqua, seu veteris Gronlandiæ descriptio, 12mo. with a set of maps engraved after MSS. and beginning with the year 1570, green morocco, fine clean copy, RARE, £2. 5*s* Hauniæ, 1715

This is the first work from which the world learned the claims of the Norsemen to have discovered America. All the old narratives had till then laid hidden in the MSS. on which Torffæus' history is based. The second map is a very interesting one as it shews, apparently undivided from Greenland, the shores of North America, as far down as the old Vinland, which has been almost identified by Rafn with New England. This map was drawn by Sigurdus Stephanius, rector of Skallholt school in Iceland, in 1570, after the description of the mediæval MS.

9829 VEER. Nicolaius*, 1598

Published simultaneously with a Dutch and French edition. The name of Greenland on the title suffices to entitle Veer's work to a place in this list, although he was seeking for the North-East, not the North-West, passage. He and his companions were blocked up for ten months in the ice, and underwent experiences and hardships unknown before their time, and such as have seldom occurred since. It is singular that the investigation of Veer and his fellow Dutchmen should have given us a knowledge of Nova Zembla which has not been improved since. The land which he took for the North-East Coast of Greenland was probably Spitzbergen.

9831 ——— the same, sm. 4to. a fine clean copy in vellum, 36*s* 1599

The versions published by De Bry and Hulsius are not faithful representations of the text, which is only accurately given in the original Amsterdam editions. The engravings in those collections are also much varied and reduced from the original designs; and even in the Italian version by Giunio, there are departures from accuracy in this respect, two of the engravings being duplicates.

9832 TROIS NAVIGATIONS admirables faictes par les Hollandois & Zelandois au Septentrion, par Gerard de Vera, 12mo. plates and maps, limp vellum, RARE, £7. 7*s* Paris, 1599

Tiele states that this is a contrefacon of the Amsterdam edition in French, 1598, which was exactly reproduced in those of 1600 and 1609. This is certainly an error, so far as the text is concerned. It might be thought to be a translation from the Italian, because of the transformation of Veer into Vera, but even this does not seem to be the case. The edition is very rare, and not included in Muller's catalogue.

Relation originale du Voyage de Jacques Cartier au Canada en 1534 (publiée d' après le MS.); Voyage de Jacques Cartier au Canada en 1534, nouvelle édition d'après l'édition de 1598; ouvrages publiés par Michelant, avec deux séries de Documents inédits sur Cartier et le Canada, par Ramé, 1867-65—Bref Recit et succinte Narration de la Navigation faite en MDXXXV et MDXXXVI par le Captaine Jacques Cartier, aux iles de Canada, Hochelaga, Saguenay et autres, réimpression figurée de l'édition originale rarissime de 1545, précédée d'une introduction historique par D'Avezac —together 3 vols. sm. 8vo. fine paper, 2 folding maps in facsimile, and woodcuts, bd. uncut, Maximilian's copy, £2. 16*s* Paris, 1863-65-67

The French edition of Cartier's first voyage, published in 1598, seems to have been little more than a retranslation from Ramusio's Italian version of the voyager's narrative; although there are some traces of original matter in it which might justify a different conclusion. The MS. printed for the first time in 1867 appears to be Cartier's genuine narrative, although probably not in exact correspondence with the copy from which Ramusio translated

This extremely valuable edition of all Champlain's works includes the text of his first American voyage, 1599-1602, which was never published before, except as an English translation by the Hakluyt Society. The MS. of that Voyage, which contains drawings that are reproduced in the plates above referred to, was not even known to exist twenty years ago. The first voyage is followed by new editions of the volumes published in 1603, 1613, 1619, and 1632.

"Ce voyage est curieux et les exemplaires en sont fort rares."—Brunet's observation that this voyage is a curious one, is almost on a par with the valuable criticisms we find in Lowndes, such as—"This work (Beverley's Virginia) contains many pertinent remarks"—which one might be inclined to class as a very *im*pertinent remark. The fact concerning Sagard is, that no works except those of Cartier can be compared with his, in intrinsic value, for the history of Canada.

This strange production, purporting to be a translation from an original which was composed at the beginning of the fourteenth century, has been described as "certainly a political satire in behalf of the Americans against England," but seems rather a clumsy device to secure the alliance of the Canadian Red Men with the revolted colonies. The Iroquois chief recounts in prophetic language the future fate of his country, the coming of the foreigners, the struggle of the American and the European English, the triumph of the former, helped by the Indians, and the final settlement of the two American races, the native and the imported, in fraternal peace and happiness side by side.

This translation is so very scarce that it remained unknown to Brunet, who quotes the Spanish original printed in 1630, and a Latin translation in 1634. "This edition is a reproduction, in exact fac-simile of the rarest and most precious book relating to Virginia, and of which there are not more than half a dozen perfect copies in existence. These are in the British Museum and Bodleian Libraries, and in the Private Collections of Mr. Lennox, Mr. Brown, Mr. Christie-Miller, and Mr. George E. Mann. There is a very imperfect one in the library of Harvard College, and one wanting two leaves, in the collection of the late Sir Thomas Phillipps. No complete copy in England is known to have been sold for less than £100 for the past hundred years, and, we understand, one has recently changed hands at double that sum, and probably will again if the opportunity occurs. The only copy sold in this country brought 975 dollars.

"This 'reproduction' has been executed by the newly-discovered process of Photo-Lithography. The imitation of the old style type is perfect, and the twenty-three quaint and curious Engravings by John White, the English painter who, at the command of Queen Elizabeth, accompanied Sir Walter Raleigh in his famous expedition, are reproduced with marvellous accuracy."—*(Amer. THIS EXCESSIVELY RARE WORK is of the highest interest to American collectors. It begins with a general description of America, and in the account of Virginia divides it into three regions: New Sweden, New England, and New Netherland. Rich, in noticing the rarity of the book, and the mistake by which some American catalogues had given the author's name as Holm, regretted that it had never been translated. The work includes 32 pp. of Vocabularies. Companius does not omit to mention the details of the presumed old Norse discovery of America. He was son of John Campanius, who translated Luther's Catechism into Virginian.

9920 DOMINGUES Y MENDOZA. Servicios Personales del Maestre de Campo, Don Juan Domingues y Mendoza, fechos en las Provincias de la Nueva Mexico, sm. folio, MS. bd. £14. Mexico, Santa Fe, 1674-96

These are the original documents sealed and signed by various viceregal and other officials of the Spanish crown, recording at different times the special and distinguished service rendered to the monarchy in Mexico and New Mexico by Dominguez y Mendoza and his two sons. They all seem to have been natives of Spanish America; and after a visit to the Spanish court, during which the old man died about 1690, his son Bernardo returned to New Spain furnished with the King's special recommendation to the Viceroy, which is included in the documents mentioned above. Consequently the volume will be found valuable for the history of the northern states of Mexico and Texas.

9924 Drawing, representing an Iroquois Indian, standing on the bank of a river, along which a canoe with a French officer is being rowed; and bearing in his hand the Pipe of Peace, a gun and a horn slung at his back, 12*s* cir. 1697

This is perhaps the original drawing from which was engraved the frontispiece to the first edition of Hennepin's Travels at Utrecht. It varies in certain particulars—the engraving shews the Indian unarmed, and two officers in the boat; the drawing exhibits him with firelock, hatchet, and horn. An inscription in German is at foot: "Jeroquos auss Nord America mit dem Calomet oder Fridens Zeichen, welches ein Taback Pfeiffen ist."

9925 Eliot. Genealogical Account of a few of the families of the Early Settlers in Eliot (a township in Maine), and of a branch of the Moody family, from 1638 to 1850, 12mo. sd. 20*s* Saco, 1851

Dr. Fogg is the author of this pamphlet of 22 pp. which is probably very rare. The families are three: the Foggs, the Hills, and the Moodies. The work begins thus: "The name of Fogg appears to be of great antiquity in England and Wales."

RARE: only 100 copies were printed. The volume which appears to be No. 4 in the above set, has no special title so to indicate it, although it is lettered and bound like the rest as they were issued. It contains the following pieces:—Discovery and Explorations of the Mississippi Valley; with the Original Narratives of Marquette, Allouez, Membré, Hennepin and Anastase Douay, edited by J. Gilmary Shea, with letter, and facsimile of the newly discovered Map of Marquette.

9935 FRENEAU (Philip) Poems written between the years 1768 and 1794, new edition revised by the author, with many pieces never before published, 8vo. calf, £3. 3*s* Monmouth (New Jersey), 1795

There is some humour and vigour in the verses of this patriotic rhymer; but he is no Tyrtæus. Although, by his own confession, very partial to Apollo and the Muses, his fondness was not returned by those capricious beings, who probably found Yankeeland still too far out in the cold for a visit.

9948 HENNEPIN, Nouveau Voyage d'un Païs plus grand que l'Europe, 12mo. map and 4 plates, vellum, 36*s* Utrecht, 1698

This volume forms a continuation of the preceding one. The Nouvelle Découverte contains Hennepin's Travels and his Exploration of the Course of the Mississippi; the Nouveau Voyage is his account of La Salle's unfortunate Journey, and a description in extenso of the customs, manners, character, and superstitions of the Red Men. Hennepin was persecuted, and has been severely criticised, chiefly on account of his opposition to the Jesuits, and because he counselled William III. (in whose dominions he had sought for the freedom and safety which he could not find in France) to send out missionaries to the New World. His enemies considered such advice from a monk as heretical and detestable; it simply proves the wiser, purer and more Catholic Christianity of Hennepin, who had no bigoted horror for other sects than his own.

9949 HENNEPIN, Nieuwe Ontdekkinge van een groot Land gelegen in America tusschen Nieuw Mexico en de Ys-Zee, benevens een Aanhangsel, behelzende een Reize door de Spaansche West-Indien, door L. de C. sm. 4to. 3 maps and 3 plates, hf. bd. 18*s* Amst. 1702

This is a translation of the Nouvelle Découverte of Hennepin, and has the two maps and two plates which are found in the original; but also contains an Appendix of Capiné's Voyage through the Spanish West Indies, and an account of the French expedition to Cartagena.

This splendid work, the grandest perhaps yet produced in the United States, is here offered for about the original cost of colouring. The likenesses are highly characteristic, and the colourist's work is executed in the most superb and accurate style. The approaching extinction of the noble race whose more prominent members are depicted in these volumes, gives increased value and significance to the original merits of the work.

VERY RARE. Lowndes quotes this book as having only occurred for sale at Puttick's in 1859. The New England edition is not mentioned by him, nor elsewhere, so far as I have been able to ascertain. Perhaps no copy of it exists. The preface mentions the labours of Eliot, "this now aged servant of the Lord," and his famous Natic Bible.

It is difficult to look through the writings of the Mathers without recognizing in them the unaltered type of those canting, blood-thirsty, fanatical, and repulsive "servants of the Lord," for whom the Cavaliers of England so unwisely expressed their scornful detestation. Not a spark of generosity mingled in the selfish fervour with which each man sought his own "salvation" as the highest and holiest of all earthly aims.

9980 MATHER (Increase) Dissertation concerning the future Conversion of the Jewish Nation, sm. 4to. half calf, RARE, £2. 2*s* 1709

This valuable work ought to be placed in the new Guildhall library, as there is a great deal about Gog and Magog in it. These personages will do something dreadful about the time when the Jews are to be converted and to join the uncircumcised, but "it will doubtless be a great hardiness in Gog and Magog to engage in so desperate an attempt."—(p. 33.)

On page 21 there is to be seen an engraving, which is THE FIRST EXISTING VIEW OF NEW AMSTERDAM (New York). The map of New England, New Netherland, and Virginia, is similar to that given by Laet, but with the addition of details. The book is excessively rare; it wants the last eight leaves describing the Bermudas, but all the remainder, which is really the interesting portion, is complete.

9996 NEW YORK. DOCUMENTS relative to the COLONIAL HISTORY of the State of New York, 1663-1778, procured in Holland, England and France, by J. R. Brodhead, Agent, edited by E. B. O'CALLAGHAN, 10 vols. roy. 4to. numerous maps, including facsimiles of early Charts, etc. cloth, £3. 10*s* Albany, 1856-58

"The Public Records of the State of New York are, chiefly, in the office of the Secretary of State at Albany. They are as various in their character, as they are voluminous in their extent. Most of them relate to and illustrate the History of the State; and without them no accurate or detailed knowledge of that history can be gained." These volumes contain translations of all the Early Dutch Records, besides a mass of Documents bringing the History of the State down to its political existence as a member of an independent federation.

The earlier records have special interest. They include the treaties and communications with the Indians, and contain facsimiles of their signatures. London, Humfrey Lownes, 1616

This map was used again in the author's History of Virginia, published in 1624, which is the great gun of most New England libraries. But in order to have the first map of Virginia and the first map of New England, one must not seek them in that famous folio. They are to be found in Smith's less noted books: his Description of Virginia, printed in 1612, and his Description of New England, printed in 1616. The maps were simply reproduced in the large work of 1624. The name New England appears for the first time in the above work; Smith used it by the authority of Prince Charles who had so baptized the territory delineated in the Adventurer's map presented to him before being engraved.

The keen wit, wide practical knowledge, and the administrative vigour and ability which distinguished Smith, are amply illustrated in the pages of his description of New England. There are few who would not read the account of his patience and indomitable mastery over difficulties with interest and sympathy. Indeed he has matter for all readers:—how would not Isaac Walton have rejoiced in the following sentence: "What sport doth yeeld a more pleasing content, and lesse hurt or charge then angling with a hooke, and crossing the sweete ayre from ile to ile, over the silent streams of a calme sea?" (p. 39)!

A series of interesting pamphlets relating to Texas and the United States. It is singular that the Mexicans lost Texas, considering the wonderful victories of their invincible armies as recorded in the above documents.

RARE. Collation: title, portrait, preliminaries, and table, 24 leaves; text, folios 1-287; and leaf of Colophon. This poem, written in blank verse, has an historical value, as the plain unvarnished (and scarcely poetical) account of an eye-witness, concerning the expedition in which New Mexico was first discovered and colonized, and the town of Santa Fe founded (now the oldest but one in the United States).

"Title; To the Reader, 1 leaf; text, 80 pp. ending with a verse entitled 'The Clench' (some copies have this verse before the Errata, and the heading "Sutor ultra crepidam', at p. 1). This rare and curious work, which abounds in quaint imagery and doggrel rhyme, was published under the assumed name of Theodore de la Guard. An account of the Author (Rev. Nathaniel Ward) will be found in Mather's Magnalia."

This is another of the gentle Puritan souls. On the last leaf he cries out, "Cursed be he that maketh not his sword starke drunk with Irish blood . . . and let him be accursed that curseth not them bitterly!". This is Christian mercy with a vengeance. Poor Charles I. is not spared in the Rhymes:

He cannot rule a Land as Lands should ruled been,
That lets himself be ruled by a ruling Romish Queen.
No earthly man can be true subject to this state,
Who makes the Pope his Christ, an Heretique his mate.

10066 WHITMORE, Handbook of American Genealogy, being a Catalogue of Family Histories and Publications containing genealogical information chronologically arranged, sm. 4to. hf. calf, uncut, £2. 10*s* Albany, 1862

Genealogy in the United States has become a regular Science, thanks to the honest and painstaking labours of Mr. Drake, Mr. Whitmore, and others. But not very long ago it was rather to be considered as an Art, a Fine Art extremely in fashion.

10067 WILLIAMS (Edward) Virginia: more especially the South part thereof, richly and truly valued: viz. the fertile Carolana and no lesse excellent isle of Roanoak, second edition, with addition of the discovery of Silkworms, with their benefit, and implanting of mulberry-trees; also the dressing of Vines, for the rich trade of making Wines in Virginia, sm. 4to. folding map of Virginia, shewing also a rude delineation of New Albion and the North-west shore of America, designed for the purpose of demonstrating an easy northern passage between the Atlantic and the Pacific, old calf, from the Bathurst library, £36. 1650

This work (compiled by JOHN FARRER, and prepared for publication by Edward Williams) is so extremely rare that it is not easy to find even a description of it clear enough to verify the difference between the two maps which are attributed to it by Lowndes, in a notice which is otherwise imperfect and incorrect. [Since writing as above, I have been enabled, through the kindness of Mr. Henry Huth, to assure myself by an inspection of his copies (one of each edition), that the first edition was published without a map; and that there were two maps issued with the second, both worked from the same copper, but one of them bearing a few corrections and additions in the names of places, as well as a portrait of Drake at the top.] From the text it seems that the Mississippi was known as a great river dividing Virginia from New Albion, but it was imagined that it disembogued in the South Sea.

10068 WILLIAMS' (Edward) VIRGO TRIUMPHANS, or Virginia richly and truly valued, etc. sm. 4to. first edition, original drawing of a map of Virginia inserted, a vast quantity of MS. notes on the margin in a contemporary hand, all probably added by the real author of the book, sd. £42. 1650

This is the original edition of the preceding work, and of course does not contain the treatise on Silkworms, which was only printed in the second edition. It was issued without any maps, as appears from the grumbling MS. note on page 1. The writer of the notes has supplied the deficiency by inserting his own Drawing of Virginia and Inner America, even to the Coast of New Albion, which differs in many respects from the engraved map in the second edition, but which may have been nevertheless its archetype. The MS. notes are very important: they seem to have been written by a Planter, or some one interested in a similar way in the welfare of the colony. Indeed, from the occasional references to the fact that Williams had made improper alterations here and there in his "copy," to the benefit of the Carolina colonists as against the Virginians, we might conclude that the notes were written by Mr. John Farrer, whom Williams mentions in his preface as "a person of quality and fortune," who was the real author of the book. The notes are all written with the object of substituting Silk, Corn, Wine, and other culture for that of Tobacco; and it is to be presumed that the second edition was prepared with the additional treatise on the "Discovery of Silkworms," so as to conform to Mr. Farrer's (or the anonymous note-writer's) views, and in order to publish a map, the want of which he complained of.

10069 WOOD (William) New England's Prospect, a true, lively and experimentall description of that part of America commonly called New England, discovering the state of that country, both as it stands to our new-come English Planters, and to the old native Inhabitants, smallest 4to. with the woodcut map, "the South Part of New England, as it is planted this yeare, 1639," depicting New England from Narraganset Bay in the South to about 43.10 of North Latitude, some letters on the margins cut off, red morocco, gilt edges, by BEDFORD, £12. 12*s*

VERY RARE. The Second Part is "Of the Indians, their persons, cloathing, diet, natures, Customes, Lawes, Marriages, Worships, Conjurations, wars, games, huntings, fishings, sports, Language, death, and burials." It contains several short Vocabularies. The writer speaks of having resided in New England for four years which seem to correspond to 1631-34. He mentions "one of the English Preachers" who "hath spent much time in attaining to their language," and for whom the Indians entertained particular love and respect. John Eliot went out in 1631, so it is likely that the statement refers to him.

Hispalia, ex typographia hæredum Thomæ Lopez de Haro, 1698

Very rare, unmentioned by Brunet, Rich, Stevens ("Nuggets"), Salva, Ternaux and other bibliographers; but alluded to by Eguiara in his article on the Mexican Academy as an important work. (Bibl. Mex. p. 3.) See post Constituciones.

10071 Alcaraz (J. M.) Mira Mundi Primordia; Divina Filiorum Adoptio, 2 parts in 1 vol. sm. 4to. neat MS. hf. bd. 10*s* (Mexici) 1736

Extraordinary questions and disputations in the style of the Questiones quodlibeticæ, the heading of one of which will suffice for an example: "Utrum de potentiâ absolutâ gratia et peccatum possint esse simul?" He is very particular with regard to the Creation, and amongst his questions is the following: "Why is it not said, on the second day, as on the others, 'and God saw that it was good'?" The first part is dedicated to St. Chrysostom, "sub cujus benevolo auspicio de vulvâ matris meæ sum semivivus egressus."

The author was a native of Ozumba, near the city of Mexico. The present article is a reprint of the original work, which appeared in periodical parts towards the end of the last century (i.e. from 1788), and is highly esteemed for the learned and curious scientific and critical disquisitions which it contains.

A valuable work, the great rarity of which is sufficiently demonstrated by its absence from the rich catalogues of Rich, Silva, Brunet, and that clever bibliopole who chooses to call his place of business a "Nuggetory."

[Mexico,] no Printer's name, date, or place (cir. 1690)

EXTREMELY RARE, as in consequence of the bitter feelings excited in the breasts of the Archbishop and Viceroy, because of what the former terms its falsehoods and scandal, it was destroyed by the authorities. The work contains, however, a vast amount of information respecting the early Missions in America in general, and in Spanish America in particular.

The first plate is the famous Aztec Calendar of sculptured stone found in Mexico about a century ago. This stands alone, but the others may be grouped in the following manner: MITLA, the four Palaces represented on twelve leaves, with a general View, a Pyramid, and the "Priest's House" (2 leaves); UXMAL, the Nuns' Palace on 9 leaves, the Governor's Palace on 4, with a general View, and the "Dwarf's House;" CHICHEN-ITZA, the Nun's Palace on 5 leaves, with the Prison, the "Palais du Cirque" (2 leaves), and an ancient Temple; PALENQUE, 3 plates; IZAMAL, three plates; and the gigantic tree of S. Maria del Tule. In looking at these wonderful structures of Central America, one cannot help repeating the question—Who were these mighty builders, were they related to the modern Mexicans, how has a race so richly endowed perished from the face of the earth?

These sage Ordinances (which properly observed might have saved the crown of Montezuma to the Spanish monarch) form a necessary Supplement to the celebrated Code called the Indian Recopilacion. They were largely inspired by the Captain General Count of Galvez, to whose son the Auditor Beleña dedicates the work. It is amusing to note the grave reverence which which the official congratulates the infant (so charming in his martial uniform, at the age of five years !) on the promise he already exhibits of equalling his father (now dead) in Arms and in Statesmanship.

Boturini Benaduci; 2 vols. in 1, sm. 4to. portrait, calf, RARE, £2. 2*s*
Madrid, Zuñiga, 1746

Written during an eight years' residence in Mexico, and as the result of a considerable acquaintance with the manners and customs of the Indians; ancient manuscripts and pictures preserved in the Monasteries, etc. "It contains much important information not before published. The Catalogue occupies 96 pp. separately numbered, at the end of the book, and is not found in all copies. There has been no worthier workman in the field of Mexican Antiquities, than Boturini: even Lord Kingsborough's name can scarcely be placed so high. Without the indefatigable and wisely-directed researches of the Hispano-Italian, a great portion of the native contributions to Mexican history would certainly have perished. Yet, instead of loading him with rewards, the Spanish Government robbed him of his MSS. under pretence that his intimacy with the Indians covered disloyalty. His professed intention was to gather the prewes of the Guadalupe Virgin's miraculous history, but it is to be hoped that this was pious hypocrisy in so deserving a student.

10095 BUSTAMANTE (Carlos M.) Mañanas de la Alameda de Mexico, para facilitar el estudio de la historia de su pais, 2 vols. sm. 4to. hf. bd. 36*s* Mexico, 1835-37

Bustamante has done more work, and more valuable work than any other Mexican writer; but his hatred for the Spaniards, as fresh and warm as though he had seen his sacred sovereign fall into the power of Cortès, and as though he owed nothing to the Romance language and civilization, often leads him into inaccuracies, and weakens his trustworthiness. The above is a rather fantastic work, but has value; the second volume has a useful introduction concerning the labours of former writers.

Not even the monstrous legend which forms the groundwork of this book could shut out many valuable historical facts, which are woven into the narration, almost as it were in spite of the priest-author and the Virgin of Guadalupe. The volume really contains much historical information not elsewhere to be found, relative to the conversion and education of the various tribes of Indians, History, Politics, Religion, Law, Medicine, etc.

A very curious narrative, but unjust in its title; as the atrocities are there simply attributed to "the Spaniards," while the real culprits were pirates, mostly Spanish, commanded by a couple of English buccaneers.

10112 DIARIO DE MEXICO, desde su principio en el año de 1805 hasta el de 1810, No. 1 a 10916, ó sea Tom. I-XIII, 13 vols. sm. 4to. calf, £7. Con licencia de Superior Govierno, 1805-10

Excessively rare, even in Mexico, as in the troubles and revolutions that supervened, many of the copies were destroyed, either wholly or in part.

10114 ESPINOSA (ISIDRO FELIS DE) CHRONICA APOSTOLICA y Seraphica de todos los Colegios de Propaganda Fide de esta Nueva-España, de Missioneros Franciscanos Observantes, Parte Primera, 1746—CRÓNICA SERAFICA y Apostolica del Colegio de Propaganda Fide de la Santa Cruz de QUERÉTARO en la Nueva España, Segunda Parte, escrita par Juan Domingo ARRICIVITA, 1792—together 2 vols. folio, half calf, good sound copy, £16. 16*s* Mexico, 1746-92

This curious and interesting work, relating to the Early Missions in South America, is one of extremely rare occurrence. It is not mentioned in any of the bibliographies I have referred to, except by Rich in his Supplement, where indeed he only cites the first of the two volumes. Its extraordinary rarity, when complete, is accounted for by the long space of time which elapsed between the publication of the first and of the second volume.

10115 ESTATUTOS DE MISIONEROS, Breve Apostolico de Pio VI, para la ereccion y gobierno de las custodias de Misioneros Franciscos Observantes de Propaganda Fide en las provincias internas de Nueva-España, sm. 4to. hf. morocco, with Maximilian's plate, 25*s* Madrid, I. Ibarra, 1781

10116 EVANGELIARIUM, EPISTOLARIUM ET LECTIONARIUM AZTECUM, sive Mexicanum, ex antiquo Codice Mexicano nuper reperto depromptum, cum præfatione, interpretatione, adnotationibus, Glossario, edidit BERNARDINUS BIONDELLI, folio, pp. xlix and 576, with facsimile, only 400 copies printed, on stout writing paper, uncut, £3. 10*s* Mediolani, 1856-60

The very interesting Codex, of which the above is a careful reprint, was discovered in Mexico by Beltrami in the year 1826, and came into the hands of the present editor by purchase from the heirs. It is composed in the purest and most elegant Nahuatl that was ever written, by Bernardino Sahagun, a Spanish Monk of the Franciscan order, with the assistance of two scions of royalty in Anahuac, one the son of Montezuma, the other the son of the Prince of Tezcuco—and purports to be a "postilla" on the Gospels and Epistles. Sahagun arrived at Mexico in the year 1529, and lived and laboured with great success in that country for fully sixty years. Of his many works in and on the Nahuatl language, the above is the only one which has been saved from perdition. Mr. Biondelli has accompanied Sahagun's text by a Latin version, has added a copious Vocabulary, Nahuatl and Latin, and by his introductory observations, has thrown considerable light not alone upon the Nahuatl language, its affinity to other families of language, its grammatical peculiarities, but also upon the traditions, institutions, and monuments of the Aztecs—thus forming a complete treasury of everything appertaining to the ancient Mexicans. Altogether this is a volume which cannot be dispensed with by the student in linguistics.

10117 FABIAN Y FUERO. Coleccion de Providencias Diocesanas del Obispado de la Puebla de los Angeles, ordenadas por D. Francisco Fabian y Fuero, Obispo de dicha Ciudad, etc. 2 vols. in 1, folio, hf. bound, £4. 10*s* (Puebla) Imprenta del Real Seminario Palafoxiano, 1770

A rare and important compilation of rules and orders for the conduct of civil and religious life, based upon the third provincial Council of Mexico, 1585. It possesses consequently much interest in the discussion of questions concerning the treatment of the Indians, the use of their language, etc. A reprint, which is also rare, was issued at Valencia in 1792, in 2 vols. folio.

10118 FABRY, Demostraciones de los Adelantamientos que pudiera lograr la Real Hacienda mediante la rabaja en el precio del Azogue; con una impugnacion de Villa-Señor. Modo de reducir el Oro y la Plata, etc. sm. 4to. bound, 14*s* Mexico, 1743

10119 FARFAN (Fray Augustin, Doctor y Religioso en la Nueva España) Tratado Breve de Medicina y de todas las Enfermedades, sm. 4to. fine copy in morocco, gilt edges, £10. 10*s* Mexico, 1610

RARE: unnoticed by any of the bibliographers. It is dedicated to Don Luis de Velasco, the Viceroy, and has a woodcut of St. Augustin on the title. The initials throughout the text are also woodcut. I have seen an imperfect copy of the first edition mentioned in a sale catalogue as of Mexico, 1579; Mr. Harrisse gives the date as 1592. The above copy shews that there is an error in both places, since the Approbation is dated 1596.

10120 FLORENCIA (Francisco de) Narracion de la marabilloso Aparicion que hizo el Archangel San Miguel a un Indio (en Tzopiloatl), sm. 4to. title, first, and last leaf mended, hf. morocco, 4*s*; or, a fine copy in limp vellum, 7*s* Sevilla, [1692]

This edition is dedicated to the Empress of Angels and Men.

10122 ——— la misma obra, sm. 4to. hf. morocco, 36*s* Madrid, 1785

This Madrid reprint is a finer book than the Mexican original. The Empress is dropped, and the dedication made to the Archbishop of Mexico.

10123 ——— Zodiaco Mariano . . . . Milagrosas Imagines de la misma Señora (Madre de Dios) que se veneran en esta America Septentrional y Reynos de la Nueva España, sm. 4to. hf. calf, 32*s* Mexico, 1755

The Jesuit Florencia was a native of Florida, and perhaps his own name as well as that of his native country formed the chief reason for his persistent and often recorded worship of the "florida imagen."—Yet his works contain historical matter notwithstanding their loathsome idolatry.

"A scarce and curious work relating to the early history of the Mexicans, unknown to Clavigero, and not mentioned by Meusel."—Rich.

It contains also much information regarding the Mythology and Language of the natives. It is styled by Salva, "Ouvrage aussi rare qu' important pour connaitre à fond l'histoire primitive de la Nouvelle Espagne."

Madrid, 1662

The author was a native of the province whose history he writes; being also a padre or priest, he jokes upon this circumstance in the title, by calling himself hijo y padre de la mesma provincia.

10128 GUERRA (Jose, Dr. de la Universidad de Mexico) Historia de la Revolucion de Nueva España, antiguamente Anahuac, 2 vols. 8vo. hf. calf, £2. 10*s* Lond. 1813

This work was privately printed in London, and was intended to be circulated in Mexico, but the vessel in which nearly the whole of the impression was sent out, was never heard of afterwards, for which reason the work is extremely scarce. The author, whose real name was José Servando Santa Teresa Mier Noriega y Guerra, was several times imprisoned by the Inquisition.

10129 GUTIERREZ DAVILA (Julian) Memorias Historicas de la Congregacion de el Oratorio de la Ciudad de Mexico, sm. folio, plates, hf. morocco, £2. 16*s* Mexico, 1736

First edition not mentioned in Brunet. A copy fetched at Puttick's, 1859, limp vellum, £8. 15*s*.

10132 INFORME GENERAL que de real orden instruyò y entregò el Marques de Sonora, siendo Visitador general de este Reyno, al Virrey D. Antonio Bucarely y Ursua, 31 Diciembre de 1771; lo publica el Secretario del Emperador Maximiliano, D. Eduardo Pierron, sm. folio, numerous lithographed tables, sd. £2. 10*s* Mexico, 1866

Only twenty copies were printed—all for private circulation—of this very valuable work, which had remained in MS. until the liberality of the unfortunate Maximilian allowed it to see the light in this limited form. It was prepared for the secret instruction of the Viceroy and his successors in the due administration of the government, to enable them to secure just imposition of taxes, the verification of revenue-receipts, and to control the entire financial system of the Mexican dominion. The Marquis de Sonora, better known as Don José de Galvez, is said by Aleman to have as it were created the "Board of Trade" ministry in Mexico, and the historian goes even so far as to attribute all the material and commercial prosperity of the country to that statesman.

10133 JESUITS. Catalogus Personarum et Domiciliorum in quibus sub A. R. P. Societatis Jesu Præposito generali P. Zespedes, J. A. Balthazar Præposito provinciali, Societas Jesu Mexicana pro gloria Dei laborat, obl. sm. 4to. vellum, £3. 10*s* Mexici, ex divi Ildephonsi collegii typogr. 1751

VERY RARE. It is a list of all the Jesuits in Mexico, including above 600 names, with the places and dates of their birth and the times of their entry into the society. The book was only printed for the heads of the order, and is therefore rare.

Madrid, 1725; Barcelona, 1693; Madrid, 1700

The first volume above, dated Madrid, 1725, contains considerable additions beyond any preceding edition; the second is the last revision of the poetess; and the third is entitled thus: Fama y Obras posthumas del Fenix de Mexico. This last volume contains pieces by Spanish-American writers in her praise. The first volume contains pieces in Mexican, in Negro-Spanish, in Basque, and in Latin, mixed up with the Spanish poems. The works of this accomplished lady are so rare, and so generally unknown, that they are not mentioned in Rich, Ternaux, Brunet, or the Nuggets. "Bouterwek places her on a level with Lope de Vega for facility of invention and versification, and considers some of the dramatic pieces of the Mexican nun (especially that entitled 'El Divino Narcisso') as surpassing in merit all the similar writings of the Spanish poet."

Cet ouvrage de la plus grande magnificence, a été exécuté aux frais de Lord Kingsborough, qui en a fait homage à plusieurs bibliothequès publiques du continent, particulièrement à la Bibliothèque royale, à Paris, et à celle de l'Institut de France. Le prix de chaque exemplaire était de 175 livres (2000 fr. Klaproth). Les quatre premiers volumes renferment les planches lithographiées, au nombre de plus de 1000; les trois autres contiennent l'explication des planches et plusieurs mémoires inédits, écrits en différentes langues, ainsi que des appendices en anglais. Le septième volume, est entierement rempli par un ouvrage important qui a pour titre:—Hist. de las cosas de Nueva Espana, por el M. L. R. P. Fr. Bernardino de Sahagun."—Brunet.

After an interval of seventeen years two more volumes of this extraordinary work were published, in every respect uniform with the preceding, consisting, 1. of Supplementary Notes in English and Spanish; 2. of extracts from the works of Torquemada, Acosta and Garcia, illustrating the last portions of the Mexican paintings, contained in the collection of Mendoza, and shewing the correspondence which exists between many of the Mexican and Hebrew laws; 3. Adair's History of the North American Indians, their customs and descent from the Jews; 4. Cartas ineditas de Hernando Cortez; 5. Cronica Mexicana de Tezozomoe; 6 Historia Chichimeca y Relaciones por Fernando de Alva Ixtlilxochitl.

"When, some four centuries ago, the enterprise of Spanish navigators opened the vast continent of America to the admiration of Europe, the civilization of the New World was found to be concentrated in two spots, and two only, of that enormous territory. One of those favoured regions was Peru; the other was Mexico. IT WAS IN MEXICO ESPECIALLY THAT ART, POLITICS AND SCIENCE HAD RECEIVED THEIR GREATEST DEVELOPMENT. All the rest of North America, from the shores of Hudson's Bay to the mouths of the Mississippi, was desolate and barbarous, diversified only by swamp, forest, or prairie, and populated by savages without knowledge or laws. Mexico alone redeemed the character of the new continent, and presented to the eyes of the invader a spectacle so marvellous as to satisfy even the expectations which the great discovery had raised. There the Spaniards found an organized State, an ancient polity, an opulent capital, an exalted dynasty, a formidable priesthood, and a people well skilled in mechanical and decorative arts. So great, in fact, was the proficiency of the Mexican workmen, so elaborate the system of government, and so impressive the whole evidence of wealth and grandeur, that for some time the civilization of Mexico was regarded as superior to that of Europe. Although indeed the researches of modern inquirers has enabled us to supply some corrective to these ideas, it is really probable that in certain respects the Spaniards found Mexico more advanced than Spain, and we have been recently assured on the authority of a comprehensive history that this civilization was the necessary incident of geographical and natural advantages. Such was the situation and configuration of Mexico that it could hardly fail to make progress, and all that was discovered there in the shape of national wealth or political order represented the extraordinary opportunities which nature had provided."—Times, Dec. 8, 1858.

This paper runs from January to November 1861, and consequently contains details of the American secession, and of the imbroglio which led to the establishment and downfal of Maximilian's empire. This precious copy has innumerable additions in MS. made by order of the Inquisitors of Mexico, in 1587, for the new edition they contemplated. This appears from the MS. note on the title: "Corregiose este Vocabulario por mãdado de los Ses. Ynquisidores de Mexo, ano de 1517. Fr. Ps. Dozoja (?)" These additions are so different from the original Nahuatl, or Mexican text, as to lead us to conclude them to be in another dialect or language, not yet identified by the Linguists hitherto consulted. An ordinary copy was priced by Thorpe in 1832, £28. which had cost Lord Kingsborough £52. 10*s*; another priced by Stargardt, in Berlin, 1858, 150 Thalers : fetched at Sotheby's, 1857, cut close and mended, £5. 15*s*; in 1816, at Puttick's, £16.; Mr. Heber, paid £31. 10*s* for a copy in the original parchment cover. This first and most complete of any of the dictionaries of the American languages, is cited by Thomas, in his History of Printing in America, as a great literary curiosity, being one of the earliest books printed in the New World. All these documents were written in Mexico. The first piece in the volume is an official copy dated 1597 of Charles V's grant of an Escutcheon to the city of Michoacan, with the coat of arms illuminated. There is also the royal decree concerning the rights and exemptions of the Indians, accounts of the natives of various provinces, viceregal adjudications, papers on the working of the mines, etc.

10175 PASSIONUM ET LAMENTATIONUM juxta Sanctæ Romanæ Ecclesiæ normam Liber fæliciter explicit; concinatus et in meliorem concentum redactus à Joanne Navarro Minorita Provinciæ Apost. Petri et Pauli Mechhuacanensis, etc. folio, a work of Church Music, printed in red and black, with the notation throughout, woodcuts, etc. no title, vellum, £12. 10*s* Mexici, D. L. Davalos, 1604

EXCESSIVELY RARE, and unmentioned by the bibliographers, although it is evidently, from the woodcuts, the bold Gothic type, and the imposing appearance of the Music, largely and boldly noted in black on red lines, the most pretentious and magnificent work that had at that early period issued from the Mexican press.

10176 PESADO, Poesias, 8vo. portrait, hf. bd. 7*s* 6*d* Mexico, 1849

A true poet, but rather of the unhealthy wailing kind.

This work, composed soon after the Spanish Conquest, by a native Prince, contains all the old mythology and sacred lore of the Guatemalan and Mexican people. The strange cosmogony and theogony of the Central American races will always excite interest and speculation. The Abbé treats curiously upon the origin and affinities of those peoples in a learned introduction.

This copy therefore contains twenty preliminary leaves (erroneously misplaced at the end), while the copy in the American Nuggets had but 16; and has also an Index of 4 leaves at the end, which were not in that copy.

The detailed accounts of the Indian tribes in the north of Mexico, given in this volume for the first time, invest it with a high and special value.

The execution of the Emperor Maximilian will have to be added to the glories of Queretaro.

Zelaa meant to reprint the excessively rare work of Siguenza (1680) with notes and a continuation, but found it more suitable entirely to re-write the subject. Siguenza was one of the greatest of all Spanish-American scholars, and collected the most important Museum of Mexican antiquities ever brought together. He was born in Mexico city in 1645.

This periodical is full of the most valuable information, and is much more extensive in its scope than the mere title would seem to show. Its articles treat on the Ethnography, Languages, History, Archæology, and Geography of the Mexican states, thus rendering it by far the most important of the periodical publications of the republic.

Appendice huic Miscelaneo, 2 vols. folio, 379 pp. closely written in a very neat and minute hand, hf. bd. £3. 5*s* Zacatecas, 1790-1811

Much of this volume consists of Poetry, in the Latin and Spanish Languages. Amongst the latter are acrostics, verses composed of lines disposed in curious patterns and other specimens of ingenious trifling for which the Spanish writers are so famous. But the chief value of the collection lies in the circumstance that nothing, or very little in it is by the writer, and that it consists of over 500 pieces, in prose and verse, some of considerable length, composed by various distinguished Mexican scholars of the time, which have never been printed. Terrero compiled his MS. in the royal College of St. Aloysius Gonzaga in Zacatecas.

10219 TORQUEMADA (Juan de) Veinte i un Libros Rituales, i MONARQUIA INDIANA, con el Origen y Guerras de los Indios Occidentales, sus poblaciones, descubrimiento, conquista, conversion y otras cosas maravillosas, 3 vols. folio, engraved titles, map, BEST EDITION, good copy, whole bound, £4. 4*s* Madrid, 1723

10220 ——— the same, 3 vols. folio, a fine copy in Spanish morocco extra, gilt edges, £7. 7*s* 1723

Clavigero and others have pointed out the defects and errors of this work, which nevertheless remains one of the most important collections of materials for the philosophical history of the New World. The loss of Torquemada would leave a gap which no other writer could fill up.

10221 VALOIS, Mexique Havane et Guatemala, 12mo. hf. bd. 3*s* 6*d* Paris, 1861

10222 VASQUEZ GASTELU (Antonio, el Rey de Figueroa) ARTE DE LENGUA MEXICANA, corregido segun su original por Olmedo y Torre, con Confessionario y Cathecismo, Mexicano y Español, sm. 4to. title and prologue, etc. 2 leaves; text 54 leaves, bound, RARE, £4. Puebla, 1726

This volume, which is so rare as to have escaped the notice of Brunet and other bibliographers, seems by its title to insinuate the existence of an earlier edition. But this perhaps is not the case. The author has a strange addition to his name: " el Rey de Figueroa," the origin of which deserves investigation.

10223 Vera Cruz. ESTADISTICA del Estado de Veracruz, (Orezava, Vera Cruz, Acayucam, Jalapa) 2 vols. in 1, 8vo. valuable and extensive tabular information, sd. 20*s* Jalapa, 1831

10225 VEYTIA LINAGE (J. F.) Declamacion Oratoria, y alegato juridico al Rey en su Consejo de Indias, en defensa de las injurias inferidas por Pedro Domingo de Contreras, folio, limp vellum, 35*s* 1729

An embezzlement from the royal treasure had taken place between Acapulco and Vera Cruz, in the year 1709, in its transmission homewards from the Philippine Islands through those towns. Accusation was made against Veytia, the author of the Norte de la Contratacion, and the above orator, his nephew and heir, who, twenty years later, makes a defence which is a curious compound of pedantry and passionate fervour.

10226 VETANCURT (AUGUSTIN DE) TEATRO MEXICANO, Descripcion Breve de los Svccessos Exemplares, Historicos, Politicos. Militares, y Religiosos del Nuevo Mundo Occidental de las Indias, 2 vols. in 1, folio, a few leaves stained, hf. morocco, VERY RARE, £10.

Mexico, Dona Maria de Benavides, Viuda de Iuan de Ribera, 1698

This copy is quite complete, having the fourth and fifth parts, entitled " Chronica de la Provincia del Santo Evangelio de Mexico" and " Menologia Franciscana." A copy sold in 1861 produced £13. The author was born in the city of Mexico in the year 1620. In early life he joined the Order of St. Francis. He spent his entire life among the Indians, whose love and good will he obtained by his untiring zeal for their welfare.

This work is very highly thought of. Washington Irving helped to turn it into English. It is the last authentic account of the Spanish domination in South America, before its fall.

He returned to Seville on the 16th June, 1532. The original edition of his work (Hagenau, 1557) is of extreme rarity. Hans Stade's adventures are better known.

This scarce and curious volume is of great importance for the History of Brazil. Brunet mentions an edition (Paris, 1844) in his Table, while the rare original, of which that was a mere reprint, is not noticed by him, Ternaux, or Salva, nor in the "Nuggets."

Entirely upon delicate obstetrical questions, in which he maintains that the life of the infant is to be considered rather than that of the mother, in all difficult cases. It was rather peculiar to dedicate such a work to a princess whom he desires to become the happy mother of Lusian kings. The portrait must have been Palomino's last work.

A very rare and curious newspaper, published during the war, and consisting mainly of satirical attacks upon the Brazilians and their allies which are written and illustrated with much ability notwithstanding the rudeness of the cuts. Specimens of the native tongue occur in every number. This journal shows clearly the strong national feeling of the Paraguayans and their unshaken attachment to Lopez, even when the war was two years old.

Very rare. Collation: Title, with large woodcut of imperial arms; second leaf, containing a more ample title, with the translator's name and arms on the back, dedication, 2 leaves; text, 58 leaves, bearing signature a to f in eight, and g, ten leaves. The statement clearly made on the second title concerning the translator and the original work disposes of the confusion of Brunet with regard to the authorship, and of Harrisse on the subject of the translator, concerning whose birthplace he quotes hesitatingly the conflicting statements of Ternaux and Alcedo. It proves the book to be a version of the Spanish one printed at Seville by Perez (in 1534) and that the translator was a native of Tudela in Navarre.

A very learned work, although fanciful and singular in some respects. The author was a Devonshire man, and towards the end of the volume introduces with eulogy the names of several West of England worthies, amongst whom William Browne of the Pastoralls receives especial praise. Carpenter does not spare his own rhyming throughout the book. He notices, on p. 277, the variation brought about by climate in both animal and vegetable growth, instancing the experience of "our Virginian colony in America."

Nüreinbergk, Georg Stüchs, 20 Septembris, 1508

VERY RARE. It is the first publication in German of the celebrated collection of Voyages known under the name of Vespucci, Cadamosto, and Fracanzano, and also by its title Paesi novamente retrovati. There is added at the end, beyond the matter of the Italian volume, a German translation of King Emmanuel's latest letter to the Pope (dated Alcochete, 12 June, 1508), which had only previously appeared in Latin, in separate form at Rome. Harrisse states that the Vicenza edition of 1507 of the Paesi contains a letter of the King to the Pope at the end, but there is no such thing in the Latin edition of Milan (Itinerarium Portugallensium), nor in the Italian reprint of 1519. If the Bibl. Amer. Vet. be correct, it must be an earlier and different letter of the Portuguese King. This serves to shew that Ruchamer's German publication of 1508 has some intrinsic and independent value beyond its mere rarity, and its worth as a translation of an important collection of Voyages.

This is a rare edition which only came to the knowledge of Mr. Harrisse in time to be inserted in his supplementary volume. The references to America are found in the article Insulæ Oceani, in which the New World is described as consisting of maxima insularum America cognominata, and of several other islands and shores. The author sneers at the inaccurate and indefinite accounts given of the new lands beyond the Atlantic by those who announce themselves as Explorers and Admirals (ab his qui se navigationum authores et classium præfectos fuisse asserunt). He concludes that it would be wiser to abstain from any pretentious description until kings should send out proper scientific expeditions and give fuller information to the world.

10471 ——— another copy, 3 vols. sm. folio, not quite perfect, the first volume reprinted in 1520, old calf, £20. Paris, 1520

The Lancelot is supposed as well as the Grail to have been composed in French by Robert de Borron after the Latin original of Walter Map.

The present is an extremely rare edition of this fine prose Romance, of which Brunet mentions a copy as annoncée in the Stanley sale, and selling for £34. 13*s*, adding, "Nous ne l'avons pas vue."

Lancelot was the noblest knight of the Round Table, and his story is the most interesting in the whole cycle of the Arthur romances. There is an irresistible charm in the simplicity of the old French chronicle, which although written in prose has all the pathos and fascination of a beautiful poem.

"For chronology there is a great French work, L'Art de Vérifier les Dates."
Prof. Smith on History.

"The necessity of supplying historians and antiquarians with requisite information was long since felt in France, and produced the publication of that splendid monument of learning, "L'Art de Vérifier les Dates," which has left little to be done by subsequent chronologists besides the humble duties of translation and abridgement."—Sir Harris Nicolas's Chronology of History.

"Dom Maur. d'Antine had the first idea of this celebrated work. He died before its completion: it was published by two of the brotherhood, Dom Clément, and Dom Durand, in 1750. It was a complete chaos. Don Clément undertook the task of reducing it to order, and published a new edition of it in 1770, which entirely eclipsed the original. After thirteen years' additional labour, Don Clément announced what he modestly called the third edition. The chronological table was carried on another century; as well as that of the eclipses, calculated by Père Pingré. Other important additions were made to the three folio volumes, the first of which appeared in 1783, the second in 1784, and the third in 1787. The tables were not published until 1792. When we cast our eyes on the title of this work, we are struck with astonishment; when we examine its contents, admiration is blended with surprise. A pure and ardent love of the public good alone could have supported the authors through such an enterprise. It is a work of general utility."

Even his 'magnum opus,' the Dictionary, was criticised before it appeared. Jurieu, Saurin, and Le Clerc were unable to ruffle the calmness of his temper, or embitter the sweetness of his retirement. It is a great consolation for those who object to reading Latin in antiquated type, to get a translation of the great philosopher's works in a clear French version, with such credentials of accuracy as are furnished by the name of Cousin.

A curious and interesting book. This is the chief text-book on the subject of Phallic Worship. Dulaure is not however, like O'Brien, one of those who see their pet theory illustrated everywhere, and who would have assisted in the destruction of the Vendome column, as forming a monument of Napoleonic Phallus-worship.

GERMAN LITERATURE.

An Early Codex.

11073 ENENKEL'S WELT-CHRONIK, stout sm. folio, old German MS. on paper, ancient boards covered with leather, £12. circ. 1450

This Chronicle, which is almost entirely in rhyme, with a little prose interspersed towards the end, was composed before and down to the year 1248, with which the narrative closes. The author belonged to a baronial family, and was "Dom-Herr" of St. Stephen's in Vienna. He died in A.D. 1250. On the second page there is a mention made of himself in the following words:

Der dit geticht gemachet hat
Der sitzcet zcu Wiene ind' stat
Med huz uñ ist Johānes genant
In der kroniken er ez vant
Johānes Eneckel so hiez er
Vō dē buche nam er di ler

Various extracts from this Chronicle have appeared in different volumes upon early German poetry, and a complete edition was promised by Faus in 1793, but this project was never carried out. Potthast in his valuable bibliography of the sources of mediæval history, mentions five MSS. of Enenkel's work as known to exist; but this is a small number, and suffices to stamp the copy above described as a great rarity. As an old German text, there is high value to be attached to this Chronicle, even though it be called a "hölzernes Reimwerk;" and it is not the less interesting for the very fault attributed to it by Potthast—that it is a marvellous web of tales and fables.

There is a fragment of thirty-four lines on the page succeeding the last page of the Chronicle. It is headed: "Hy hebet an Sente Margreten Buch," and begins with the lines "Eyn statt dy heyszet Antioch Und stet in Krichenlande noch."

Early Printed High German Books.

11074 SCHWABENSPIEGEL. On the first page Preface beginning: In dem namē des höchstē richters | Cristi unsers herren, etc. On second page: Hie hebt sich an das Register, etc. On obverse of folio 9: Erst | Dis buch saget summarie von kunglichē | uñ keyserlichē darzu landt uñ | lehen rechtē, sm. folio, very fine copy, but wanting folios XCIX and C, newly bound in wooden boards with gilt calf back, £3. 3*s*

Sine notâ (? Ulm, cir. 1475)

COLLATION: 8 preliminary leaves, unnumbered; 135 numbered leaves; and a final one unnumbered.

This edition of the ancient Swabian Law is extremely rare. It is only described de visu in Schilter's Teutonic Antiquities; Panzer quotes it from his description in such a manner as if he almost doubted the existence of the edition. It is perhaps equally probable that the book was printed at Augsburg as at Ulm.

11075 JEAN D'ARRAS. Melosine Geschicht. Mit den figuren, sm. folio, 39 leaves, double columns, with large initial letters, and 64 curious woodcuts, the last two leaves are in contemporary manuscript, red morocco extra, gilt edges, by Bedford, £12.

Heidelberg, H. Knoblochtzer, 1491

All the early Romances in German are very rare. This translation was made by Thüring von Ringgeltingen in 1456 and first published in 1474.

11076 BIBLIA. DAS NEW TESTAMENT DEUDSCH (containing the Gospels, translated by Dr. M. LUTHER), 12mo. PRINTED ON VELLUM, illuminated title and 4 woodcuts of the Evangelists, illuminated in gold and colours, slightly cut in headline, hf. bound, £15.

Augspurg durch H. Stayner, 1535

Excessively rare, only three copies being recorded in a note in German by a former owner as in existence, namely, that of Count Bünau, that of Schelhorn at Memmingen, and that of Panzer in Nuremberg, by whom the edition is described in his "Beschreibung der ältesten Augsburgischen Ausgaben der Bibel." It is also described by Dibdin, Bib. Spenceriana, Vol. I. p. 117. A copy sold at Sotheby's in 1855, for £23. 5*s*. On paper no copy is known.

11077 ANTI-PAPAL TRACTS, by Luther, Ulrich v. Hutten, and others, 10 pieces in one vol. sm. 4to. oak boards, backed with stamped vellum, £3. 1821-30

This edition of poetical Romances has become scarce.

Early Printed Low German Books.

11079 CRONECKEN DER SASSEN. at end: Dusse Kronecke van keyseren unde anderen fursten unde steden der sassen mit oren wapen hefft geprent Peter Schoffer van gernszheim In der eddelen stat Mencz: die eyn anefangk is der prentery . . . . sm. folio, an immense number of woodcuts (the various coats of arms coloured), very fine copy with the imprint, but having the title beautifully facsimiled, in the original oak boards, covered with leather, elegantly stamped, £16. 16*s*
Mencz, Peter Schoffer, 1492

A volume of extraordinary rarity, filled with very spirited woodcuts; the last leaf containing the imprint and device of the printer (in red), is almost always deficient, according to Ebert. The Chronicle is carried down to 1489. It is attributed to Conrad Botho of Braunschweig, but the authorship does not seem to be clearly proved. See Scheller, p. 100, where he states that the language of the Chronicle is "rein Sassich ohne allen Dialekt." This Chronicle is both historically and linguistically interesting.

11080 LUTHER (M.) Uthlegginge der Evangelien an den vörnemesten Festen ym gantzen Jare, gepredigt dorch M. Luther, sm. thick 8vo. gothic letter, border to title and numerous woodcuts, fine copy in stamped pigskin, very rare, £3. 10*s* Magdeborg, H. Walther, 1533

Not mentioned by Brunet, nor can I trace the sale of another copy. The book is in beautiful condition, being as clean and crisp as on the day it issued from the press.

Some critics are sadly annoyed by the ignorance of English writers on the subject of High and Low German. Here is a Dictionary of the best known low German Dialect—the Dutch—Dutch-German and German-Dutch.

An early Codex.

11262 GUIDONE DA PISA. Queste sono le concordance dal quante Ystorie Antiche composte e compilate per Frate Guidone da Pisa, scritte per me Gherardo di Giovanni Vanucci da Pisa habitante al Ponte in Vinegia adi VII d'Ottobre M CCCC XI, folio, MANUSCRIPT, with illuminated capitals, in the original oak boards, £4. 4*s* 1411

The chief portion of this interesting MS. consists of a romantic story of Æneas, styled the FATTI D'ENEA, but it also contains the mythical history of Italy before the time of the Trojan hero, with the Labours of Hercules, Lives of the Patriarchs, etc. It will also be found highly interesting and important to the Dantophilists, the Divina Commedia being liberally quoted from, hundreds of times throughout the volume, which thus affords a store of early Various Readings. On the vellum fly-leaf is written "Questo libro e di Lorenzo Strozi."

"Ariosto has been, after Homer, the favourite poet of Europe. His grace and facility, his clear and rapid stream of language, his variety and beauty of invention, his very translations of subjects, so frequently censured by critics, but artfully devised to spare the tediousness that hangs on a protracted story left him no rival in general popularity. Above sixty editions of the Orlando Furioso were published in the sixteenth century. There was not one, says Bernardo Tasso, of any age, sex, or rank, who was satisfied with a single perusal."—Hallam.

Many of the works of Galileo circulated extensively during his lifetime in MS., and were never printed. These have been collected from various parts of Europe, and are printed for the first time in this edition, verifying its claim to the title of prima edizione completa.

"Cette édition comprend tout ce que l'on connaissait déja d'écrits de Galilée imprimés, plus une quantité de morceaux inédits qui constituent à peu près le tiers de la collection, parmi lesquels la correspondance de Galilée avec les savants de son temps, composée de près de 1600 lettres contenues en six volumes. Il s'y trouve aussi une quantité d'autres pieces qui se rapportent aux œuvres et à la vie de Galilée, ce qui constitue un corps d'ouvrage qui laisse bien arrière toutes les précédentes editions des œuvres de ce grand homme."—Brunet.

VERY RARE; a copy was priced by Thorpe, £6. 16*s* 6*d*. The work is an interesting chronicle of contemporary events in all parts of the world, and may take its position amongst the earliest productions of NEWSPAPER Literature. It includes besides European affairs, news from "Turkey, Persia, India, and other places by sea and land, with the names of many learned men," as stated on the title. Brunet appears ignorant of this book, although his accurate list of Guazzi's works contains one of similar character published in 1547, but referring to an earlier period.

11600 UBERTI, DITTA MUNDI, Volgare, sm. 4to, some leaves at the end stained, but otherwise a good copy, vellum, a rare edition of this celebrated poem, 25*s* Venetia, 1501

This is probably the rarest of all the Italian poems, and may be regarded as a most interesting autobiography of the poet, who gives therein details of his various travels. This poem, from internal evidence, is supposed to have been written about the year 1350, and contains a description of the British Empire in which will be found mentioned a most remarkable fact that Ireland was then already famous for woollen manufactures (see Lord Charlemont's MS. notes.)

Printing was established in Barcelona in 1478 by Nicholas Spindler, and Pere Bru (Peter Brown) a Savoyard. They dissolved partnership soon afterwards and a Catalan priest named Pere Posa joined Bruno, who taught him the art and then migrated to Seville in 1482. It is not certain that more than two or three books were printed in Barcelona before the above Catalan version of Quintus Curtius, which is a volume of excessive rarity. Brunet describes it as "édition infiniment rare et fort précieuse, dont la Bibliothèque impériale n' a pu se procurer qu' un exemplaire en

This is a most valuable and interesting collection of old Spanish ballads. They relate chiefly to the conflicts of the Spaniards with the Moors, and display a spirit of gallantry peculiar to that romantic people. "This collection, so remarkable in its kind, embraces nearly all the Castilian poetry of the fifteenth century. No other remains of Spanish poetry, belonging to the same age, are sufficiently important to be brought into comparison with this national treasure."—Bouterwek. Col. VERY RARE. The previous edition of 1602, which fetched £63. at Colonel Stanley's sale, contained only nine parts, while the present has thirteen. A copy of the edition of 1604 fetched 895 fr., Debure; and good copies of the old Romanceros, the choicest and rarest productions of the literature of Spain, are daily rising in value.

This volume contains a most curious assemblage of rare old Spanish ballads and has always been highly esteemed by the literati of Spain. In the collection are included thirty-two ballads relating to the Cid, twelve of which are not to be found even in Escobar.

The Spanish transcription of the title somewhat disguises this valuable work, which would in France or England be called the Akhbar Madjmu'a. It contains a history of Musulman affairs in Africa and Spain from about the year 70 to 150 of the Hedjrah, and involves a mass of geographical and other matter, for which special appendices are annexed. The work was compiled in the eleventh century from the popular traditions and official authorities which related to the conquest of Spain, as well as the political and literary history of the conquerors.

Only one copy of the original Manuscript is known, from which two transcripts were made in recent years. Don Emilio de Lafuente died a short while since; but this volume remains an ample testimony to his great learning and ripe scholarship.

It is published by the Spanish Royal Academy of History as the first volume of a "Coleccion de Obras Arábigas de Historia y Geografia."

A very valuable and interesting chronicle, published here for the first time, after having for three centuries and a half shared the neglect and obscurity which Antonio deplored as the fate of all early good writers. Bernaldez was an eye-witness of the events that he describes, and on intimate terms with Ponce de Leon and the other great men of the time. Not the least interesting part of this work is the description of the Discovery of America, and his account of COLUMBUS, with whom he was upon the most intimate terms. He calls him a "Mercader de libros de estampa."

This Testament is very rare. There is a curious woodcut on the title: the letter Y stands for a symbol of man's life. At the top of its right arm there is a crown, while from the top of its left (the broad one) a human figure has toppled off. The device is the scriptural words "Estrecho el camino de la vida, y es ancho el de la perdicion," the phrases being divided and printed so as to stand each at its proper side.

11720 CALDERON, AUTOS Sacramentales Alegoricos, y Historiales, por Apontes, 6 vols. sm. 4to. BEST EDITION, calf, 36*s* Madrid, 1759

"Calderon, a celebrated Spanish writer of the 17th century, one of the most copious and most esteemed dramatists in Spain, equal to Lope de Vega."

"His boundless and inexhaustible fertility of invention, his quick power of seizing and prosecuting everything with dramatic effect, the unfailing animal spirits of his dramas, if we may venture on the expression, the general loftiness and purity of his sentiments, the rich facility of his verse, the abundance of his language, and the clearness and precision with which he embodies himself in words and figures, entitle him to a high rank as to the imagination and creative faculty of a poet."

11731 CANCIONERO de Obras de Burlas, 12mo. red morocco extra, gilt edges, by BEDFORD, £2. 2*s* Madrid, Sanchez, (London, 1843)

Of the collection intitled "Cancionero de Obras de Burlas provocantes a Risa," Valencia, 1519, 4to. there is only one copy known, which is in the British Museum. It begins with one very long poem, and ends with another; the last being a brutal parody of "Trescientas" of Juan de Mena. The shorter poems are by well-known names, such as Jorge Manrique and Diego San Pedro. The general tone of the work, which is attributed to ecclesiastical origin, is as coarse as possible.

The above edition of it, printed at London in 1841, has a curious and well-written preface, and a short, but learned, Glossary. From page 207 to the end p. 246, are a few poems not found in the original Cancionero de Burlas; one by Garci Sanchez de Badajos, one by Rodrigo de Reynosa, &c.—Ticknor, 1849, Vol. I. p. 404.

VERY RARE; priced by Salva £2. 12*s* 6*d* and £4. 4*s*.

This volume, although not so entitled, is one of the rare Cancioneros which are so precious for their collection of Spanish poetry.

Best edition of this famous chronicle. It was composed probably in the thirteenth century, and exhibits at once the character of a faithful history, of a great prose-poem, and a romance of chivalry. "It is overflowing with the very spirit of the times when it was written, and offers us so true a picture of their generous virtues, as well as their stern violence, that it may well be regarded as one of the best books in the world, if not the very best, for studying the real character and manners of the ages of chivalry."—Ticknor.

11803 ROMANCERO DEL CID. Romancero é Historia general del muy valeroso caballero el Cid Ruy Diaz de Vibar, en lenguage antiguo recopilado por JUAN DE ESCOBAR, edicion completa añadida con una version Castellana de la Vida del Cid por el historiador Aleman Müller, 12mo. frontispiece, pp. xii and 368, sd. 3*s* 6*d*, or, half bound morocco, 6*s* Fuancoforto, 1828

These famous Ballads are so excessively rare in any of the old editions that one is glad to meet with a good reprint like the above, which is besides much more complete than those. Ticknor says—"Nic. Antonio gives 1612 as the date of the oldest Romancero del Cid. The oldest I possess is of Pamplona (1706, 18mo.); but the Madrid edition (1818, 18mo.) the Frankfort (1827, 12mo.), and the collection in Duran.....are most complete." The Romancero of the Cid is a combination of the Ballads in which the hero's life used to be told or sung amongst the people of Spain; and is thus a far more national, valuable, and poetical series of pictures than the old Poema del Cid can claim to be.

Morales' history, as an historical composition, shows a more enlightened spirit than the work of Ocampo.

"Everywhere it breathes the spirit of its age, and, when taken together, is not only the most interesting of the Spanish Chronicles, but the most interesting of all that, in any country, mark the transition of its practical and romantic traditions to the grave exactness of historic truth."—Ticknor.

Among Spanish prose compositions, the style of Mariana is all but unrivalled. The fourth edition, printed in the very year of his death, is much enlarged and in every way improved. "The proudest monument erected to the history of Spain. His willing belief in the old chronicles, tempered, as it necessarily is, by his great learning, gives an air of trueheartedness and good faith to his accounts, and a picturesqueness to his details, which are singularly attractive."—Ticknor, III. 137. "Mariana a obtenu une reputation meritée pour l'elegance de sa narration. La diction est irréprochable, ses descriptions sont pittoresque sans prétention poétique, et pour le temps où il a vécu, il a conservé assez d'impartialité et d'amour de la liberté." Sismondi.

12210 ——— el Bastardo Mudarra, comedia manuscrita en 1612, reproducida por la Sociedad Foto-Zincografica, (Lopez Fabra) 4to. 8*s* 6*d* Mad. 1864

"Great as Calderon was, he cannot, without a large reserve, be named as the greatest genius of the Spanish stage. In wealth of invention, prodigious fertility, in dramatic fire, he is far surpassed by Lope, who also had the merit of creating the stage on which Calderon rose. The fresh natural graces of Lope's style, and his vivid conciseness in gay or passionate moments, have a living charm beyond the finished ease and rich exuberance of Calderon's manner;—while Lope excelled in some departments—as in chivalrous pictures of Old Spain, and in a certain indescribable sweetness, and glow of gracious womanhood in his female characters,—in both of which Calderon is wanting. Both lived long, and wrote to the latest moment—but Lope's very last pieces are as bright as his earliest, and bear no signs of age; whereas Calderon waned after sixty, and grew verbose and artificial as his years declined."—Athenæum, Nov. 20, 1853.

VERY RARE. This work is wrongly described by Brunet. It is true that the two volumes are separate books, separately intitled and paged, and apparently independent one of the other; but they are united in one corpus by means of the frontispiece or engraved general title which is cited above. It is besides untrue that the first work (Ethiopia Oriental) was printed at Lisbon: both parts were printed in the same year by the same man at the same place—the Convent of St. Dominick of Evora. Perhaps the copies seen by Brunet had no frontispiece; and he took for granted that the first part was printed at Lisbon because of the dates given in the Approbations. The work begins with a description of the four parts of the world, of which the first is America. Ethiopia Oriental does not mean India, as one might suppose, but is really Abyssinia, or rather East Africa including Madagascar.

GREEK AND LATIN BOOKS.

I. CLASSICAL WRITERS;

And Books on the Philology, History, and Topography of Greece and Rome.

1. Manuscript Codices.

12334 BOETHIUS DE CONSOLATIONE PHILOSOPHIÆ, sm. folio, Illuminated Manuscript on VELLUM, of Italian workmanship, with painted border of figures round the opening page, the first initial and four others adorned with figures of the author, etc. calf gilt, £8. 10*s* circ. 1400

A comparison of this text with the Leyden edition of 1771 and the variorum notæ, shews that a collation of the present MS. would be necessary for a future edition of Boethius. It confirms some conjectural emendations and rectifies many readings; so that, although the scribe was evidently quite ignorant of Greek, his efforts to transfer the quotations to his own copy being wholly failures, yet he had before him a good original. Some peculiarities of the orthography are—the rejection of doubled consonants, as in modern Spanish; the occasional use of s for æ; the spelling of faties for facies, of amonitione for admonitione.

12335 BOETHIUS de Consolatione Philosophiæ, smallest 4to. another MS. of the same work, on VELLUM, with better readings of the text, but no less faulty in the Greek quotations, vellum, £3. 16*s* ? Venice, cir. 1370

The fly-leaf has a set of philosophical questions and answers, in contemporary writing: Quid est anima, quid est ratio, etc. etc.—to which an early sixteenth hand has added satirical descriptions of Venice and her rulers, by way of answer to "Quid est Venetiæ, quid est Venetiarum dux?"

12336 JUVENALIS ET PERSII SATYRÆ, in 1 vol. sm. 4to. fine Manuscript on VELLUM by an Italian scribe, the Juvenal dated 8 Kal. April 1452, and the Persius 5 Kal. Maii 1452, with ornamental border to the first page containing a Coat of Arms, and capitals illuminated in gold and colours, green morocco extra, joints, gilt edges, £16. 16*s* 1452

A very valuable Codex, written entirely by one hand; and shewing in every page that after the transcription it was critically revised throughout, and collated with several early MSS. There are numerous instances of a slight varietas lectionis, but on the whole this volume confirms or establishes the general accuracy of the text that has descended to us. Copies of these satirists are very rare; for, though there are six amongst the Arundel and Burney MSS. in the British Museum, and two in Oxford (Corpus Christi and St. John Baptist's College), yet scarcely any other great collection is found to possess one. The Greek quotation of the ninth satire of Juvenal (line 37) is grossly incorrect, but is of course attributable to the ignorance of Greek which prevailed in Italy before the downfall of Constantinople. In the third satire of Persius, the scribe has sought to illustrate the words of the last line by an apt Greek quotation; but, in doing so, he has transformed the celebrated γνωθι σεαυτον into a semi-phonetic γνωτι σαυτον.

12336*LACTANTII OPERA (Divinæ Institutiones et de Opificio Hominis), MANUSCRIPT, by an Italian scholar, in the original oak boards, with curious early brass ornaments, 36*s* cir. A.D. 1430

12337 SUETONIUS DE VITA XII. CÆSARUM, folio, SPLENDID Manuscript upon VELLUM, by an ITALIAN SCRIBE, with borders, (the first containing the SFORZA arms), and very large elaborate INITIAL LETTERS, richly illuminated in gold and colours, some the whole size of the page, red morocco, gilt edges, £20. SÆC. XV.

About four leaves are wanting at the end to complete the life of the twelfth Cæsar, Domitian. But the MS. is very beautifully executed and is remarkable for the correctness of its text. It was written probably about the year 1470.

12338 VIRGILII OPERA, sm. folio, MANUSCRIPT ON VELLUM, written for Lorenzo the Magnificent, in the original Medicean binding, £84. cir. 1485

An important and beautiful MS. from the archives of the Bandinelli family of Florence. The first page is richly illuminated with an interlaced border of exquisite design, with choicely painted figures of Amoretti and animals. At the foot of which is a charming female figure, doubtless one of the ladies of the Medici family, most delicately painted and worthy of the hand of Girolamo dei Libri. The MS. is in the finest condition, in the original Italian binding.

This very important Codex exhibits a far purer text than is usually to be found in Manuscripts of Virgil, and has evidently been collated and corrected throughout by some eminent scholar, who has diligently compared it with the original Codex from which it was transcribed. Some of the various readings would be most useful to a modern editor.

An ample description of this volume is given by Dibdin, in the Bibl. Spenc. Vol. II, pages 18 to 21. It contains a notice of the printer, which Mr. D. says "cannot fail to be interesting to all lovers of ancient typography;" and, according to the same authority, it is "one of the most beautiful volumes printed in the XVth century." Rossi justly calls it "egregium typographicæ elegantiæ specimen." De Bure observes that it is "fort rare et très recherché."

This valuable work, compiled early in the third century, from sources which are lost, is the only one of its kind that has been handed down to us. The Lives and Opinions of the Ancient Philosophers, described by a liberal and refined scholar of the early ages of Christianity, must be considered one of the most important legacies of Greek literature. Diogenes was an Epicurean and anti-Christian.

12482 Etruscan. CRAWFORD (Alex. Earl of) Etruscan Inscriptions analysed, translated and commented upon, 8vo. cloth, 12*s* 1872

Who were the Etruscans? Lord Crawford is the latest authority upon the subject, and maintains in the above work, with a singular abundance of learning and argument, a somewhat similar theory to that of the late Dr. Donaldson. His treatment of the subject is however much more exhaustive than that of the former writer, and he attributes a distinctly Germanic character to the Etruscan language, for which Dr. Donaldson claimed a purely Scandinavian kinship. There are some philological arguments based upon the Inscriptions (especially those few which are bilingual) which will stagger many adherents to other theories, and carry conviction to minds already inclined to accept the Teutonic solution of this ancient riddle. Amongst the more remarkable instances of happy interpretation is the explanation of the names Mezentius and Turnus. The least that can be said of this volume is that it is a highly valuable contribution to the study of Old Italic Philology.

A vague notion exists that there are only two issues of Pine's Horace, the first issue with the error on Cæsar's head, Vol. II page 108, "Postest;" the second issue, the error corrected into "Potest." This is only half the truth. Pine's coppers were worked perhaps a dozen times, and as recently as 1775 a number of impressions were taken, after which they seem to have disappeared.

The present copy is a very early one, with Pine's original printed prospectus and list of subscribers, 6 leaves, and 4 specimen leaves, proofs before the issue of the work. The copy has of course the "Postest."

12701 PLATONIS Opera Omnia, editio auctior et emendatior, 12 vols. 8vo. £4. 14*s* 6*d* Gothæ, 1821-5
This forms the best edition of the works of Plato. It consists of the text edited by Ast, with Stallbaum's notes, arguments, and the life of Plato. This edition of Stallbaum includes the important commentaries of Proclus on the Cratylus, edited by Boissonade and published here for the first and only time.

This is probably the most correct text of Plato, with an Onomasticum at the end, and a perpetual reference to the other editions; although, from its compression into one volume in double columns, it will hardly take the place of a standard edition.

This is a highly interesting volume, the matter of which is drawn chiefly from classical sources. What readers have never felt a desire to know how far the East and West were acquainted with each other during the best days of the Roman Empire, and what was the state of opinion mutually entertained by the Græco-Latins and the people of Further Asia? This curiosity finds ample gratification in the pages of Mr. Priaulx's work, bristling with notes and quotations from the obscurest as well as the best-known authors. There is also a fascination in the name of Apollonius Tyana, the Christ of the Pagans, which will avail with those for whom geography has little interest.

12770 SOLINUS DE MIRABILIBUS MUNDI, ed. Bonino Mombritio, sm. 4to. vellum, £3. 3*s* (? Ferrariæ, 1473)

FIRST ISSUE, and EXCESSIVELY RARE, of Mombrizio's edition of Solinus. This is shown by the circumstance that there are signatures to the sheets in this volume, and that no other copy is known with them; and besides that, there are numerous transpositions and errors in the printing of the text, the substance of three pages being in one place omitted (without any loss of the folios that compose the sheets), so that there are only 120 instead of 122 leaves, as in the regular edition of the book described by Audiffreddi, Dibdin, and Brunet. These writers attribute the production of the volume to Milan, but it seems more likely that it was printed in Ferrara. The Biogr. Univ. refers it to the latter place. The typographical arrangement of the text proves that this edition was printed, almost page for page, after the preceding undated one. This, if it had been noted before, would have settled the disputed question of priority.

COLLATION: Table, etc. a sheet of 6 leaves; text, sheets 1 and 2, ten leaves each, unsigned; sheets C to K, 8 leaves each; L, four leaves, and O ten leaves, forming together one sheet of 14 leaves; M and N, 8 leaves each.

II.—MEDIÆVAL AND MODERN WRITERS IN GREEK AND LATIN; SCRIPTURAL AND THEOLOGICAL TEXTS; MACARONICA.

1. Manuscripts.

12852 BIBLIA SACRA LATINA, cum prologis, 3 vols. royal folio, fine old English Manuscript on Vellum, 140 illuminated Initials of considerable size, 82 of them comprising MINIATURES, with several hundreds of minor Initials, all of them decorated with grotesque and monstrous figures, bound in russia, old calf sides, with fleurs-de-lis in the corners, £200. circiter A.D. 1290

The great size of this MS., its sound and perfect state, and the grotesque character of its decorations, pointing at once to an ENGLISH ORIGIN, render it a highly desirable acquisition for any rich library. The Miniatures contained within the initials are for the most part about three inches square, and they are in themselves no inferior specimens of old English art-work. The warriors whose figures appear in them are all in full chain-armour with hoods of mail, and the ladies, rustics, and other personages are robed in the costumes of the thirteenth century. There are corrections, or rather varietates lectionis indicated in the mode of corrections, throughout the text, in such a manner as testifies to extreme accuracy in the production of the MS. Nothing is apparent to shew the exact locality in which it was transcribed, or for whom the work was done, but everything seems to shew that it was no ordinary monkish transcript, but a special and important Codex, collated with the most ancient and valuable MSS. then accessible. There is no other such Biblical Codex as the above in my extensive stock of MSS.

12853 EVANGELIA IV. Græce, sm. 4to. MANUSCRIPT ON VELLUM, written on 44 quaternions, consisting of eight leaves each, with the exception of the 35th, which has only four, and the 44th, which has nine (the last two leaves of the 40th, and the second of the 41st missing) ornamented with 3 paintings on a gold ground, representing St. Matthew, Mark and John, the commencement of each Gospel having intitulations in letters of gold, £50. SÆC. XI.

The value of this important Manuscript is greatly enhanced by three leaves at the commencement (on one of which is painted an additional picture of St. John), and fourteen at the end (containing the Gospel as read in the orthodox Greek Church, and an Almanack) being Palimpsest; the Gospel and the Almanack being written over a very ancient partially obliterated MS. of the Epistles, in the modified uncial character of the eighth century. The Almanack, which has been added at a later period, is also considered however to be prior to the reign of the Emperor Alexius (1081-1118) as the Feast of the three Hierarchs appointed for the 30th January in the reign of that Emperor, is not mentioned, Bound up at the end of the volume is a Manuscript on paper, Michaelis Pselli Explanatio Psalterii, Græce, written at the end of the XVth Century.

"This Psalter," says Dr. Dibdin, "is after the use of the Cathedral at Wurtzburg, and, as I suspect, was printed in that city between the years 1480 and 1490. The text of the psalms is executed in a large, handsome, gothic type, varied by red; the Commentary is in a small gothic."—Bibl. Spenc. vol. vi. p. 243. composition, in the perspicuity and arrangement of his ideas, the structure of his periods, and the latinity of his diction. Although attached to a theory which he found it difficult in the extreme to free from the suspicion of blasphemy against God, as the author of sin, he certainly was no blasphemer, but, on the contrary, adopted that very theory from an anxiety, not to commit, but (as he conceived) to avoid blasphemy,—that of ascribing to human what he deemed alone imputable to Divine agency. With respect to the application of it, at a later period, to enthusiastical purposes, no one would have more severely reprehended such an application than he himself."—*Abp. These very rare works are interesting, not less from the subjects, than from the numerous distinguished persons to whom they are addressed. There is much information of value for the history of the Reformation contained in them. Haddon stood high in Queen Elizabeth's favour. Lowndes does not mention this edition of the Poems, but only that of 1576.

The Catholicon consists of a Treatise on Grammar and Rhetoric, and a complete Latin Dictionary, being the first printed in the 15th century. The editor of the Latin edition of Stephens' 'Thesaurus' considers it the best Dictionary for the Phraseology of the Latin Fathers and Schoolmen.

Priced, 1840, Payne and Foss, £3. 3*s*; fetched at Singer's sale, £2. 19*s*.

VERY RARE: and contain a different text from that of the following. Indeed the great value of this edition is that the text was changed in all subsequent ones.

12939 MERLINI COCAII Poetæ Macaronicorum Opus, per Lodolam redactus: Zanitonella, Phantasiæ, Moschææ facetus liber, Epistolae et Epigrammata, 16mo. numerous woodcuts, old red MOROCCO extra, gilt edges, £2. 10*s* Tusculani, Lacus Benacensis, 1521

A very rare edition, printed with a singular type between Roman and Italic. It is also the most complete edition, and is the princeps of all succeeding ones.

This translation contains the same number of books as the edition of 1564, but differs from it nevertheless, and appears consequently to be rendered from a third varying text of the original. A collector ought to have all the variations in his library.

Rothomagi, ex officina Richardi Hamillonis typographi, venale in edibus Roberti Valentini, 1554

This edition is very rare, there being but two copies mentioned by Lowndes, one in the Bodleian, the other in the British Museum. Besides these my own notes record only two other copies.

A very extraordinary and curious work, as the dispute between Christ and the Devil is carried on through the entire form of a process in the Ecclesiastical Courts, from the citation to the final judgment on appeal. The whole proceedings are truly laughable, the Counsel of Christ as well as the Advocate for the Devil citing and laying down the law from the Corpus Juris Canonici.

It is the first English book that contains Vocabularies of the Arabic, Turkish, and Gipsey (called Egyptian) Tongues. It is specially interesting on this last account.

A beautiful specimen of Bodoni's press, dedicated to Victor Amadeus III. of Sardinia. It is a collection of Polyglott Epigrams or Votive Inscriptions on the Nuptials of Prince Carlo Emmanuele of Piedmont with Marie Adelaide Clotilde of France, supposed to be addressed by 25 cities, with a translation in Latin of each. The Languages are chiefly Oriental, including even Sanscrit and Tibetan. At the head of each original is a beautiful vignette typifying the city, and above each translation the medallion of a prince. The most valuable part of the book is De Rossi's philological preface. The poem in Italian, "Mmemosyne," at the end, is wanting in many copies.

honourable remembrance than Owen Jones, the poor peasant of Myvyr, who, unassisted by patronage, devoted his life to the preservation of the literature of his country. He came up to London a poor boy, engaged as a clerk in some city establishment, and after forty years of self-denial, with the accumulation of his scanty earnings, published the Myvyrian Archaiology, at his own cost, in 1801 and 1807. It was a work which might have been done by a king, an institution, or a society of the noble and the learned; but it was accomplished, and scrupulously accomplished by a poor Welsh peasant."—Athenæum, No. 1814, Aug. 2, 1862.

Subscribers' names received for this valuable facsimile of the oldest existing Manuscript in Irish, the original of which is in possession of the Academy. The work will be completed early in October. The historical and philological value of the contents of this volume is so well recognized, that the publication of the text is a munificent boon to Celtic scholars. "In this astonishing work a whole family of languages has for the first time found an expositor, and as it were an historiographer, placed on the summit of the comparative linguistic analysis of our age. Grimm's Teutonic Grammar comprehends the Scandinavian as well as the German languages in all their ramifications, reduces each of them to its most ancient forms, and follows it down from that point through the whole course of its development: this colossal work forms an epoch in ethnological history."—The Chevalier Bunsen.

13205 BEOWULFES Beorh, Old-Angelsk, med Danske Anmærkninger ved Grundtvig, sm. 8vo. sd. 5*s* Kiöb. 1861

"The interest of the poem of Beowulf is not confined to the Philologist: it also interests the antiquary and the historian in a very high degree. In it we have the most lively sketches of a state of society, which our imagination could never have pictured to us without it, and we have contemporary illustrations of manners and customs, which will solve a host of doubtful questions. We never in our life met with a poem so full of beautiful and striking passages as the Romance of Beowulf."
